Whereabouts of Red Premier Mystery

POTSDAM, Germany, July 17 [Tuesday]—(AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill awaited today the opening session of the momentous Big Three conference, but there still was no direct word well after midnight of the arrival of Premier Stalin.

Mr. Truman and Churchill, both of whom came here Sunday, yesterday talked together informally and made separate, unheralded tours of ruined Berlin while waiting for the Russian generalissimo.

It had been believed generally that Stalin and Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov reached the German capital late yesterday and there was speculation in some quarters that the Big Three might have chosen to gather last night. Evening meetings are customary at the Kremlin in Moscow.

Reds Have No Word

However, soviet officials and German Communist party representatives finally retired after midnight without official word of the arrival of the Russian leaders.

The Communist party newspaper Deutsche Volkszeitung went to press at 1:30 a. m. after holding open its forms in expectation of important news from Tass, the official soviet news agency.

The secrecy which shrouded the movements of the Russian premier was in line with the traditional precautions which the plain clothes police of the interior commissariat take to protect their state leaders. Traveling by train more than 1,000 miles outside the red brick walls of the Kremlin, Stalin was venturing into a country whose population still was drugged by anti-Russian propaganda and intense hatred.

Jap War High on List

Mr. Truman and Churchill at any rate were awaiting the first session of the momentous conference which is believed to have the war with Japan high on the agenda and the peace of Europe definitely on the list of talks.

Mr. Truman has instructed Vice Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, to come to Potsdam immediately and bring members of his staff with him. The action suggested that the conference agenda would include discussions of post-war shipping and utilization of the United States' great merchant fleet.

Emerging separately from behind the wall of secrecy and the thousands of crack American, British, and Russian troops guarding the Kaiser Wilhelm castle, Mr. Truman and Churchill, each with his retinue of advisors and high military chiefs, traveled thru the wreckage of Berlin during yesterday afternoon.

It was the first time in history that an American President had visited Berlin. Mr. Truman, in fact, is the first American chief executive to set foot on German soil.

Finds 'Polish' Pomerania Is Under 2 Flags

[B. J. Kospoth, a veteran newspaper man, was freed recently by Russian forces from an internment camp in northeastern Germany. In previous articles he told of conditions and life under the Russian army of occupation.]

BY B. J. KOSPOTH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 16—The red and white striped flag of Poland was flying over the bomb shattered city hall of Stargard—now called Starograd—when my French comrade and I arrived in that Pomeranian city on our hike from a German prison camp to western freedom. A few blocks away soviet Russia's Red banner with hammer and sickle was prominently displayed over police headquarters.

The position of those two emblems of national sovereignty is typical of the ambiguous political situation in Pomerania, which has been officially awarded by Moscow to the Poles in compensation for Polish territory annexed by the soviets in the east, but is still occupied by Russian troops.

Officially the Poles are supposed to be in control of Pomerania but in reality there are two administrations—Polish and Russian—functioning side by side in all towns and villages thru which we passed.

Divide Authority

The Poles have been permitted to take over local civil administration but the Russians continue to exercise military and police authority. There is a Polish mayor in Starograd but he functions under control of the Russian "kommandantur [command post]." Russians hold the commanding position and they are maintaining a black-out on all news from this part of Europe.

Even the "Red" Poles, whom the soviets have brought with them to eastern Germany, are smarting somewhat under this Russian domination. Altho Polish officials installed by the Russians in Pomerania are naturally adherents of the Lublin [now Warsaw] government with communist leanings, we had abundant evidence that many of them dislike and distrust their Muscovite liberators fully as much as do their hostile brethren in London. In unguarded moments they displayed—like all other Poles—a feeling of cultural superiority over the Russians that was not exactly calculated to promote good comradeship.

A few Polish soldiers we saw scattered about Pomerania took the same attitude. They were members of units of the "Red" Polish army that formed the extreme right wing of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov's forces when they invaded Germany and which distinguished itself particularly in that operation. They scarcely attempted to conceal their contempt for their Russian comrades.

"Inefficient, Lazy"

On our way to Starograd we were overtaken by a convoy of Polish military trucks. Noticing a little American flag we had affixed to the pushcart carrying our luggage, the Order Chaplin to Pay Joan $75 a Week

Los Angeles, Cal., July 16 [Special]—Charlie Chaplin, who admitted under harassing questioning on the witness stand that he was worth about 3 million dollars, was ordered today by a superior judge to continue paying $75 weekly for the support of Carol Ann Berry.

Chaplin completely lost his composure at the hearing and at one point left the stand white faced after he had been needled by Joseph Scott, attorney for Joan Berry, mother of the child born 21 months ago. "They won't let me talk," he said, referring to the court's admonitions not to volunteer any answers.

A jury last April held that Chaplin is the father of the illegitimate child born to his former protege. Chaplin's counsel contended that the former comedian should not pay support money pending an appeal, so the last payment of $75 was made last April 19, a week after the verdict. Joan's lawyers went to court to demand "reasonable" payments.

Payments Retroactive

The court held $75 was reasonable and ordered the payments retroactive to April 19.

Scott inquired whether, since the jury's finding, Chaplin had transferred any of his assets or withdrawn any large sums of money from banks. Chaplin categorically said "no."

"Isn't it true," asked Scott, "that on April 19, 1945, you drew $290,000 out of the Hollywood State bank?"

"Yes, but I want to ——," Chaplin answered. "That's all," said Scott. Chaplin kept on talking. The court admonished him not to volunteer any answers.

Says He Pays Debts

The film man's attorney wanted to stipulate that Charlie is worth "more than a million dollars." Scott objected.

"Why doesn't this man comply with the court order and bring in his books and records?" Scott demanded.

Charlie's lawyer said the Chaplin company's bookkeeper was on a vacation.

"I'm not irresponsible. I pay my debts. I'm a——" The court quieted Chaplin.

"What is your income?" asked Scott. "It varies," said Charlie.

"Don't you know what you're worth?"

"No."

"When you pass out of this world one of these days, how much of an estate will you leave?"

"I have no idea."

Million—and More

"Are you worth a million dollars?"

"Yes," said Chaplin firmly. And added, "And more."

"How much more? Two million?" Scott pursued. Chaplain said, "Very little more."

Scott asked, "About three million?" and Chaplin wound up his testimony with, "Somewhere in that vicinity."

Joan testified that she had no money, no income, couldn't find a movie job, and owed four months' rent on her $150 a month house. She testified that the only money she has received since the Chaplin payment stopped was $400 lent her by Scott.

HERCULES SKY GIANT TO CARRY 750 YANKS; WILL COST 20 MILLION

Culver City, Cal., July 16 [Special]—The Howard Hughes airplane manufacturing plant today took the wraps off its "Hughes Hercules," which is to be the world's largest seaplane, and disclosed that the massive cargo carrier will weigh 425,000 pounds and will carry 14,000 gallons of gasoline. Its cost will exceed 20 million dollars.

The plane has a wingspread of 320 feet, or large enough to accommodate a Super Fortress on each wing. It will have eight engines to generate 24,000 horse power for its maiden flight some time next year. Delivery of the engines is expected next January.

The boat's 220 feet long hull, 30 feet high, and 25 feet wide, has cargo space for two railroad box cars.

The Hercules will be able to carry a 60 ton tank, complete with armor and crew, or three light tanks. Used as a hospital ship, it would accommodate 350 patients on stretchers with doctors and nurses to care for the wounded. As a transport, it could carry 750 infantrymen from Honolulu to Tokyo, nonstop.

It has a top speed of about 218 miles an hour and will cruise at 175. A take off is contemplated after a 5,500 foot run thru the water.

Charley Tells His Boss Rail Work Is Tough

(Picture on page 8)

An elderly, gray haired motorman on the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad sat across an oak table from the road's "big boss" in the federal courthouse yesterday and told him that driving a train is a lot harder than a big office executive might think.

The motorman is Charles L. Berry, 68, who has known Bernard J. Fallon, the big boss, since Berry first drove a train for him in 1917. Berry was telling his reasons for wanting a wage increase—telling them to a special emergency panel appointed by President Truman to hear a wage dispute between two operating unions and the North Shore and Chicago, Aurora and Elgin lines.

Berry, who is general chairman of lodge 806 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, was under cross-examination by Fallon, who as executive officer of the North Shore line was opposing any wage increases.

Tells Boss How It's Done

"There's nothing much to do except turn on the juice to start and turn on the air to stop, is there, Charley?" Fallon asked.

"Certainly," Berry said. "You've got to watch the signal lights, slow her up, keep on schedule, brake her right. You know that, Barney."

"What do you do to stop, then?" Fallon asked.

"Put on the brakes," Berry said.

"Same way every time?" asked Fallon. "Yes, sir," said Berry. "But you can't drag your train by slowing up too much every time, when you're on schedule. There's a lot of difference in the time used in making a stop. We run 'em on time for you."

Trains Differ in Braking

"All you have to do is watch for a red light and put on the brake. That's not so hard," said Fallon.

"Barney," said Berry, "some trains don't brake so good as others. And what would you do in a fog?"

"You have to run a street car in a fog, too," Fallon said.

"Yes, and you drive your own car in the fog, too," said Berry. "And anyway, I've got to think about all the passengers."

"Is it as hard as operating an elevated train which has 14 block signals in one run and where you're following another train all the way?"

"Yes, it is," Berry said. "We get 'em up to 90 miles an hour, and they don't do that on the 'L.'"

Berry's union and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen are seeking wage increases ranging from 12 to 16 cents an hour.

Great Forest Fire Still Beyond Control in Oregon

Portland, Ore., July 16 (AP)—The Wilson River forest fire of northwest Oregon had blackened more than 25,000 acres by midafternoon today and was out of control and spreading in three directions. Soldiers, sailors, and civilians were fighting the flames. Nels Rogers, state forester, sent out urgent calls for more service men and civilians.

Truman Puts Loan Chief in Vinson's Post

Washington, D. C., July 16 [Special]—John W. Snyder, 48, a native of Arkansas, was nominated today by President Truman to the post of director of war mobilization and reconversion. He will succeed Fred M. Vinson, 55, a Kentuckian, who was nominated as secretary of the treasury.

John W. Snyder

Confirmation of both appointments by the senate was considered a foregone conclusion. Mr. Truman previously had signified his intention of naming Vinson for the treasury job.

Snyder is an old friend of the President and, like him, was an artillery captain in the last war. He was vice president of the First National Bank of St. Louis when he succeeded Vinson as federal loan administrator last April.

Truman Speeds Action

From 1937 to 1940 Snyder managed the St. Louis agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, an organization that came under his supervision as loan chief. In 1940 he became executive vice president of the agency, director of the Defense Plant corporation, and assistant to the RFC director.

No successor was named at once for Snyder. His name went to the senate a few hours after that of Vinson, whose nomination was made sooner than planned. Mr. Truman had expected to send it up after he returned from his present trip to Europe, but it was transmitted today at the suggestion of retiring Secretary Morgenthau so that Vinson could go ahead with pressing financial decisions.

Vinson's selection climaxes a rapid sweep from a judgeship to director of economic stabilization to federal loan administration to war mobilization chief.

Other Appointments

As director of war mobilization, Vinson called for national preparation against the possibility that Japan might fall quickly. He outlined a post-war "economic charter" emphasizing high wages, lower taxes, and a rising living standard. He opposed general tax cuts before V-J day.

Two other appointments were submitted by Mr. Truman today. Theron Lamar Caudle, Wadesboro, N. C., was named as assistant attorney general to succeed Tom C. Clark, now attorney general, and Harold William Judson of California was named assistant solicitor general succeeding Hugh B. Cox, who resigned for "personal reasons."

Caudle, 41, has been United States attorney for the western district of North Carolina since 1940.

Judson, 45, practiced law in Kansas City, Mo., in 1925 and 1926 and later in Los Angeles, Cal., before entering the navy in 1942. He is a native of Essex, Vt.

70,000 NAZIS IN JAIL; WHAT TO DO WITH THEM?

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 16 (AP)—American military authorities are weeding Nazi leaders and other dangerous elements out of German civil life by the tens of thousands, but today had reached no solution on what to do with them.

Some 70,000 Nazi war criminals and SS troopers are being held in jails thruout the American zone of occupation until it is decided whether they will be placed on trial or released. Those named on allied war criminal lists will be tried but they are only a small percentage of the number held.

The denazification of Germany is one of the major tasks being handled by the intelligence division of United States forces. Considerably more progress has been made since V-E day than is generally recognized. Brig. Gen. Clarence L. Adcock, assistant chief of staff of the G5 section, said the solution would have to be a matter of high policy.

A Burglar in Springfield Gets 2 Packs of Cigarets

Springfield, Ill., July 16 (AP)—J. C. Wetzel told police his home was ransacked during the night but nothing was missing except two packages of cigarets.

FORM GREATEST ARMADA; ASSAULT IS CONTINUING

BLOWS PARALYZE ENEMY'S WILL TO FIGHT—NIMITZ

GUAM, July 17 [Tuesday]—(AP)—Heavy naval shelling of Japanese homeland cities opened a new phase—"the pre-invasion stage"—of the war, Adm. Nimitz said today.

"At this stage we rely upon two principal strategies to further our aim: first, an ever tightening blockade of Japan's home islands; second, destruction by shelling and bombing of every industry and resource which contributes to Japan's ability to make war," the admiral reported in an address broadcast from his headquarters.

"The 16 inch guns of our battleships, opening fire on industrial targets on Honshu and Hokkaido, also opened an era in which we dominate the Pacific ocean approaches to Japan and when necessary the air above Japan," Nimitz said.

Paralyzed Jap Navy

"Conversely, the action highlights the desperate defensive position in which the Japanese now find themselves. We have paralyzed the will and the ability of the Japanese navy to come out and fight. From this stage we must take a series of certain and progressive steps until the will and the ability of the Japanese people to resist is broken.

"It is the aim of our forces fighting in the Pacific to achieve this final stage quickly and with a minimum of American lives and material resources."

Of the pre-invasion strategies, Nimitz said the first, blockade, is already showing results. Conquest of the Philippines and Okinawa and control of the adjacent sea areas have severed Japan from her resources to the south. Patrol planes and surface craft operating from Okinawa have all but cut the sea line between central China and the Japanese mainland.

Will Destroy Factors

"From the Aleutians, the North Pacific force covers the Kuriles and sweeps into the sea of Okhotsk.

"The enemy is gradually being hemmed in on all sides and he will encounter great difficulty in obtaining, oil, coal, iron and ore and other materials.

"Meantime, while we seek to deprive Japanese factories and munitions work of necessary raw materials, we intend to carry out wholesale destruction of the factories. B-29s, naval surface craft and carrier aircraft bombers work hand in hand doing this job.

Control Jap "Lifeblood"

"What we have achieved so far in the Pacific has been the result of applying the carefully coördinated force of our arms.

"That we are now able to hammer hard at the enemy's inner defenses is due to the united effort of the army and navy ably assisted by the British Pacific fleet and our other capable allies.

"There is an old proverb that the lifeblood of Japan is the water of the sea. The navy's surface ships, submarines and aircraft are working in concert to control that lifeblood."

LONDONERS TOLD TO BOLT DOORS ON 'DRACULA'

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—Police warned residents of two northeast London districts tonight to bolt doors and lock windows against a "Dracula man"—a mysterious bedroom prowler who police said may be a potential killer.

Scotland Yard took up the hunt for him today after receiving complaints that a man with staring eyes and a throaty voice had been stealing into bedrooms and terrorizing women and young girls. Several said they awakened to find him gripping them by the throat.

So far he has chosen only ground floor bedrooms and there have been no reports of serious injuries, but in one instance he was frightened off while tying a rope around the neck of a girl, 14. He is slightly built and wears a heavy overcoat.

450 Super Forts Hit Four Homeland Arsenal Cities

Adm. Halsey

GUAM, July 17 (Tuesday)—(AP)—The United States and British fleets, combined to form the greatest carrier striking force ever assembled, hurled 1,500 planes at the Tokyo area today. The tremendous onslaught still is in progress.

The great blow, starting at dawn, followed by less than an hour a 2,500 ton incendiary bomb assault on four Japanese cities by nearly 500 Super Fortresses.

The first combined American-British operation of the war against the enemy homeland is commanded by Adm. Halsey, Adm. Nimitz announced.

Names Nine British Ships

Nimitz identified one British carrier, one battleship, two cruisers, and five destroyers, and it was clear that other unidentified units were participating.

He named the battleship King George V., completed since the war began; the carrier Formidable, the six inch gun cruiser Newfoundland, the 5.25 inch gun light cruiser Black Prince, the destroyers Troubridge, Undine, Barfleur, and Grenville and the Australian destroyer Quickmatch.

While not named in the present action, the British carriers Illustrious, Indomitable, Victorious, and Indefatigable previously have been listed as operating in the Pacific.

Ten Carriers, Says Tokyo

The Japanese radio, quickly acknowledging that Tokyo was under heavy air assault, said 10 carriers were in the task force.

No American ships were named, but Nimitz' bulletins on the strikes of the past week have identified the carriers Lexington, Essex, Independence, and San Jacinto; the new battleships Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Indiana, Massachusetts, and South Dakota; the cruisers Chicago, San Juan, Springfield, Atlanta, and Quincy, and 19 destroyers.

The British commander under Halsey is Vice Adm. Bernard Rawlings, former naval attache in Tokyo, with Vice Adm. Philip Vian in command of British carriers.

The fact that Vian, famed since Malta convoy days, was listed as in command of carriers showed that the Formidable was not the only British carrier in the operation.

Planes Strike at Dawn

Other British commanders included Rear Adms. E. J. Brind and J. Edleston—a hint as to the extensive nature of the forces involved.

Nimitz identified the targets only as being "in the Tokyo region," and said the carrier planes struck at dawn. His bulletin, issued at 10:15 a. m., Guam time [7:15 p. m., Chicago time], said the assaults were still in progress.

Tokyo already has suffered the loss of 53.6 square miles of the heart of the city from previous raids—principally from Super Fortress firebombs—but the low flying carrier planes could be expected to locate and destroy remaining pinpoint targets.

Sub Shells Two Towns

The Tokyo radio today asserted American submarines had moved in close to the coast and shelled northern Honshu with deck guns. The bombardment struck Tshiri and Yowaya on the Shimokita peninsula at the northern end of Honshu, the enemy radio said, adding that the shelling was not destructive but rather a method of "intimidation."

The broadcast termed the use of submarines part of a United States fleet plan "to reconnoiter in force," and also described it as "a challenge for a final decisive battle with all the fighting power of the American fleet."

Returning B-29 crewmen reported they started large fires by their 2,500 ton incendiary raid on four Japanese cities today. The targets were:

Railway City Hit

Kuwana, city of 42,000 and maker of bearings, aircraft parts, electrical equipment, machine tools, and steel, 12 miles southwest of Nagoya.

Oita, naval air depot and railway city of 76,000 on the southern island of Kyushu and that island's most important city on the Inland Sea.

All four cities were bombed by instrument thru an almost total cloud canopy.

Enemy fighter opposition and anti-aircraft were "nil to meager" and all B-29s returned safely to their Marianas bases.

460 Mile Sweep

The raid took the B-29s on a 460 mile sweep across the Japanese homeland from Oita on the northeastern coast of Kyushu to Hiratsuka, just south of the imperial palace at Tokyo.

It marked the first raid carried out under the newly organized command of the United States army strategic air forces under Gen. Spaatz. Spaatz is expected here soon from Washington to take direct command.

The steel city of Muroran on the southern shore of Hokkaido and Kamaishi, another one 275 miles north of Tokyo, were all but destroyed by the two day naval bombardment of Saturday and Sunday. Carrier planes leveled most of the port and industrial city of Kokkaido.

In all, 13 northern Japanese cities —16 by Tokyo's account — were struck, including Esashi, on the coast not far from the northern tip of Hokkaido.

Sunk or damaged were 128 ships totaling 108,000 tons. Ninety-two enemy planes were destroyed or damaged and 27 locomotives were wrecked.

Bag 24 Jap Planes

Marine Corsairs hit Kushira air field on Kyushu Island on Saturday, Nimitz announced. The marine planes destroyed barracks, strafed two trawlers, and on Kamiga Island nearby strafed parked planes and hit a powerhouse.

Many Privateer planes set fires among ships in the Whamgpoo river at Shanghai Saturday night and struck an oil plant there.

Mustang fighters from Iwo shot down 24 Japanese planes and probably destroyed another 16 in a wild dog fight over the Nagoya-Osaka area Monday — the first extensive opposition they had encountered in weeks of harassing raids.

A large force of P-51s ran into the Japanese planes en route to the targets and the melee spread from a hundred feet to three miles altitude. The Mustangs outflew the Japanese in 75 encounters. Two Mustangs were lost.

Illinoisan Clips Jap

Lt. Walter N. Roberts, Rockport, Ill., collided with a Japanese plane and clipped off the enemy's tail—shearing off eight inches of his own wing tip in the process. He returned safely.

Twentieth air force hearquarters announced that a fire raid July 10 destroyed almost 75 per cent of Gifu, textile and aircraft making city 18 miles north of Nagoya. Gifu joined the list of 38 Japanese cities damaged by incendiary raids.

Lt. Gen. Barney M. Giles, deputy commander of the newly set up U. S. army strategic air forces, said the first contingent of the 8th air force under Lt. Gen. Doolittle, would arrive in mid-August, after which 3,000 tactical and strategic air force planes could hit Japan in a single day.

B-29 Fleets Consolidated

The 21st bomber command on Guam and old B-29 groups in China and India are consolidated under the new USASTAF [United States army strategic air forces].

Under USASTAF will be two air forces "composed of very long range bombers and long range fighters to protect them," Giles said.

One is the 20th air force, which will continue to operate from Marianas bases, with support of P-51 Mustang fighters. Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay of the old 21st bomber command heads the new 20th air force.

The other air force will be the 8th, under Doolittle—including B-29s and P-47s based in the Okinawa area.

Under Okinawa's new air organization, Gen. Kenney's far east air forces are operating army tactical striking units; marine aircraft wing planes are defending the island, and navy air wing planes are blockading the Yellow and East China seas.

Brig. Gen. Thomas D. White of Springfield, Ill., arriving to take command of the 7th air force under Kenney, heads a force composed chiefly of Central and South Pacific veterans—with some new units thus far unannounced.

Big Carrier Force Hits Tokyo

GI Joe in the Pacific

By ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH 7TH FLEET SUBMARINES, July 16—The sub had good hunting in a Jap naval tanker force. The force consisted of four tankers and two escorts. Ignoring the escorts, Comdr. F. G. Selby, La Jolla, Cal., attacked the tankers, sank one, damaged another, chased a third, hit it, and returned to finish off the cripple. The sub then dodged the escorts the remainder of the day and got away unscathed.

The sub was riding on the surface that night and every one was happy. Then a Jap two engined bomber came out of the clouds and the sub prepared hurriedly to dive.

O, O, O, Oh!

Instead of attacking, however, the plane began circling. Jap escort ships were still in the vicinity and the pilot apparently was not sure of the sub's identity. With his blinker light he began sending what in the Morse code is O. Desiring to stay on the surface to charge the sub's battery, Comdr. Selby flashed O right back at him. The pilot changed to U, and so did the sub. Then they went back to O. That apparently was the wrong thing for the sub to do because the pilot came in for a close look.

By the time the Jap recognized the sub as American he had come too far to bomb effectively. He circled to make his run and Comdr. Selby took the sub down. Ample water covered the hull by the time the plane returned and dropped bombs.

15 Mile Race for Life

On another day Comdr. Selby took his sub into shallow straits. He made a surface attack in the early morning, sank a Jap freighter, and was chased by a Jap escort. The sub had 15 miles to go to deep water and safety. It began running on the surface, with the Jap 2½ miles behind as the sun came up.

The sub went to full speed and then to one reserved for emergencies, known to the crew as "full speed—frantic."

For the first two miles every one was jittery, but the escort failed to close the gap and nerves became calmer.

One shipmate, a signalman, is reported to have forgotten his navy training long enough to send several unofficial messages to the Jap. The content of these messages has not yet been disclosed.

YANKS TAKE ONE ISLAND, JAPS ON ANOTHER GIVE UP

IHIYA ISLAND, Okinawas, June 15—[Delayed]—(AP)—Marines of the 8th regimental combat team splashed ashore on this little island 310 miles south of Kyushu June 3 behind a stiff rocket and shellfire barrage and beneath low flying air cover—and found no one but docile natives.

The only Japanese in the whole area—garrisoning a tiny island near by—had watched the barrage and promptly rowed over in a longboat to surrender their entire 156 man garrison.

Accidents cost the lives of two marines and injured 12. A score of natives were wounded by the pre-invasion barrage and seven died. Approximately 3,000 others waved white flags and surrendered. No one committed suicide.

Maj. William C. Chamberlin, 4418 North Paulina st., Chicago, said one small radio station on the island apparently was civilian operated. A tiny leper colony also was discovered on an isolated hilltop.

PEACE CHARTER SENT TO SENATE BY COMMITTEE

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 16—Warning that no document or formula can prevent war, the senate foreign relations committee today recommended ratification of the San Francisco Charter as "a beginning" towards stabilizing the world for eventual peace.

The 12,000 word report was filed by Chairman Connally [D., Tex.]. Debate on ratification is scheduled to begin next Monday with Sen. Johnson [R., Cal.], who helped to defeat the league of nations covenant 25 years ago, the only known member of the committee outspoken in opposition.

Sen. Shipstead [R., Minn.], absent during last week's hearings, issued a statement that he had no objection to the charter being reported "without prejudice" on his part.

Asks Treaty Terms First

"It is not clear in my mind," he said, "why an agency to enforce peace should be organized before we know what the provisions are in the peace treaties we are to enforce.

"I assume those treaties are now in the making at Potsdam. I hope that a treaty can be agreed upon, based upon justice, which will provide for the genuine liberation of the enslaved peoples of Europe, Africa, and Asia.

"Then, when the final treaty of peace is signed, we will be able far better to appraise the obligations and the alleged benefits and effectiveness of this enforcement agency."

Admits Imperfections

The committee report made no attempt to analyze the charter in detail, noting that job had been performed in a report to President Truman on June 26 by former State Secretary Stettinius.

The senate, in considering its action, will have from the committee merely a review of the testimony of witnesses during 11 days of hearings and a hasty summary of the provisions of the charter. There was then presented the following conclusion:

"The committee is satisfied that the charter represents a remarkable accomplishment in the process of developing international coöperation. While it may be that this is not a perfect instrument, the important thing is that agreement has been reached between the representatives of 50 nations. . . .

"The committee points out, however, that neither this charter nor any other document or formula that might be devised can prevent war, and the committee would be performing a disservice to the public if its action should indicate any such opinion on its part. The establishment of the united nations will at best be a beginning towards the creation of those conditions of stability thruout the world which will foster peace and security."

The participation of the United States is essential to the success of the organization, the report observed.

Recommends Participation

"The question of our membership . . . has been debated thruout our country and in this congress as fully as any public issue of our history has ever been discussed. The committee feel that the people and the senate understand clearly the consequences and requirements of our membership.

"The committee is convinced that participation in the united nations is in accordance with our national interests."

The report recommended that the authority of the United States delegate in the world agency should not be determined until after the charter has been ratified. Any reservation to the charter or subsequent congressional limitation on employment of our armed forces would "clearly violate the spirit of the charter," it insisted.

As Valtin, he wrote "Out of the Night," based on fighting with the German underground. He's now writing "Japs Die Hard."

BRITISH SEIZE 5 TOWNS FROM JAPS IN BURMA

CALCUTTA, India, July 16 (AP)—British troops have captured five Burmese villages in the Sittang river bend northeast of Rangoon and are closing in on the pocketed Japanese stronghold of Myitkyo after putting enemy rearguards to flight, Adm. Mounbatten announced today. The five villages are clustered 16 miles southeast of Pegu, which is 45 miles northeast of Rangoon.

Twenty-nine miles northeast of Pegu the British converged on Myitkyo after routing a Japanese mortar concentration a mile southwest of the Japanese stronghold. British troops followed the retreating enemy but were unable to regain contact, a bulletin said.

Spitfire and Thunderbolt fighter-bombers joined the fight in the Sittang river bend where the Japanese were attempting to hold a bridgehead. Liberator bombers yesterday made a round trip flight of 2,500 miles to the Malay peninsula where they bombed warehouses and shipping at the port of Songkhla in southern Thailand.

AUSSIES MASS FOR ATTACK ON BIG OIL CENTER

MANILA, July 17 [Tuesday] (AP)—The main Australian force in eastern Borneo appeared today to be massing for a blow to drive the Japanese from positions blocking the last five miles into Sambodja and the military prize of its adjacent oil field. Gen. MacArthur's war bulletin mentioned only that strong combat patrols were thrusting into enemy lines, striking opposition at some points.

Most of this opposition came from points inland from the coastal highway leading up to Sambodja, particularly along a road that winds up to a second rich oil field around Samarinda, 36 miles north of Sambodja.

In the drive on Sambodja, whose wells used to supply the now ruined refineries of Balikpapan, Australians only yesterday had reported resistance was evaporating and capture of the oil center was expected at any time.

DIVE BOMBERS IN LUZON KILL 300 JAP SOLDIERS

MANILA, July 17 Tuesday]—(AP)—Fifth air force dive bombers killed more than 300 Japanese and wrecked 400 vehicles near Kiangan in northern Luzon, while a Liberator search plane destroyed or damaged 37 enemy junks near Hong Kong Saturday, it was announced here today.

The 5th fighter command, which reported the Luzon action, said the Mustangs bombed pillboxes and other strong points held by enemy remnants.

Drive on Kweilin

CHUNGKING, July 16 (AP)—Chinese troops fighting toward Kwellin, site of a triple air field base abandoned last October by the Americans, have captured a railroad stronghold and are driving on Yungfu, 31 miles southwest of the city, the Chinese high command said today.

In a coördinated assault Chinese troops seized Hwangminhu, on the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad, 51 miles southwest of Kwellin, on Saturday, a bulletin said. Part of the attack hit along the railroad and part along the main Liuchow-Kwellin highway. Hwangminhu is 40 miles northeast of Chinese controled Liuchow.

Some of the enemy fled northward toward Paishou, highway center 25 miles west of Kwellin, but were intercepted and fighting continues, the bulletin added. Other Chinese units Friday seized Liukianghsien, 34 miles northeast of Liuchow, and pushed on 7½ miles, the high command said. These forces perhaps were seeking to outflank Kwellin from the east.

ADMIRAL HINTS WEATHER WON'T DELAY INVASION

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Vice Adm. Daniel Barbey hinted tonight that American forces may not wait until the end of the typhoon season to invade China or Japan.

Discussing invasion prospects in a radio interview, the 7th amphibious force commander said that while the weather is important "it will take more than a big wind to stop us."

Barbey said that landings in Japan and China are "equal possibilities" and that an invasion force could be readied within 30 to 90 days, depending upon the size of the force.

Reiterating his prediction that Japan can be forced to surrender within a year if there is no slackening of the war effort at home, Barbey expressed belief that a landing could be achieved without heavy casualties because American forces will be able to pick the spot for invasion and mass overwhelming gun and air power on it.

WARNS JAPS NOT TO PIN HOPES ON SPLIT OF ALLIES

San Francisco, Cal., July 16 (AP).—A Tokyo broadcast said today that Japan would fall into "irretrievable political confusion compelling surrender" if it pinned hopes of victory on a split among the allies.

The Tokyo radio said Emperor Hirohito had sent one of his court councillors to visit headquarters of the army air force, thereby proving his "deep interest in the present situation of our air force."

Amid persistent criticism and fears of imminent invasion, Premier Suzuki was reported to have called an emergency session of his cabinet to discuss the war. Tokyo radio said Suzuki had issued orders for increased production of weapons and told Japan's regional governors that more food must be raised.

The reference to "political confusion compelling surrender" was made in a Domei dispatch quoting the newspaper Yomiuri Hochi. It demanded that war leaders take a realistic view of the world situation.

The newspaper said Japan's leaders should learn from the "tragic lesson" of Germany.

Another Domei dispatch questioned President Truman's assurance that unconditional surrender would not mean the extinction and enslavement of the Japanese people.

It cited a magazine article by Adm. Halsey, advocating elimination of Japan's military clique and the doctrin of Shintoism, as part of what it said was a campaign to instigate "passions of beastly hatred against the Japanese race."

HINT AT SECRET IN CHENNAULT'S RESIGNATION

CHUNGKING, July 16 (AP) — Officials in the Chinese capital generally took for granted today that there still is much to be told about the resignation of Maj. Gen. Chennault as commander of the United States 14th air force in China.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of United States forces in the China theater, said in a statement he had agreed to Chennault's request with "deep regret."

OPEN ANNAPOLIS TO RESERVISTS FOR MORE STUDY

Follows Protests of Congressmen

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 16—A special school for naval reserve officers will be opened at the Annapolis Naval academy Aug. 7, Navy Secretary Forrestal announced tonight. The course will last 10 months and will prepare reservists for transfer to the regular navy, he said.

A group of 189 reserve officers will be in the first group to take the course, which is a navy innovation. They will receive training in naval ordinance, seamanship, communications, and naval administration and tactics. Forrestal said the training will be similar to post-graduate courses given Annapolis graduates.

The first group will include 31 lieutenant commanders, 137 lieutenants, and 21 lieutenants junior grade. They were chosen from 800 applicants on the basis of previous education, experience, with emphasis on sea duty, and their general performance record.

Ensigns Not Admitted

Forrestal said the course will be limited to lieutenant commanders under 36 with four years' experience, lieutenants under 31 with 2½ years' experience, and lieutenants junior grade with 2 years' experience. Ensigns, he said, are barred because of "lack of sea duty" and commanders as "past the desirable student age."

Forrestal's announcement came within a month of the voicing of complaints by congressmen about discrimination against naval reserve officers who are not given an opportunity for advancement in the navy. Choice berths and rapid promotions during the war have been limited to Annapolis men, despite the battle experience of former civilians who comprise 95 per cent of the navy's present 300,000 officer personnel.

Reserve Officers Praised

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.], a member of the senate naval committee, said the Annapolis training to be offered reserve officers is a "much warranted recognition" of the need for greater participation of reserve officers in the post-war navy.

"The highest ranking naval officers," Brooks said, "have admitted constantly that reserve officers drawn from civilian life have made tremendous contributions to the techniques and advance of the modern navy.

Forrestal, in a statement, predicted those who complete the course will form the nucleus of a sizable group of officers transferring from reserve to regular status after the war. The secretary said a more specialized "post graduate" course is being planned for naval aviators.

ALDERMEN SCAN 20 AMBULANCE PLAN FOR CITY

Council recognition of a plan to provide a fleet of 20 municipal ambulances for Chicago was given yesterday when the council finance committee, headed by Ald. Bowler [25th], agreed to appoint a subcommittee to study the proposal.

The plan was formulated by the joint committee on public ambulance service, headed by Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, president elect of the Chicago Medical society and associate director of the American College of Surgeons. He pointed out that Chicago is the only large city in the country without a municipal ambulance service.

"It is a wonderful idea, and Chicago certainly should have the ambulances," Bowler said, "but the question of funds to provide the service must be settled."

INDICT NASTER IN $221,575 TAX CHEATING CASE

U.S. Jurors Act on 4 Years' Records

Bert K. Naster, president of the Superior Electrical Industries, 1259 S. Campbell av., was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on charges of evading the payment of $221,575.05 in income taxes for the years 1940 to 1943, inclusive.

Bert K. Naster

The indictment is Naster's most recent and most serious entanglement with the law. April 12 he was fined $100 for knocking down a convalescent wounded paratrooper in the Drake hotel. May 11 he was fined $200 for violating fire prevention ordinances in his plant. May 31 he was fined $100 for barring a fire inspector from the factory.

Penalty May Be Half Million

The indictment, returned before Judge Walter J. La Buy, fixed Naster's bond at $25,000. United States Atty. J. Albert Woll estimated that with interest and penalties the manufacturer is liable to a total assessment of nearly $500,000. The indictment contains four counts, providing a maximum sentence of five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each, or a total of 20 years and $40,000.

Progressive cheating of the government for four years is charged in the indictment as follows: 1940, $2,477.81; 1941, $19,791.24; 1942, $91,409.96; 1943, $107,896.04.

Year	Net income	Tax return
1940	$ 21,219.77	$ 6,463.57
1941	53,203.23	14,434.53
1942	135,322.54	10,126.55
1943	156,155.62	25,452.72

John B. Stephan, assistant United States attorney, said that Naster tried to evade tax payments thru cash dealings. The lawyer explained that Naster demanded that customers pay him only in cash. This was done, Stephan said, but the customers, when they got the money from their own banks, always noted on their withdrawal checks that the money was for payment to Naster or his company.

Use of Aliases Charged

Thus, Stephan said, while Naster's records failed to show these cash receipts, his customers' records did. The indictment charges that Naster used the aliases of plain Bert Naster, without the initial, B. Naster, L. Breinin and B. Breinin. Customers' check records even showed those aliases, Stephan added.

Woll said that the paratroop slugging by Naster did not inspire the income tax case. For nearly a year, and long before that incident, Woll said, A. P. Madden, director of the special intelligence unit of the internal revenue department, had been investigating.

Selection of a jury was begun before Judge Frank M. Padden in Criminal court yesterday for the trial of three men indicted on charges of robbery and burglary in the $2,000,000 looting of the safety vaults of the E. H. Rumbold Real Estate company, 624 W. 119th st., last January.

LINER EUROPA BEING READIED TO CARRY YANKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, July 16—With her hull pronounced seaworthy and already covered with a new coat of paint to above the water line, the former German liner Europa is expected to get out of drydock tomorrow and should be carrying American troops homeward by Sept. 1—or "make it Sept. 15 at the most, to be on the safe side," Capt. Pat Brennan said today.

Brennan has been chief engineer on practically all the leading United States line's boats. He has been lent by the American navy to the war shipping administration to get the Europa's engines in shape for sea duty and to appoint the key men for the engine room.

"She ought to lift 25,000 troops home monthly," he said.

Three thousand Germans are now working on this reconversion job, and every effort is being made to scrape up another thousand.

RESCUE BOY, 2½, AFTER 14 FLOOR JOYRIDE IN LIFT

Police and firemen yesterday help to release John McGuire Jr., 2½ years old, from an elevator in which he was caught at the 14th floor of an apartment building at 233 E. Walton pl. Police said the child apparently had walked into the elevator when it was empty and started it up. The car stopped at the 14th floor, where no one was at home to hear his screams of terror. He was unharmed, but shaken from fright, when he was released. The boy's father is Ens. John McGuire on duty in Trinidad. His mother is the former Carlotta Lagorio.

3 More Deployment Steps Add to Woes

Further difficulty for civilians trying to travel by train was foreseen yesterday by railway passenger officials and by government agencies concerned with troop movements. Federal spokesmen predicted an immediate rush of soldier travel in competition with civilians seeking day coach seats.

"Men will be returning from overseas at an increasing rate and the task of taking them from east coast staging centers to reception centers and then home on furlough will be heavier," said Col. I. Sewell Morris of the army's western railroads urgency committee. "That is the job we have had thus far. Now the first men back from Europe are ending their furloughs. They must go from their homes to the reception centers. From there they go to assembly stations, some of them for training. Then they must go on to west coast ports.

Railroad men said that troops moving in units get first consideration, including use of the Pullmans taken off runs of less than 450 miles. The thousands of men on furlough, however, travel singly and they and the civilians have their eyes on the same day coach seats.

Col. Morris said the railroads need 65,000 men at once, 8,000 in Chicago.

ITALIAN YOUTHS FACE DEATH FOR CARRYING ARMS

MILAN, Italy, July 16 (AP)—Five Italian youths in their twenties faced possible death sentences as their trial, the first of its kind in northern Italy, ended today before an allied military tribunal. The five were accused of the possession of arms, looting, and robbery with firearms, and the slaying of two civilians.

The defense pleaded the youths were victims of the manner of life under the Fascists during the last 20 years and especially in the last two years, when they served as Partisans and learned to live like "wolves." The defense admitted the youths erred, but asked the court for mercy.

FRANCE'S BEST SCHOOLS OPEN DOORS TO YANKS

BY ANNE BRUYERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, July 16—World famous French universities turned over their campuses today to half a million Yank students, many of whom are GIs, WACs, and nurses from schools in Chicago and Illinois.

Hundreds of Illinois combat men have enrolled at the Sorbonne, where classes will begin tomorrow. At Sorbonne the GIs, WACs, and nurses will be attending the first co-educational classes on the European continent.

Leading French colleges at Grenoble, Nancy, Dijon, and Bensancon have opened their doors to the Americans who will take full time day courses this summer, for which they will receive college credits, while they are waiting for redeployment.

Inaugural Rites Held

The Illinois contingents who are taking advantage of the opportunity of study in Europe include a number of graduates of the University of Illinois and Loyola and Northwestern universities.

Inaugural ceremonies were held this afternoon at the Sorbonne. Among the speakers were United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffry, Maj. Gen. Smith, military attache of the American embassy; Brig. Gen. Paul W. Thompson, chief of the United States army's information and education division; Capt. Catherine R. Evans, 5943 Forest Glen av., Chicago, dean of women, and Maj. Ian Frazer, a graduate of Northwestern, who is American director of studies at the Sorbonne.

The majority of the American women attending the co-educational classes at the Sorbonne are nurses. Their chief, Lt. Col. Sarah Abrahams, 837 S. Paulina st., Chicago, head of the 108th general hospital, the Loyola unit, arranged for a separate dormitory for them on the campus. All the nurses will be billeted in the international house for girls, donated by Mrs. Grace Whiting Hoff of Detroit. Overlooking the famous Luxemburg palace, the international house provides a big auditorium, reception room and swimming pool.

5,000 Take Courses

The WACs are co-billeted with the soldiers in the Cite Universitaire, where more than 5,000 students are taking vocational courses.

After outlining the courses, Gen. Thompson emphasized that in no case will participation in the studies delay the return of any service men or women to the United States.

All members of the American army are eligible to take courses in line with their previous education, provided they have more than 85 demobilization points or belong to a second category—those bound for the China-Burma-India theater who have had at least two years in college.

Already about 75 per cent of the enlisted personnel are studying in command unit schools of the United States armed forces, institutes of civilian agencies, army centralized technical schools, or the army information and education staff school.

Chicago Yanks enrolled at the Sorbonne include:

Robert B. Russel, 3219 N. Keating av., who attended The University of Chicago; Tech. Sgt. Milton Segalove, 214, S. Hamlin av., University of Chicago; Sgt. Robert M. Heilbron, 4'0 Wrightwood av., University of Chicago; Corp. Edmund Wopprens, 4331 S. Sacramento av., Loyola university; Sgt. Charles Benson, 5745 Ridge av., Northwestern; Sgt. Roger Gormican, Harris Trust and Savings bank, Loyola; Sgt. Richard Best, 5320 Harper av., De Pauw, Greencastle, Ind., and Maj. Theodore S. Kurland, 1210 Wrightwood av., Chicago.

Jack S. Moline, La Harpe, Ill., who attended Wesleyan; Sgt. Robert S. Kroening, Bensenville, Ill., University of Illinois; Sgt. Hardy J. Battle, 2024 Jefferson st., Gary, Ind., University of Michigan; Bernard Neller, 1838 S. 48th ct., Cicero, University of Illinois; J. R. White, 400 W. Vernon av., Normal, Ill., Illinois State Normal; Alvin Hollanberg, 419 McCarthy rd., Lemont, Ill., Illinois College of Chiropody and Foot Surgery, and Corp. James E. Harris, Granville, Ill., La Salle-Peru-Oglesby Junior college.

DELAY ACTION ON FILLING POST OF DRYMALSKI

Altho state statutes now provide that a successor to City Treasurer Raymond Drymalski, who is serving as a lieutenant in the navy, can be named by Mayor Kelly with the consent of the city council no action will be taken immediately, the mayor said yesterday. Prior to June 30, when Gov. Green signed enabling legislation, there was no provision for filling the treasurer's post except on the death of the occupant. City hall sources said yesterday that if and when the post is filled it will go to a Democrat of Polish ancestry.

ARMY PERFORMS 'THE IMPOSSIBLE' IN LUNG SURGERY

Operations Restore Yanks to Useful Lives

BY NORMA LEE BROWNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Memphis, Tenn., July 16—In the World war almost half of all men who received penetrating chest wounds died. [A "penetrating" chest wound is one in which the missile actually enters the chest cavity.] In this war medical science has reduced that toll to less than 15 per cent.

Here in Kennedy General hospital, one of the army's largest specialized centers for thoracic [chest] surgery, a team of expert chest surgeons is performing delicate operations that in the World war seemed impossible.

In the wards here one sees strapping young soldiers who are minus—of all things—a lung! Many more are minus part of a lung or have draining wounds in their chests.

Part of Lung Removed

Some were targets for German 88s. Many are combat veterans who developed pneumonia and then empyema [pus in the chest cavity] from continuous exposure to cold and dampness. The greatest number who have had operations in this hospital were suffering from bronchiectasis, a disease of the bronchial tubes running in the lungs, for which the only adequate treatment is removal of the lung or the diseased part of it.

The first planned lung removal was performed in 1933, and the operation still is considered one of the most delicate and tedious feats of surgery. The incision is started toward the patient's back, beneath the shoulder blades, and moves diagonally toward the abdomen, over the ribs. One rib is removed from its periosteal coat, the knife cuts thru this coat, and the other ribs are spread apart with a strong instrument, leaving a hole large enough for the surgeon's hands to explore the entire chest cavity.

Patient's Breathing Controled

The lungs are exposed, salmon pink mottled with city soot, and that small red blob in the middle is the patient's heart, bumping up and down.

During the entire operation the patient's breathing and therefore the lung movement, is controled by the anesthetist.

"The advances in anesthesia have contributed largely to the success of chest surgery," said Lt. Col. Richard H. Meade Jr., chief of the chest surgical section at Kennedy. "It is important for the surgeon that the patient's breathing be controled so that he gets enough oxygen and so there are no sudden, jump movements of the lungs during delicate steps in the operation."

The operation usually requires several hours, he said, the longest one at Kennedy running six hours.

Penicillin Put Into Cavity

When the operation is completed, penicillin is injected into the chest cavity, the ribs are drawn back in place, and the periosteal coat of the rib that was removed is sewed together with fine silk thread. Finally, the several layers of muscle and the skin are closed in the same way, each one separately. The rib that was removed to make room for the operation is not replaced, but a new one will grow in its place.

Many men who have undergone a pneumonectomy [removal of the entire lung] or lobectomy [removal of a lobe] are returned to limited duty. Their chances for a long and normal life are as good as ever barring, of course, pneumonia or other respiratory illness.

Participation in strenuous activities will be limited for those with one lung, but the men will be able to carry on in many kinds of jobs. Those who have had one lobe removed can resume full physical activity. [The lungs are composed of five lobes, two on the left side and three on the right.]

Work at Front Hailed

The chief reason for the lowering of the mortality rate from chest wounds has been the expert immediate care given the wounded, made possible by the assignment of well trained chest surgeons to mobile hospitals near the front. The decrease in infection due to the use of sulfa drugs, and penicillin has been another factor.

"Most battle casualties have been so well cared for at the front that there is little left for us to do for them back here," said Col. Meade.

Nurses are particularly important in a chest surgery center, because lung patients require special nursing care and constant attention. This also is true of "esophagus" cases, those who have been shot thru the neck or whose "gullet" has been burned out by drinking sabotaged wine—with lye in it.

Illinoisans in Hospital

Among patients here are Pvt. Henry Van Dyke, 21, of Berwyn, a paratrooper who was shot in Luzon; Sgt. Edward Kowalski of Joliet, just back from Okinawa, who spent 26 months in the Pacific and 10 days looking thru rows of white crosses for the name of a buddy, and Pvt. Joseph Demler, 19, of Fredonia, Wis., known as the "living skeleton," who lost 80 pounds in three months in a German prison camp.

Joe was out of high school 10 days when he went in the army, and was in combat three days before he was captured near Luxemburg.

Now in the chest surgery section at Kennedy with empyema — developed from pneumonia and malnutrition—Joe blandly shrugged off his death-brink experiences and threw open his pajama coat.

"See them?" he asked, pointing to a mass of white pin point scars on his chest. "My fighting days are over, I hope. That's something I wouldn't want to go thru again. Lice bites!"

HALIFAX DECORATES 22 OFFICERS OF U.S. FOR SERVICE IN WAR

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Twenty-two Americans, headed by Lt. Gen. Eaker of the army air forces, were decorated today on behalf of King George VI. by British Ambassador Halifax.

In a ceremony at the British embassy, Gen. Eaker of San Angelo, Tex., was made honorary knight commander of the military division of the Order of the Bath.

Other officers as honorary commanders of the British empire, included Maj. Gen. Charles C. Chauncey, Ada, Okla., Brig. Gen. Robert Kauch, Alexandria, Va., and Brig. Gen. William D. Old, Uvalde, Tex.

HINT GILLETTE MAY BE CZAR OF FOOD IN REICH

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Former Sen. Gillette [D., Okla.] was reported under consideration today for appointment as director of food production and distribution in the American occupied portion of Germany.

Gillette, whose resignation as chairman of the surplus war property board became effective July 15, conferred with President Truman before Truman left for the current Big Three meeting, but there has been no public indication of the White House attitude on the appointment.

If Gillette is named to the post, he would operate directly under Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay, Gen. Eisenhower's deputy for civil affairs in the American zone. Gen. Eisenhower is the United States representative on the allied control commission for Germany.

THREE FINED, 16 DISMISSED ON GAMING COUNTS

Three defendants were fined $50 each on gambling charges by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in South State st. court yesterday, while 16 others, arrested on similar charges, were dismissed, and the cases of seven others were continued until Aug. 3.

Fined were John Cihon, 31, of 2407 W. 68th st., owner of the drug store at 1549 W. 63d st.; Mrs. Ada Reynolds, 26, Negro, of 3611 South Park way, and Edward Thompson, 34, Negro, of 8951 Mackinaw av.

The judge discharged the 16 defendants when he learned their arrests had been made without warrants, or because the prosecution failed to present sufficient evidence against them.

NO SOAP MEANS NO BREATH OF SPRING IN REICH

Easing Fraternization Ban Has Little Effect

EGERN ON THE TEGERNSEE, Bavaria, July 16 (AP)—The major read Gen. Eisenhower's order relaxing the ban on fraternizing.

"Whew," he said softly. "It's going to be just like Saturday night in Joplin, Mo., with all these GIs and all these frauleins."

But there was no abrupt change.

The order, allowing American soldiers to talk to German grownups on the streets and in public places, is almost 48 hours old now.

Maybe They're Bashful

Perhaps it is stage fright. Maybe they all feel a little sheepish. But anyway, the American soldier has floundered around these two days and has scarcely mustered up courage to whistle when he sees a German girl.

There may be several reasons besides bashfulness.

Those who came swashbuckling across France and Belgium sweeping ladies off their feet have found the frauleins just do not sweep.

No Soap, No Breath of Spring

For one thing, most of their menfolk are home now. The discharge of German soldiers by tens of thousands daily has provided escorts for most young women—especially the most attractive ones.

And on the authority of the camp's Casanova [every camp has one] sour black bread, cheese, and sauerkraut do not exactly make for the breath of spring among German girls.

"Anyway, you know," he said, "most Germans haven't had soap for six months."

9TH VICTIM DIES IN SHOOTING OF WAR PRISONERS

Fort Douglas, Utah, July 16 (AP)—Ninth service command headquarters today reported the ninth death among German prisoners of war who were sprayed by machine gun fire turned loose upon a sleeping work camp by an American army private.

The latest victim was Pvt. Freidrich Ritter, 49. He died at near-by Kearns Friday.

Eight prisoners were killed outright and 20 wounded when Pvt. Clarence V. Bertucci, 23, New Orleans, a guard at the camp at Salina, Utah, fired 250 rounds into the Germans' tents July 8. Bertucci is under hospital observation.

14 Inch Snows Block Traffic in New Zealand

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, July 17—New Zealand's biggest wartime ordeal came over the week-end, not from enemy action but from winter weather. New Zealand cities which are not equipped to counter snowfalls, were disrupted by up to 1 inch falls which paralyzed street traffic, cut telephone services and caused intermittent power failures.

YANKS' 60,000 BRITISH WOMEN SEEK U. S. TRIP

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—British wives and sweethearts of American service men are inquiring at the rate of hundreds a day at the United States embassy about the quickest way to get to the United States. Diplomats estimated there were about 60,000 such women.

The adjutant general's office said today that the backlog of wives approved for transport to the United States and waiting for boat space had increased from 4,000 to 9,000 in the last few weeks.

At the embassy, some of London's longest lines wait for information. Some of the women are accompanied by husbands or parents, and some carry babies. K. B. Sanders Jr., vice consul in charge of visas, said the only thing holding up the women's departure was transportation. "It is an army problem," he added.

CAPITAL ASKS: WAS EGYPT MADE PAWN AT YALTA?

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., July 16—Speculation on the secret agreements of the Yalta conference has been revived by the testimony in a Cairo court that Egypt was high pressured by Great Britain to declare war on the axis.

The testimony was given during the trial of a young Egyptian lawyer for the assassination of the Egyptian premier last winter after the premier had announced his country's declaration of war. The assassin testified in his own defense that England had brought pressure to bear on Egypt to get the action.

The court after hearing the defendant's testimony ruled that Egypt's war declaration was in accord with the Yalta conference agreement.

Was Egypt a Pawn?

The judicial ruling raised the question whether there had been a secret agreement of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Churchill, and Mr. Stalin at the Yalta conference virtually giving Egypt to Great Britain, as the eastern half of Poland was given to Russia. If there was such agreement of the Big Three Great Britain was able to proceed with assurance to drive Egypt into line.

That there were secret agreements at Yalta Mr. Roosevelt admitted upon his return from the conference. But, he said, such agreements were purely of a military character and for that reason could not be divulged while the war was in progress. Subsequently there leaked out a secret agreement of a nonmilitary character. This was the agreement whereby Russia was to have three votes in the new league of nations.

According to a state department source there was no agreement pertaining to Egypt at Yalta. The only agreement, it was stated, was that the invitations to the San Francisco conference were to be confined to those nations that had declared war on the axis.

Quick to Take Action

Within two weeks after the Yalta conference ended Turkey declared war on Feb. 23 and Egypt followed the next day. Soon thereafter other Arab states took similar action in order, it was stated at the time, to get in on the San Francisco conference and the new league of nations.

Egypt is the only one of such nations, however, alleged to have been coerced by the British. The power to coerce Egypt would indicate a restoration in some manner, if not by a Yalta agreement, of British domination of that ancient land. The British from the end of the 18th century exercised virtual domination of Egypt and a protectorate of the country established in 1914 but terminated in 1922. Since that time Britain's only visible influence in Egypt has derived from special interest accorded by treaty in defense of the Suez canal and in administration of the Sudan.

The testimony regarding British pressure on Egypt to declare war was published in Cairo, but deleted by the British controled civilian censorship from press reports sent abroad.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

July 17—Hero of Fort Schuyler

Peter Gansevoort, the sturdy Dutch-American whose dogged defense of Fort Schuyler in the critical summer of 1777 helped thwart the British plan to split the colonies and bring the war to an end, was born in Albany, N. Y., July 17, 1749.

Fort Schuyler, on the present site of Rome, N. Y., stood in the way of Col. Barry St. Leger and his British and Indian troops who were pressing in from the west and striving to make a junction with Gen. John Burgoyne. The latter was pushing down from the northeast and aiming at Albany. Command of Fort Schuyler had been entrusted to Col. Gansevoort, then 28.

On Aug. 2 or 3, 1777, the vanguards of St. Leger's force arrived before Schuyler. They found nothing which encouraged them to hope for an early surrender. Instead, according to some accounts, they saw the defiant garrison nail up the banner of the infant nation and prepare for an indefinite defense. If the story of the flag raising is true, this may have been the first time the Stars and Stripes was flown in the face of an enemy. It had been adopted by congress only seven weeks before.

Not content merely with sitting tight inside the fort and waiting for the enemy force of 1,600 to attack, Gansevoort sent a large fraction of his garrison of 750 out to take part in a two way assault on St. Leger. The plan miscarried, but it was successful enough to reduce greatly St. Leger's prestige among his Indian allies.

After a three weeks siege, the British forces virtually melted away. The Indians got completely out of hand when Gen. Benedict Arnold [then still in good standing and in command of a moderate sized American force coming to engage St. Leger] managed by means of an advance runner to plant in the enemy camp the rumor that Burgoyne had been defeated and that the approaching American army was of overwhelming size.

St. Leger never reached Albany. Neither did Burgoyne, for he soon began to encounter great difficulties and in October was compelled to surrender at Saratoga.

Before the end of the war Gansevoort was a brigadier general. He died in Albany July 2, 1812.

$2,000 PAYMENT TO FAMILIES OF DEPUTIES VOTED

The county board of commissioners voted yesterday to give $2,000 each to the families of two deputy sheriffs killed in an automobile accident at Harlem and Touhy avs. June 6 while they were on duty.

Sheriff Mulcahy suggested the payments to the families of William Pottow, 5408 Cortez st., and Leonard Hurwitz, 4850 N. Sacramento av.

The county also agreed to match, from motor fuel tax funds, a $100,000 federal grant to be used for advance engineering work on the proposed west side super-highway.

MARTIN URGES POST-WAR BAN ON ARMY DRAFTING

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin today proposed a world-wide ban on compulsory peace time military service, but advocates of a training program dismissed his idea as merely something "grand to contemplate."

The Massachusetts congressman announced in a statement that he will introduce tomorrow a resolution calling on the administration to work for an international anti-conscription agreement "before the United States adopts compulsory military service."

Chairman Woodrum [D., Va.] of the house post-war military committee which recently recommended a system of universal peace time training for this country, said recent hearings indicated every one of our diplomatic and military leaders believed. "National security demands a highly trained citizen reserve militia."

Martin said his resolution would urge the President, secretary of state, and the American representative on the allied organization to work for his aim. He plans to propose only a house resolution, not requiring senate action and not binding on the officials.

BELGIAN PARLIAMENT MEETS TODAY TO ACT ON LEOPOLD DECISION

BRUSSELS, July 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Achille van Acker announced today after a four hour cabinet meeting that parliment would be convened tomorrow to work out the next step in the deadlock caused by King Leopold's decision that he would not abdicate nor return immediately to Belgium.

Van Acker later said that a second four hour cabinet session, held because of the "gravity of the situation," had adjourned, and that the government had "nothing to report."

Meanwhile, rumors circulated that the king, thru Regent Prince Charles, had sent a message to the Belgian people declaring that he wished to await the results of a general election before making up his mind.

[Elizabeth, queen mother of the Belgians, may bring more definite news of Leopold's intention when she returns to Brussels after her consultations with him in Austria, a Reuters dispatch from Brussels said.]

STALIN ABSENT AS CHURCHILL, TRUMAN MEET

Whereabouts of Soviet Premier Mystery

tered German militarism. Churchill called on President Truman at 11:50 a. m., being driven there by his daughter, Mary Churchill. It was their first meeting.

The cigar chewing British leader left Mr. Truman's luxuriously furnished "Little White House" at 12:30 p. m., walking away while his daughter, a junior commander in the auxiliary territorial service, drove. In their own quarters, meanwhile, the American and British joint chiefs of staff held preliminary meetings among themselves.

Churchill was accompanied by Foreign Secretary Eden. They were greeted by Adm. Leahy, President Truman's personal chief of staff.

[It was disclosed in Washington, D. C., that President Truman had summoned Vice Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the war shipping administration, to the conferences at Potsdam.]

What Mr. Truman and Churchill talked about was not known. All that was told the more than 200 allied correspondents quartered in the press camp in the adjacent suburb of Zehlendorf was that it was a "courtesy" call.

Urges Tour of Berlin

About 1 p. m., United States Marshal Fred Canfil, who was a sergeant in the President's World war outfit, arrived at the "Little White House" and urged the President to see the ruins of Berlin for himself. By 2:30 the President had decided to make a quick trip and by 3:30 p. m. the Presidential car was pulling out of the restricted area.

The President, who retired early Sunday night and slept until 8 a. m., more than an hour beyond his usual rising time, was out of Potsdam for two hours.

He saw Berlin and inspected the famous 2d armored [Hell on Wheels] division, drawn up along the wide Avus super-highway built by Hitler between Potsdam and Berlin.

After taking the salute, Mr. Truman, looking natty in a blue suit and his familiar grey hat, sped into Berlin and passed triumphantly under the Brandenburg gate where he was saluted by Col. Gen. Alexander Gorbatov, soviet commander of Berlin, and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Nikolai Barinov.

As the blistering sun beat down, the Presidential car, accompanied by a small secret service detail and army riflemen under Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, American commandant of Berlin, moved thru the ruins along Bismarckstrasse, Berlinstrasse, and thru the blackened Tiergarten to Unter den Linden.

Berliners walking the streets or riding bicycles paid little notice as the cavalcade drove past the wreckage of the reichstag, past breadlines, and under the giant photographs of the President, of Churchill, and of Stalin, erected in the Russian section of the capital.

Stops at Chancellery

Mr. Truman's limousine stopped outside the war wrecked reichschancellery, where Hitler whipped up the spirit of nazism and reportedly met his death.

Ten minutes after the President left, Churchill and Eden and several other members of the British leader's personal party arrived. Grimly biting his cigar, Churchill, in an obviously dour mood, got out of his car, unlike the President, and spent about half an hour stalking swiftly thru the building.

Mr. Truman left Potsdam accompanied by Leahy, Secretary of State Byrnes, and his military and naval aids. Greeted by the 2d armored division's band as he moved on to the Avus, he bared his hear, acknowledged the salutes, and then awarded a citation.

Stands in Half-Track

Standing in a half-track personnel carrier, he made the award to company E of the 17th armored engineering battalion, which spanned the Rhine under fire, and said:

"I am only sorry that I didn't get a chance to participate in some phase of this war myself."

The President, an old artillery officer, presented the award to the battalion commander, Capt. James E. McAdam of Birmingham, Ala., while the 2d division's commander, Brig. Gen. John H. Collier, looked on.

Churchill Belligerent

Churchill was almost belligerent at the reichschancellery. He stood aside defiantly near the spot where Hitler's body purportedly burned and asked Russian escorts how the Nazis had died there.

He inspected Hitler's office and visited older parts of the chancellery and descended thru the stench into the underground shelter where Hitler and his sweetheart, Eva Braun, were said to have spent the last days of the siege of Berlin.

Among unofficial sources there was a general belief that the Big Three conference would not end before July 26, when Britain's election returns would be announced. On international issues, however, British observers affirmed that Churchill and Laborite Clement Attlee—who might become prime minister—would speak with one voice in negotiating in the discussions.

TWO MURDER CHARGES FACE N. J. AX SLAYER

Phillipsburg, N. J., July 16 (AP)—Two charges of murder, one dealing with the fatal shooting of a state trooper and the other with the ax slaying of the prisoner's wife, today were lodged against Ernest Rittenhouse, 30, Orange, N. J., war worker, who was captured at dawn today after a 36 hour manhunt by police.

Prosecutor Saul E. Schechter of Warren county said Rittenhouse had confessed both slayings after being captured while asleep in a bungalow.

Rittenhouse was removed to a hospital for treatment of bullet wounds inflicted by a state trooper whom he had earlier escaped.

PROTEST PRESS CURB DURING TRUMAN'S TRIP THRU BELGIUM

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 16 (AP)—The newspaper La Lanterne, commenting on press arrangements for President Truman's trip thru Belgium, protested today in an editorial that Belgian newspaper men had been given inadequate opportunity to cover the story.

The Belgians, however, were not the only one to protest over the press arrangements. Up to the minute the cruiser Augusta docked with the Presidential party aboard, army, navy, and diplomatic officials declined to discuss the subject of the President's visit with American newsmen, telling them: "It's a top secret. I can give you no information."

Americans and other accredited correspondents finally sent a radio message to Press Secretary Ross aboard the Augusta, but received no answer. Just before the President left the Augusta the correspondents located a secret service man who was sent aboard with their appeal. They were then admitted to the pier.

DENY TRUMAN ITINERARY SNUBS GEN. DE GAULLE

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—State department officials said today president Truman's omission from his European itinerary of a visit to France was not meant as a rebuff to Gen. de Gaulle.

"It is nothing of the sort," a spokesman said, explaining that Mr. Truman "has had to refuse many bids to visit the chiefs of other European countries because of pressing domestic matters."

The President's skirting of France in his trip from Antwerp and Brussels to Potsdam, site of the Big Three conference, had stirred speculation in diplomatic quarters here that De Gaulle was being ignored.

REPARATIONS PLAN CALLS FOR PLANT REMOVAL

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, July 16—Removal of industrial property as reparations and use of reparations to facilitate recovery in nations devastated by the Germans are among eight principles which the delegates to the allied reparations commission in Moscow have recommended to their governments, it was learned today.

The principles represent to a considerable extent the United States policy on reparations as explained to other delegates by Edwin C. Pauley, the American representative on the commission.

Eliminates War Potential

The first and perhaps the most important of the basic principles is that which deals with the removal of German property. Such removal for reparation shall be such as to help in ending Germany's power to make war by eliminating that section of the nation's industrial capacity which constitutes its war potential.

Nations devastated by the Germans—France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Norway, Yugoslavia, Greece, and Poland—will benefit from reparations since the second principle calls for general reparations which will hasten recovery and reconstruction in nations devastated by the Germans, it was learned.

Avoid Financial Help

The delegates also agreed on the principle of avoiding any plan of reparations which requires internal financial aid either to enable the making of reparations deliveries or to facilitate economic reconstruction necessary for reparation purposes.

Another principle provides that reparations shall be taken to the greatest extent from the existing national wealth of Germany. Claims may be stated in claims of money solely for the sake of convenience but reparations will be assessed and exacted in kind in the form of things such as stocks, foreign investments, machines and equipment supplies.

BRITISH OFFER TO FILL DANISH PLANE ORDERS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, July 16—British aircraft manufacturers are reported to have promised Nov. 1 delivery on any airplanes or equipment purchased here by representatives of the Danish civil air line who arrived today in search of supplies. Liberal terms of payment are reported to have been offered.

American aircraft representatives here said they are unable to meet the British promises on fall delivery of aircraft because of uncertainty as to when the American government would authorize the release of the planes.

It has taken months in the past to get governmental approval for such orders, the American salesmen said, and some foreign orders written early this year are still unfilled.

Finns Arrest Officers Accused of Revolt Plot

HELSINKI, Finland, July 16 (AP)—An undisclosed number of military officers were arrested today in connection with a plot against the Finnish government, government sources said. The plot was revealed in parliament by the Communist minister of the interior, who said a group had planned an armed reactionary uprising.

WAR TOUGHER IF NAZIS WERE FASTER: EXPERTS

Began Underground Plants Too Late

BERLIN, July 16 (AP)—Allied and enemy officers are generally agreed that the war would have lasted longer and been much tougher if nazi Germany had started her underground aircraft and oil production program six to 10 months earlier.

American officials say the underground plants were virtually invulnerable and air assaults necessarily would have been directed against feeder factories, transportation, and storages of finished products. They assert that while the final outcome would have been the same, the air forces would have had considerably greater opposition and a more diversified task.

Two Types of Construction

Full details of the German underground system have not yet been released but two major types of construction have been shown to touring aviation writers.

The type previously described was a low cost, easily constructed semi-underground plant intended principally as an aircraft assembly unit.

A prime example of this was an installation at Muhldorf, near Munich, one of seven such projects, intended for the assembly of Messerschmitt 262s, a twin engine, jet propelled fighter which could be converted to bomber and reconnaissance use.

The other type is an underground factory blasted into the mountainside, such as that at Ebensee, Austria, near Salzburg, where petroleum now is produced for the allies. Next to the oil plant was a vast cave for ME-262 assembly.

A German official said the Berlin aircraft assembly plant had not been started.

Not Enough Slave Labor

He explained the major shortage was man power, and that only 8,000 slave laborers were available while 20,000 were needed.

The Ebensee plant started production last February. It is currently producing only 500 tons daily because of inability to get more crude oil. Peak capacity is rated at 300,000 tons annually which would make it the largest crude refinery in the reich.

The Ebensee area activities, as elsewhere, were uncovered by aerial reconnaissance but allied air forces deemed bombing unnecessary before the plants started producing.

FOREIGN NEWS UNIT OF OWI IS ABOLISHED WITH BUDGET SLASH

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—The office of war information has decided to abolish its foreign news bureau, which supplies the American press with news from foreign broadcasts, principally Japanese.

Neil Dalton, director of OWI domestic operations, said today the decision resulted from the recent action by congress in reducing the agency's appropriation. He estimated the step would save about $70,000 a year.

HINT PATTERSON CONSIDERED FOR SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., July 16 [Special]—War Undersecretary Patterson is under consideration for the vacancy on the Supreme court created by the resignation of Owen J. Roberts, one of the most influential figures in the Truman administration said today.

Patterson, 54, a major of the 306th infantry in World War I., is a Republican. He has been reported to President Truman an ideal choice because the appointment assertedly would solve the difficulty of choosing among numerous Democratic candidates.

Patterson was three times selected by the late President Roosevelt for important posts. A judge of the federal court of the southern New York district since 1930, he was picked by Mr. Roosevelt in March, 1939, for the 2d Circuit Court of Appeals. In July, 1940, he was appointed assistant secretary of war, and in December of 1940 was made undersecretary.

Patterson was born at Glens Falls, N. Y., and is a graduate of Union college and Harvard law school.

FEAR SUFFERING NEXT WINTER IN BREMERHAVEN

Military Is Short of Fuel, Labor and Housing

BY LARRY RUE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, July 16—Shortages of fuel, housing, and labor are the main problems confronting the military government at Bremerhaven and, unless some progress toward solution is made soon, the civilian population will suffer extreme hardships this winter.

"Fuel, I would say, is the main shortage, for it affects everything else," said Maj. Raymond Davis of Seattle, commanding officer of the military government.

"The fishing fleet is ready to go out, but can't because it has no fuel. The big trawlers require about 60 tons of fuel oil and return with 100 to 125 tons of fish, so ordinarily the fuel cost for a catch of this kind would be negligible."

Farms Need More Workers

Bremerhaven, the main port of supply for the American army of occupation, employs more German labor than any other place. German civilians unload ships, put cargo on trains, and transport it to its destinations thruout our zone of occupation. Tracks and bridges are being rebuilt.

Maj. Charles Lambe of Chicago works more than 300 Germans on around the clock shifts, seven days a week, dredging the harbor.

German labor has been imported, but there is still not enough to meet military needs and the shortage of farm labor is preventing the fullest exploitation of the rich dairy industry in this area. The haying season is in full blast. Women and children are engaged in cutting, loading, and stacking the hay.

Military Short of Coal

There is not enough coal to meet military needs, not to mention those of the civilian population, Davis added.

Capt. John Sager, who formerly was an engineer for the Minneapolis-St. Paul sanitary district, said that altho the general health of the civil population here is excellent, it could not be expected to remain so unless more fuel is provided for cooking purposes. The people here cook with gas but a weak flame for two hours daily is all they get.

The Ruhr, which American armies turned over to the British, is supplying little, if any, coal for this area.

Bremerhaven has a population, normally, of 110,000. It lost more than 50 per cent of its habitable houses thru bombing. Of those remaining the American army, port command, any navy have requisitioned a large percentage. It is estimated there are still 7,000 civilians who have no roof over their heads or are sleeping in garages or makeshift huts where there is no means of heating.

PIPE LINE LEAKS, BLACK MARKET GAS PRICE FALLS

LILLE, France, July 16 (AP)—A break developed near here over the weekend in the allies' pipe line across the English channel, and gasoline-starved motorists had a field day scooping up fuel that drained out. The black market price on gasoline dropped from $3.50 to $1 a gallon.

The underwater line, built from England to France about the time of the Saint Lo breakthru to service American and British air forces operating on the continent, developed a leak late Friday and gasoline flowed out onto the ground for more than 24 hours.

Frenchmen came from miles around, bearing buckets, dish pans and even sponges, and gathered up every drop possible. When the black market price dropped, allied military officials investigated on the ground that government property was being sold, and the sales ceased.

ARMY REPORTS RELEASING OF 900 DOCTORS

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—The army said today it has released about 900 medical officers since Jan. 1 in line with what it said was its policy "to return as many doctors to civilian practice as can be spared."

The statement followed complaints in congress that the army is delaying the release of doctors critically needed at home.

BRITAIN DENIES SECRET VICHY, LONDON PACT

Assails 'Distortions' by Petain Envoy

LONDON, July 16 [Reuters]—The British foreign office in a stiffly worded announcement tonight answered statements published in Canada by Louis Rougier, Marshal Petain's emissary to Britain in 1940, and described portions of Rougier's account as "distorted and wholly misleading." Petain is awaiting trial in France on charges of collaborating with the Nazis as head of the former Vichy government.

The foreign office said there was no basis for Rougier's claim of a secret agreement between London and Vichy or that there ever was a "gentlemen's agreement" confirmed by the Vichy government and Britain.

Cite 'Certain Misstatements'

A book published by Rougier in Canada was said by the foreign office to contain a wholly misleading interpretation of the policy of the British government in the 1940 negotiations with Vichy, as well as "certain serious misstatements of fact."

Tonight's foreign office statement said a note which Rougier claimed to have carried from London to Petain actually was addressed to Gen. Maxime Weygand, then Vichy high commissioner in French North Africa. The statement added:

"The photostat copy [of this note] in Rougier's book corresponds to the first page of the foreign office copy of this document, except for the deletion of the word 'Weygand' from the heading—no doubt in order to support the citation that the note was intended not as a guide for conversation with Gen. Weygand, but as a communication to Marshal Petain."

Brought No Proposals

The foreign office said Rougier, on leaving London, was advised to see Weygand in the hope that he might be induced to bring North Africa back into the war on the allied side. Rougier, the statement added, brought to London no proposals for an agreement with the Vichy government, and was never authorized to make any such proposals on behalf of the British government, either to Marshal Petain or to any other authority at Vichy.

The foreign office statement also dealt with Rougier's allegations that on Nov. 21, 1940, he received a telegram from the foreign office thru the British consul general at Geneva, implying that the British government regarded his note as constituting a geneltmen's agreement between it and Vichy. The statement said:

"Such a telegram was in fact dispatched to his majesty's consul general at Geneva, in order to comply with Monsieur Rougier's request that he should be informed on the outcome of the negotiations at Madrid which were still in progress at the time of his visit to London.

No Gentlemen's Agreement

"This telegram contains, however, nothing more than a summary of the course of the Madrid negotiations, had no connection with Monsieur Rougier's conversations in London, and bears no relation to the 'gentlemen's agreement' which, according to Rougier, was concluded thru his intermediary."

The foreign office announcement set out an English translation of what it called "the alleged 'protocol' drafted by Rougier in London as a basis for an agreement with Petain, copied from his book," and said that it bore no relation to any document in the archives of the foreign office, or approved by any British authority.

SOLDIERS' RIOTS LAID TO BRITISH SHOPS' CHEATING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TORONTO, Ont., July 16—One of the underlying causes of the recent riots by Canadian soldiers in Aldershot, England, was the fact that storekeepers there had consistently cheated men in the Canadian armed forces, several soldiers who have returned to Toronto said today.

"Ever since the Canadians went overseas," said Corp. Harry Hancock, "they had been cheated and chiseled by the shopkeepers who probably thought we were too timid to raise any stink. I think the food stores got exactly what they deserved, altho I think the boys should have gone a little easier on places like furniture stores."

Visiting Aldershot a few hours after the outbreaks, Lance Corp. Roy H. Ford found the town in "a hell of a mess." He added: "And when you consider that there were only about 30 boys in the riots you've got to give them credit for doing a damned good job."

PLANE TO FLY BOY, 5, 6,700 MI. TO U. S. FOR SURGERY TO SAVE LIFE

PORT ELIZABETH, Union of South Africa, July 16 (AP)—Weymouth Pedlar, 5, who breathes thru artificial throat tubes, will start from his King Williamstown home tomorrow on a 6,700 mile trip to the United States for an operation to save his life.

The child and his mother, Mrs. G. Pedlar, will board a plane here on Friday and go to New York by way of London. Dr. Chevalier Jackson will perform the operation in Philadelphia, Pa. A total of $9,264 was raised by the Eastern Province Herald of Port Elizabeth to finance the trip.

The boy had eight operations at Port Elizabeth last September to remove warts from his vocal chords but his larynx closed. In an emergency operation the tubes were then inserted, enabling him to breathe but leaving him speechless. Specialists believe the operation will enable him to breathe normally again.

FRANKFURT CITY OF NAZI RUBBISH AND YANK BRAID

BY DAVID DARRAH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

FRANKFURT-ON-MAIN, Germany, July 16—Brass and braid prevail in shattered Frankfurt, now the center of American military life in Europe. The town does not appear heavily damaged from the air, but that is because the walls of houses stand tho the interiors have been destroyed.

Germans here say that it will take at least 25 years to haul away the rubbish and reestablish the city's former standard of living.

The American headquarters in Frankfurt is in the office building of I. G. Farbenindustrie, recently taken over by Americans troops. The building looks like a miniature of the Pentagon building in Washington, D. C., and has much in common with it.

Strictly Formal

A strict check-up system operates for all headquarters visitors. The lieutenant who accompanied me was turned back because he was not wearing a necktie. Inside the building, WACs and officers and smartly dressed non-coms make up a busy beehive, with some German civilian labor also mixed in.

The building is surrounded by a pleasant garden and from its top floor commands a view of the whole city.

Riding thru the Frankfurt streets, one wonders how the women and children keep so well laundered and clean for thousands live in cellars and amid rubble.

Little to Buy

Here and in Wiesbaden, 25 miles distant where Gen. Bradley has his command post, most shops are closed. Only barbers, druggists and food stores are doing business. No one can buy clothing. For the Germans there are no movies or theaters. A few beer houses sell a weak brew.

The only Germans one sees are women, the very young and the elderly. The women wear thin dresses and go by on bicycles with most of their underpinning displayed. Sun bathing also is much practiced this summer and in an open field beside an aviation center near Frankfurt GIs see frauleins sprawled out in the grass in abbreviated bathing suits these sunny afternoons.

BELIEVE CHURCHILL'S PARTY WILL PILE UP ELECTION MAJORITY

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, July 16—Experienced political observers in Britain are being cautious about predicting the results of the general election of July 5. It is generally accepted that the Conservatives will win a majority of seats over any party in the house of commons, but most students of politics expect the Laborites to win 70 to 100 seats above the 163 they had in the coalition commons. The Conservatives held 358 seats under the coalition.

Just after the election the Conservatives declared they had won in a landslide, but after a few days they began to take a more careful view. Many Conservatives admit they expect Labor to show considerable gains.

The Laborites claim they garnered the bulk of the service vote; but this is difficult to determine. Many soldiers, sailors, and airmen—who in any case constitute only about 7 per cent of the total vote—failed to receive election papers. About all any one is willing to concede is that Prime Minister Churchill's party will return a majority of candidates.

FINDS RED FLAG FLIES IN 'POLISH HELD' POMERANIA

Russia Keeps Military and Police Authority

Poles stopped and their leader offered us a lift.

Like many Poles he could speak a little French and en route he gave us a piece of his mind about the Russians.

"Inefficient, lazy, undisciplined, barbarous," were only a few of the epithets he applied to them. We had not been going long when our truck broke down and the whole column was held up while the driver—a Russian tinkered with the truck.

"There you see what they are like," cried our Polish friend, pointing contemptuously at the perspiring chauffeur. "They cannot drive a car, they cannot repair a car." And this was a Red Pole speaking.

A similar spirit prevailed among Polish railroad officials in Starograd. They operate the only express train in northeastern Germany and they are justly proud of it. It runs daily from Starograd to Poznan in only six hours and it is punctual to the minute. It seemed almost like normal times to see Polish railroad men in their smart, dark blue uniforms and peaked caps passing efficiently along the station platform before the train started.

Arrived 2 Weeks Before

They had arrived only two weeks before, but they already had everything in working order. "The Russians have been here three months," they told us, "and they still haven't a single train running."

The Poles invited us to go with them to Poznan just to show us how well their train ran, but we had enough of the eastern arts. We were going west.

Everywhere in Pomerania we were welcomed by Poles whether "Red" or not with the greatest cordiality and helpfulness. And by no means all of them were "Red." While waiting for a pass at the Russian "kommandantur" in Greifenhagen-on-Oder we were invited to luncheon by a Polish cook. As he fried beefsteak for us and filled our glasses with wine or vodka, he poured the tale of his country's wrongs into our astonished ears, hurling accusations against his Russian bosses and affirming that he was only waiting for a chance to cut their throats.

"The only Polish government I recognize is the government in London," he cried so loudly that we trembled lest the Russians in their office just above the kitchen should hear him.

United States Prestige Great

American prestige is still great among the Poles of Pomerania. All of them, to whatever party they belonged, placed their hopes of Poland's salvation in some action of the United States at the peace conference. Whenever we met Polish officials, soldiers, or refugees they wanted us to assure them that the United States would insist on the establishment of a really free and independent Poland. In other words, protect them against Russian overlordship.

We received indirect confirmation of the Polish claim to intellectual superiority over the Russians from the Germans themselves. There is nothing the Germans in Pomerania and Silesia dread so much as to be governed by the Poles. The Germans explained frankly they had hopes of eventually getting on reasonably well with the Russians because they were fundamentally "easy going and indolent" but that the Poles, besides being their "natural enemies," were far more "revengeful and efficient."

Neighbor to Pay for Spanking Boy

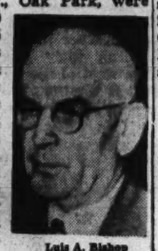
Damages of $200

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Whalen, 426 S. Maple av., Oak Park, were awarded $200 damages and $25 for doctor bills yesterday in a hearing before Justice of the Peace Hubert Lee Seev wherein Luis A. Bishop, 54, was charged with boxing the ears of 3 year old Robert Whalen Jr. so hard the child had to have one sewed back on his head.



Luis A. Bishop

Mrs. Whalen said she asked Bishop, who lives at 424 S. Maple av. in the suburb, if he would keep an eye on the child June 1, while she went to a store. She said she had been back about 10 minutes when the boy came in with a bloody ear. He'd dropped a coffee jar in the dreaway, and the glass had broken. Bishop grabbed him, pulled his ear, and spanked him, Mrs. Whalen said.

Bishop is Oak Park's greeter and makes a business of welcoming new residents to the suburb. Whalen Sr., is a supervisor at the Buick plant in Melrose Park.

CIRCUS CANCELS SOLDIERS' FIELD DATE IN DISPUTE

The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus will not appear in Chicago this year because it could not reach satisfactory terms with the park board for the rental of Soldiers' field parking lot, Dan DeBaugh, manager of the circus' Chicago office, said yesterday.

The circus was scheduled to appear Aug. 3 to 12 in Soldiers' field. The engagement has been canceled and the circus will go to Pittsburgh for those days, DeBaugh said. The circus sought a flat rate charge for the use of the park board's grounds, while the park board offered the same contract as last year. This called for a 10 per cent fee to the park board on all tickets sold.

DeBaugh said the circus' new board of directors, named after the disastrous fire in July, 1944, in Hartford, Conn., refused to sign the contract.

Suspend Sausage Dealer on Bogus Stamp Charge

David Petros, operator of a sausage store at 1456 Chicago av., was suspended from handling rationed meats yesterday on charges of using counterfeit ration stamps. Petros was named June 25 by the office of price administration as one of 27 food dealers accused of turning in ration deposit envelopes containing fake stamps. He was the first dealer in the Chicago area to be suspended.

SEEK PILOTLESS B-29; CREW OF 11 FORCED TO JUMP

Grand Rapids, Minn., July 16 (AP)—A huge B-29 which disappeared into the night after being abandoned at an altitude of 9,500 feet by its nearly asphyxiated crew of 11 men was hunted tonight from Minnesota to the Pacific coast.

Crewmen, all of whom were rescued from the woods of northern Minnesota and from a lake, said the bomber carried enough gasoline to fly it to the Pacific ocean. They doubted, tho, that its altitude would carry it over western mountains. When they last saw it, it was headed due west, controled by the automatic pilot.

Search continued in the northwestern Minnesota lakes and woods region, however, because it was thought possible that the ship exploded. It was filled with gasoline fumes when the crew bailed out about midnight Sunday.

7 Killed, 4 Missing in Crash

Alexandria, La., July 16 (AP)—Seven officers and enlisted men were killed and four were reported missing in a crew of a two engine bomber from Esler field which crashed Saturday in Texas, Esler field reported today. M'NUTT ON WAY TO PHILIPPINES; MISSION SECRET

HONOLULU, July 16 (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, war man power commissioner, is en route to the Philippines on a mission about which "I'd rather be quiet."

In a press interview he told reporters he felt he could help the Philippines because "I am one of the few men who has the confidence of and could talk to both sides."

He is not returning to his former post of high commissioner there, he explained, but intends to "look into" a request for 6,900 Filipino agricultural workers in the Hawaiian Islands and will see what he can do to lower the venereal disease rate—which he reported high—and improve Filipino living conditions. He said he is representing the President.

NORWAY FIGURES COST

LONDON, July 16 [Reuters]—The cost of the German occupation to Norway amounted to about $2,892,000,000, a report issued by the central statistical bureau in Norway said today.

. . . a long range VIEW

Based on 1942 figures, the ice cream industry has 25% less milk and cream with which to make ice cream. This is to increase the supply for vitally needed dairy products such as butter, cheese, evaporated milk and similar essential foods.

So, with increased demand and less supply, you naturally expect shortages of the good quality fine ice cream you like so well.

At Stineway's . . . we are not content to meet the demand at any cost. Ours, is a long range view. We consider it better business to say . . . now and then . . . we're a bit short, than to compromise quality to increase availability.

You may be sure that this summer, Stineway's have not all the ice cream they can sell to their customers. But you can be equally sure that the ice cream Stineway's do sell . . . is good, delicious, full-bodied, nutritious. Less, perhaps in quantity . . . but never less in quality.

PASTOR'S WIFE SLAIN AT HOTEL; SAILOR IS HELD

Woman's Nude Body Is Found in Alley

Miami, Fla., July 16 [Special]—The carousing career of a New England minister's wife ended here today when her nude body was found in an alley back of a downtown hotel where she went on her last drinking bout with a sailor less than half her age.

William Parker

The victim was Mrs. Ella Mae Glynn Eames, 42, estranged wife of the Rev. Owen W. Eames, pastor of the Church of the Unity at Brookline, Mass., and former pastor at Springfield, Mass. They had been married since 1925 and have two grown daughters and a son.

Fashionable Background

Mrs. Eames formerly was a WAC officer and Red Cross ambulance driver. During her years in Springfield she was active in civic affairs. She was a member of the fashionable Springfield Women's club and the swank Longmeadow country club and was a patroness of that city's Little Theater group.

She died after a beer bottle was crashed against her skull by William Wells Parker, 19, seaman 1st class of Toledo, O. Police said he confessed to his commanding officer that he struck her during a drinking spree.

Parker was quoted as saying he struck up an acquaintance with the woman in a bar and, after several drinks, they went to his hotel room about midnight.

They quarreled, he said, and Mrs. Eames struck him with a bottle. He retaliated by hitting her with another bottle. Several hours later, he recounted, he realized that she was not just intoxicated—she apparently was dead.

Drops Body Into Alley

In a clumsy attempt to dispose of the body, the seaman stripped off her clothes and dumped the body from a hotel fire escape into a blind alley 15 feet below. Then he reported back to duty, but this morning led police and shore patrolmen to the scene.

It was learned that Mrs. Eames came here last December for the purpose of establishing divorce residence. She had planned, it was said, to marry Warren M. Smith, 45, a civilian army employe, who is married but with whom she reportedly had been living. Police said Smith told them that Mrs. Eames had been drinking heavily for some time and that last night, after he had several drinks with her in a taproom, she had refused to return home with him.

Mrs. Eames was a graduate of Leslie college, Cambridge, and was an accomplished pianist.

The Rev. Mr. Eames was pastor of the Springfield Church of the Unity until he accepted an army chaplain's commission. Since placed on the inactive list, he accepted a charge in Brookline. He directed that the body of his wife be cremated and sent to Boston for burial.

NURSE ACCUSED OF KIDNAPING BACK IN CELL

Mrs. Mary McDowell, 26, former nurse who was arrested Sunday when found in a downtown tavern with a 17 month old boy whom she took from his home July 6, was released from County hospital yesterday and returned to women's quarters in the detective bureau. Mrs. McDowell collapsed Sunday following several hours of questioning by police.

She told authorities that she had paid $20 to Mrs. Velma Arnold, 21, of 1246 N. Bell av., dice girl mother of the baby, William, after the mother said Mrs. McDowell could keep the boy. Mrs. Arnold denied the woman's story and signed a complaint charging kidnaping. Deputy Chief of Detectives John Warren said last night that he had been told at the state's attorney's office that there was not a strong enough case for a kidnaping charge, and Mrs. McDowell probably will be charged with contributing to the dependency of a minor.

The baby was held at St. Vincent's orphanage pending the outcome of Mrs. McDowell's arraignment.

OPA FREES 6,000 1942 AUTOS FOR DEALER SALES

All rationing restrictions on new 1942 model passenger cars were removed yesterday by the office of price administration. It ruled rationing was no longer necessary because new cars soon will begin reaching the market. The action will permit dealers to clear their stocks of the 6,000 cars still unsold.

New tires were made available to A cardholders in certain circumstances, the office of price administration announced in Washington, D. C.

New tires may be purchased by A cardholders who move from one city to another as production shifts from one type of war goods to another and to civilian goods; by members of armed forces moving to a new point; by discharged veterans returning home or moving to another city to accept a job.

This is the first time since the beginning of tire rationing that A cardholders have been eligible to purchase new tires. As a condition, the purchaser must get a special gasoline ration to qualify.

COURT ANNULS MARRIAGE OVER BIRTH CONTROL

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—In an unprecedented decision, the British Court of Appeals today annulled a 13-year marriage as "unconsummated" on grounds that the husband insisted upon practicing birth control.

The decision was delivered by a three-man court—the highest in the land under the house of lords. It reversed a lower court verdict and annulled the marriage of Brenda Lee Cowen, 35, of Surrey, and Lawrence Gordon Cowen, 45. Both are members of the Church of England.

Mrs. Cowen's petition stated that during the first five years of their marriage, when they lived in Iran, they had avoided childbirth by mutual agreement, but that in 1937 she begged her husband to "live a normal married life" with her so she might have a child. He ignored her pleas, she stated. They separated in 1944.

"Children Chief Aim."

The Appeals court, in ruling for the wife held that the marriage had not been consummated, "owing to the wilful refusal of the husband, because he had artificially prevented the natural termination of intercourse."

Thus British legal precedent moved one step further by the high court's interpretation of the word "consummation."

In the famed matrimonial causes act of 1937 [popularly known as the A. P. Herbert act] parliament decided that "wilful refusal" to consummate marriage constitutes grounds for nullity.

Today's decision, the court said, was based on the "generally recognized truth that one of the chief ends of marriage is the procreation of children."

"Intolerable Injustice."

Lord Justice Du Parcq said:

"We are of the opinion that sexual intercourse can not be said to be complete when the husband deliberately discontinues the act or when he artificially prevents the natural termination. To hold otherwise would be to affirm that a marriage is consummated by an act so performed that one of the principal ends—if not the principal end—of marriage is frustrated.

"Further, we would point out that if the judgment of the divorce court were right, a wife who was ready and willing to consummate marriage in the fullest sense, but was refused intercourse in a manner which deprived her of the opportunity of bearing children, would be subject to an obvious and intolerable injustice."

500 VEGETABLE MARKETS CLOSE IN OPA PROTEST

New York, July 16 [Special]—Between 500 and 1,000 retail fruit and vegetable markets in Brooklyn and Queens closed today in protest against OPA price ceilings.

The department of markets said the number of closed shops was 500, fewer than one-fourth of those in the two boroughs, but the officials of the Associated Retail Food Merchants said the number was 1,000.

The retailers asserted that they were caught in a price squeeze between the wholesalers and the OPA ceilings which made it impossible for them to operate.

FOOD TO REMAIN SHORT UNTIL '46, CIVILIANS TOLD

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Anderson tonight declared that, on the basis of present indications, civilians will have to wait until 1946 for any material improvement in the domestic food situation.

"Because of the time it takes to produce food, not much relief from actual shortages can be expected during 1945," he said.

"The supply of food we have available to use at this time was fixed by what was done a year or more ago, just as what we do now will determine the food supply that will be on hand next year."

For the months ahead, he said, meats, food fats and vegetable oils, sugar, condensed and evaporated milk, and canned fruits and vegetables will continue in short supply. In addition rice and dried beans will get shorter. The only bright spots, he said, are milk, wheat, potatoes, and fresh vegetables.

"The total demand for meat will continue far above our supply," he said.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION
GENERAL ORDER 52
Effective 12:01 am, June 30, 1945

"No carrier shall reserve, assign or allocate seating or sleeping space on a passenger train more than 120 hours in advance of scheduled departure time of such train. No carrier shall issue a ticket for a reserved seat or sleeping space on a passenger train more than 120 hours in advance of scheduled departure of such train, except in the case of tickets for reservations made prior to the effective date of this Order which have not been picked up."

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION
GENERAL ORDER 53

"On and after 12 o'clock noon, July 15, 1945, no common carrier by railroad or sleeping car company shall operate or transport any railway car containing sleeping space or sleeping accommodations to a point of distance 450 miles or less from the point of origin of such car, such distance being measured by the shortest distance by railroad over which sleeping cars are operated between such points . . . Each common carrier by railroad shall forthwith cancel all reservations for space after 12 o'clock noon on July 15, 1945."

under the new Government rulings?

The Government has curtailed civilian travel by ordering the railroads not to make reservations on passenger trains more than five days in advance of departure and by banning sleeping car service on trips of 450 miles or less.

A lot of people are assuming that, with the European war over, the travel situation on trains should have eased up by now.

But they are finding out that it's harder than ever to get space. They're asking themselves, "Why?"

The reason is simply that the railroads are being called upon to repeat a job of moving over 3,000,000 soldiers. But this time it is to be done in 6 to 9 months whereas originally it took more than 2 years to move these men.

The railroads are still operating with the same number of passenger cars that they had when the war started. Building new passenger cars has not been permitted since Pearl Harbor.

Many Pullman cars have been converted into hospital cars, and, of course, more Pullmans and coaches than ever are being withdrawn from civilian service to use in the movement of men to the Pacific.

The great bulk of traffic for the Pacific funnels into 4 railroads to ports of embarkation in California. Santa Fe, with its improved facilities, is carrying a large part of this traffic.

Of course we like to accommodate our friends and make new acquaintances. But you, too, agree that the troops and materials needed to whip Japan must come first.

New cars are now on order. Santa Fe has enough new chair cars on order to seat 3186 people. 16 new lunch counter-diners are also on order. A substantial number of new sleeping cars will be placed in service on the Santa Fe as soon as War Production Board orders permit.

PAY ROLL OFFICE GETS EX-JUDGE'S PENSION FORFEIT

Report on Impeachment Inquiry Prepared

Washington, D. C., July 15 [Special]—Former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson's renunciation of his $10,000 annual pension in the midst of his investigation by a house subcommittee was relayed to government disbursement officers today by Rep. Sumners [D., Tex.] chairman of the judiciary committee.

Johnson, 72, resigned from the Pennsylvania middle District court bench last month while the subcommittee was questioning him about fee splitting in receivership cases in his court. On Saturday he waived his right to the full pay pension after declining to resume the witness stand in open hearings into his conduct.

The subcommittee, which is authorized to determine if Johnson should be impeached, is expected to begin its report on its year's inquiry to the full committee as soon as a stenographic report of its five day hearing here last week is completed.

Under Grand Jury Probe

An impeachment conviction now could only bar the elderly resigned judge from federal office forever, in addition to providing a public example. Altho impeachement by congress is a possibility despite his retirement, such proceedings never have been carried out against a retired judge.

Johnson also is being investigated by a federal grand jury at Scranton, Pa., but so far it has not disclosed any alleged misconduct on his part during the last three years, the period prosecutable under the statute of limitations.

M. H. Goldschein, special assistant attorney general assigned to both the grand jury and house inquiries, has observed that the accusations made against Johnson concerned matters that took place between 1934 and 1937, several years out of reach of prosecution under the three year statute of limitations.

Recovery Believed Doubtful

Possibility of recovering any of the fees allegedly kicked back to the court or illegally split with others was considered remote.

The grand jury on June 13 released an indictment naming five persons, including Johnson's son, Albert W. Johnson. Defendants, in addition to the judge's son, who is district attorney of Snyder county, are Atty. Harry S. Knight of Sunbury, secretary of the American Bar association since 1936; Atty. George L. Fenner Sr., of Wilkes-Barre; Homer Davis, secretary-treasurer of the Maxi Manufacturing Co., of Catawissa, Pa., and Robert Michael, president of the Abington Wood Products Corp., of Clarks Summit, Pa.

All but Judge Johnson's son were named by the jurist to various positions in the reorganization after bankruptcy of the Central Forging company of Catawissa, a proceedings exclusively under the federal jurist's control.

The grand jury charged that the five manipulated funds of the company, misappropriated them to their own use, and unlawfully split the company's money among themselves.

The grand jury, which has been investigating frauds against the government in Johnson's court district for more than a year, also returned indictments against four other persons. They are Atty. John Memolo, convicted recently in Scranton in connection with fee splits on receivership cases, and Joseph M. Harris, Harry Dickstein, and Samuel Dickstein, partners in the Anthracite Overall company of Scranton, indicted for evasion of income tax payments.

5,600 Illinois Miners Idle in Strike for More Food

Springfield, Ill., July 16 (AP)—The number of Illinois coal miners reported striking for more meat rose today to 5,600 while the office of price administration sought war food administration approval to give extra rations to the diggers.

About 3,000 AFL Progressive mine workers at Gillespie, Mount Olive, and Benld struck last week in protest against the meat shortage. Today 2,600 others joined them. These included 2,100 Progressives at five mines near Belleville, O'Fallon, Collinsville, and Springfield, and 500 United Mine Workers at Tovey, in the Christian county Peabody field which employs 2,200.

Carter Jenkins Hopeful

Director Carter Jenkins of the Springfield OPA district of 62 lower Illinois counties expressed hope the WFA would consent to extra rations before Aug. 1.

If the WFA agrees, the OPA will permit issuance of 50 extra red points and a pound of sugar to each miner, Jenkins said. This plan has been in experimental operation in Denver and San Francisco OPA regions since July 1, he added.

Union and company officials said the miners were refusing to resume work until they got more red points and more meat, particularly for their lunch bucket meals underground. The men contend most surface workers can get meat without points at restaurants.

Predicts Strike Spread

President John Marchiando of the Progressives predicted the strike would spread if more meat is not made available immediately.

WFA and OPA spokesmen in Chicago said they were not informed of the plan outlined by Jenkins. Jenkins said it was announced June 30 by OPA Administrator Bowles and was based on a report made by the national research council at the request of the WFA.

Feed Harvest Hands

Topeka, Kas., July 16 (AP)—Husky harvest hands went to bed hungry a night or two, but now western Kansas restaurants have sufficient points to serve up the customary heaping platters of steak and potatoes. Thus a threat that much of the grain in that area might go uncut was averted. State Rep. Clair Curry protested to Gov. Andrew Schoeppel today that for want of ration points the restaurants could serve no more food and that harvesting crews were passing out of the area. OPA officials acted quickly to increase food allotments. Curry told the governor he had talked with 15 men who went to bed last night without supper, but said tonight some of his own harvest hands reported they had eaten big dinners in Tribune and in Horace, where restaurants for a time were closed.

July 16, 1945.

DDT, the powerful new insecticide, will be used in several experimental tests on the Wheaton farm this season. The herdsman already has used this chemical for destroying flies in the dairy barn, so the men know its almost magical power as an insecticide. This season the gardener will use DDT against cabbage worms.

The herdsman also is gathering information for spraying DDT directly on pastured cattle to destroy flies and other insects. In addition, there is a possibility that the chemical will be used for spraying the lawn, trees, and shrubs around one of the farm homes as protection against mosquitoes.

Much Is Unknown

There is much to be learned about DDT, especially about its effect on plant foliage, animal skins, and beneficial insects. The point that is certain is that it kills most insects more effectively than any other chemical ever developed.

Last July the herdsman mixed one pound of DDT [Neocid A-20 formula] in 25 gallons of water, and sprayed the mixture on the inside walls of the dairy barn. For the rest of the summer, any fly which touched one of the sprayed walls was paralyzed and killed. This same application will be made in the dairy in the next few days, because flies reduce milk production.

J. Lyell Clarke, sanitary engineer of the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district, has been using DDT sprays on turf in mosquito control tests. He reports that mosquitoes alighting on these test lawns were killed as long as eight months after the chemical was applied.

Fog Kills Mosquitoes

In Jones Beach, N. Y., a DDT mist spray was applied over a public beach to protect bathers from mosquitoes and flies. An artificial fog 15 feet high was produced over a four mile length of beach. The DDT content of the fog killed mosquitoes in five minutes and flies in 30 minutes.

In the farm vegetable garden, the men will mark a 250 foot row of cabbages into four divisions, and use separate sprays and dusts in each of the four sections to test their effectiveness against cabbage worms.

One-fourth of the plants will be sprayed with arsenate of lead in the first half of the growing season and with rotenone after the heads start to form. The second part of the row will be sprayed with a 40 per cent DDT spray mixture, and the adjacent section will be treated with a 3 per cent DDT dust. Sabadilla, another new insecticide, will be used in the fourth section of the row.

★ The GARDEN ★

NORTHERN Illinois gardeners are at the deadline period for planting bush snap beans, Chinese cabbage, and cauliflower. July 18 to 20 is an excellent planting time for these three vegetables planted from seed for late summer and early fall harvest.

If the topsoil is dry, it is advisable to hoe a three to four inch planting furrow and water this depression thoroly before seeding. Some of the topsoil should be returned to the furrow after moistening.

No mulch is necessary for the large bean seeds, but peat moss should be placed over the planted rows of Chinese cabbage and cauliflower to guard against packing of the topsoil. The small seeds will germinate readily thru the peat moss, but during hot midsummer periods germination is reduced if the seedlings must force their way thru a heavy covering of soil.

2 MORE SHIPS RETURN TO U. S. WITH 2,375 GIs

New York, July 16 (AP)—Two ships, the United States army transport Torrens and the freighter Thaddeus Koscluszko, arrived today from Europe with 2,375 troops for reassignment.

The Torrens, a former Norwegian ship making its first Atlantic crossing since the beginning of the war, carried 2,001 men, members of the 214th field artillery group, 209th field artillery, 425th field artillery, 9th air force, 1st tactical air force, 4288th railhead company, 474th ordnance evacuation company and the 8th infantry division.

Aboard the freighter which carried 374 men were members of the 3052d quartermaster salvage collecting company, the 6837th, 6838th, 6839th, 6840th, 6841st, 6842d, and 6843d quartermaster detachments.

Chicagoan Returns

Among the men aboard the Torrens was Sgt. Harry Dorsen of 1328 Fletcher st., Chicago, Ill., who wore the Presidential citation for precision bombing over Schweinfurt.

Arriving at Boston were the 35th chemical decontamination company, 3,277th ordnance base depot company [detachment], and the following units of 5th division: Headquarters and headquarters battery, 19th field artillery battalion, 46th field artillery battalion and 21st field artillery battalion, and the 50th field artillery battalion.

Those arriving at Hampton Roads, Va., included members of 2837th distributing company, 3454th ordnance motor maintenance company, headquarters company and headquarters battery of the 87th division of artillery and the 334th, 336th, 912th, 541st, and 807th field artillery battalions.

Businessmen Sail

More than 300 persons, said by the war shipping administration to be the largest civilian group to leave the United States for Europe since V-E day, sailed today for England aboard the S. S. John Ericsson.

The John Ericsson, the former Swedish liner Kungsholm, now is operated by the United States lines as agent for the war shipping administration, which is the owner. It was acquired by the government in December, 1941 for "just compensation," under the right of angary, which allows a belligerent to seize, use or destroy property of neutrals.

Night Temperatures

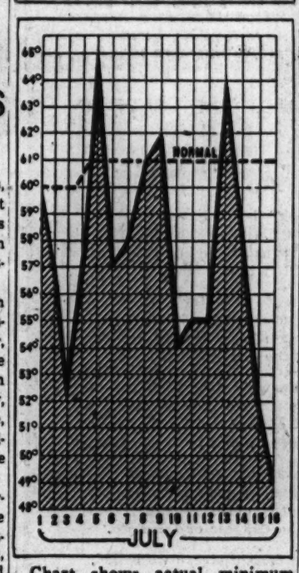

Chart shows actual minimum and normal minimum night temperatures for July.

Illinois farmers were heartened by the forecast of "warmer" for today because their field corn, sweet corn, and tomatoes are desperately in need of warmer growing temperatures.

The Chicago weather bureau forecast a high of 85 degrees for this afternoon, with a low of 63 tonight. O. T. Lay, in charge of the Chicago office, expects the thermometer to remain near July normals in the next few days but there is a prospect of showers for tomorrow afternoon.

Yesterday's temperature of 49.4 degrees at 5:15 a. m. was the lowest July recording in the history of the Chicago weather bureau, breaking the mark of 49.8 of July 9, 1895.

Illinois farmers, knowing the truth of the old saying that "corn grows at night," hope the forecast for warmer nights materializes. So far this month, the night temperatures have averaged 4 degrees below normal.

FIRST IN WAR

A survey of the native states of the nation's outstanding heroes and military leaders shows the middle west far out in front. The record is so striking as to provide a conclusive demonstration that the people of this region are deserving of the honor from their countrymen of being called "first in war," as they also were first in the instincts of peace when the eastern seaboard was leading the agitation to put us into the war.

Of more than 450 admirals, generals, aces, and winners of the medal of honor, 57 per cent were born in the middle west or west, altho this area has less than 47 per cent of the population. The middle western states provided 136 of these men who have won renown, or almost a third of the total, altho the region consists of only 10 of the 48 states.

Of 156 winners of the congressional medal, 51, or nearly a third, were from the middle west. The midwest produced the largest number of army generals to direct our successful fighting, and, altho far from the oceans which might be expected to inculcate interest in a seafaring career, it supplied only two fewer admirals or marine generals than the east, and three more than the west.

Geographically, western Pennsylvania is part of the midwest, altho for the purposes of the survey it was not so counted; accordingly the middle west may also properly take credit for some of the nine honor medal men, five generals, and five admirals who, as Pennsylvanians, were counted among the easterners.

The fact that the middle west so far outstripped all other sections of the country in number of men to win distinction is all the more remarkable in that there is no preponderance of population in the 10 midland states. Our 39 million people is exactly the same as the population of the 10 eastern states and District of Columbia. The difference is not in numbers but in spirit.

That this is so is easily demonstrated by a comparison of the record of Illinois, with 7,897,000 population, and that of New York, the largest state in the Union, with 13½ million inhabitants. The war drums were beaten nowhere louder than in New York before Pearl Harbor. Afterward the story was a little different.

New York produced seven winners of the congressional medal; Illinois, 10. New York produced two generals; Illinois, four army generals and one general of marines. New York produced two admirals; Illinois, three. Only in air aces had New York an edge in distinction, and there by the margin of 10 to seven.

We think that it would be well for the Atlantic seaboard to keep this record in mind the next time some easterner is tempted to start bleating about "isolation" and the middle west. It is true that we aren't eager out here to make wars, as the east is every time Britain gets in a jam. We may not have wrung our hands quite as strenuously as the eastern bleeding-hearts when Russia was backed clear up to the Volga. But when the United States was endangered by a mad and presumptuous attack, the middle west, as usual, was right up in the front, a shield to the Republic and a sword striking its enemies down.

FREE RATION POINTS FOR EUROPE

You can walk into a Chicago store with export facilities and buy sugar, canned meat and other rationed products, point free—providing you send them to Europe. If you were to buy the same articles for a poor neighbor in the United States, however, you would have to surrender ration points.

There is nothing in these regulations set up by the America Last boys in Washington to prevent European black market operators from buying, thru American agents, scarce foods allocated for use by Americans. By the same crooked logic by which the OPA always manages to make the American citizen the goat, he has to surrender ration stamps at the border if he goes into Mexico or Canada and purchases commodities rationed in this country.

The United States has not been insensible to the needs of residents of liberated and allied countries. We are shipping to them, thru lend-lease and UNRRA, vast quantities of American food. If individual Americans wish to make additional gifts of food to friends or relatives abroad, supplementing the bounty that the latter may be receiving at the expense of American taxpayers, no one would object.

But any such gifts should be at the expense of the givers, and not at that of other Americans seeking to feed their families on increasingly inadequate allowances of rationed foods. The OPA should either require that shippers of gift packages surrender ration points for the contents, or openly confess that it is a party to a conspiracy to starve America for the benefit of Europe.

FRIEND OF THE TRAVELER

It is good to know that the North Western railroad is planning improvements to be undertaken after the war in the Chicago station. Most important among them is an escalator. When the suggestion was first offered in these columns, a good many years ago, the railroad agreed it was a fine idea, but . . . Now they say it is a fine idea, and . . .

The change is all to the good. It results, no doubt, in large part from the improved financial position of the railroad, but the prospects of sharper competition with the air lines and the family car after the war have probably been taken into consideration also. The same influences can be expected to result in the introduction of many more streamliners in intercity service and also in marked improvements in suburban accommodations. A great many people who formerly drove to the city in their automobiles now use the trains. The railroads can hold this business after gas rationing ends only if they give their suburban customers a quality of service far better than they have ever enjoyed. That means faster, more frequent, and more comfortable trains, and terminals.

The escalators will prove of great value in this connection. They are needed, also, in the La Salle Street station, which is even older than the North Western terminal and has undergone very little improvement since it was built. There is need for escalators leading to the waiting room of the Illinois Central terminal at Roosevelt road, but that building is so old and was so poorly designed in the first place ["You have to go in to go out and go up to go down," as Louis Sullivan once observed] that it ought to be replaced at the first opportunity.

THE KAMIKAZE CORPS FINDS SOME ALLIES

Repair work has stopped on nine battle damaged warships in San Francisco bay shipyards because the unions consider the war between the United States and Japan secondary to the war between the AFL and CIO. The AFL men stopped work on the warships because, they say, all work in the yards is under AFL jurisdiction, but contractors have been permitting CIO members to cut in on their preserve.

This ought to be the best news Tokyo has had in quite a while. Suicide pilots of the kamikaze corps probably were sacrificed to put the ships out of action, but it doesn't cost the Japs a thing to keep them out of action. Just leave that to their allies in the two patriotic unions which not so long ago gave a no-strike pledge.

The strike in the repair yards, coming at a time when the navy is engaged in a recruiting campaign and practically begging for 16,000 sorely needed additional workers to help repair vessels in west coast yards, verges upon mutiny. It isn't as if there wasn't plenty of work to go around, no matter what sort of union card the workers carry. There is so much work that the navy is thousands short of the work force needed to restore all these ships to duty, and thi work is not of a few weeks' duration, but will go on at least one and perhaps five years after the war.

The soldiers, sailors, and marines who gave their lives at Okinawa to keep this country free died in open combat against a declared enemy. Their companions who survived to carry on the fight are left with the bitter knowledge that there is also an enemy at their back. The shipyards strikers are more effective enemies of this Republic than the Japanese sailors.

SHORTY SCHROEDER

A little more than a quarter of a century after the event, Maj. R. W. Schroeder of Chicago has been presented with the distinguished flying cross in recognition of the pioneer experiments, carried out at the cost of his health and very nearly of his life as well, which made possible many of the exploits of American flyers in this war. The medal, awarded by a special act of congress proposed by Rep. Church of Illinois, was for the test flights at Dayton, O., in 1920 which established the practicability of the turbo-supercharger for aviation motors.

The supercharger, which enables motors to "breathe" at high altitudes by compressing the rarefied atmosphere, had been developed during the first World war, but was virtually discarded by the army until Maj. Schroeder, then chief test pilot for the army at McCook field, and a group of officers and civilian engineers carried out the experiments which proved its value.

In the climactic test of the series, on Feb. 27, 1920, Maj. Schroeder flew a supercharged plane to 38,180 feet, the altitude record for airplanes at the time. It was the first flight into the stratosphere. There were no schools or laboratories of aviation medicine 25 years ago. Maj. Schroeder's oxygen supply failed, he "blacked out" at the high altitude, and revived barely in time to land his plane. His eyeballs were frozen, and that and other injuries suffered in the flight resulted in his being hospitalized for months and eventually in his discharge from the army for physical disability.

His flight proved the worth of the supercharger, and his experience at high altitude led to improvement in pilots' equipment that made subsequent flights into the stratosphere less dangerous. After a fruitful career in civilian aviation, Maj. Schroeder was forced by illness to retire four years ago, but from his home near the naval air station at Glenview he can see the air cadets taking off on flights made possible before they were born by his hazardous tests.

Editorial of the Day

THE SOVIET EXAMPLE

[Washington Evening Star]

The Russians celebrated the defeat of Germany with a great victory parade in Moscow. Standing beside Marshal Stalin in the reviewing stand, Marshal Zhukov said: "After four years of savage battles we have entered a period of peaceful development. The soviet state has emerged even more mighty from the grim struggle we waged, and the Red army the most modern and powerful army in the world." Then he added this note of warning: "But for us it is unseemly to become conceited or complacent. In the future, too, we must strengthen the economic might of our country, unceasingly perfect our military skill, study the abundant experience of the fatherland-war, and develop our military science."

Obviously, the Russians are not among those who believe that weakness points the way to peace. For the present, at least, they are going to look to their own security, and it behooves us to do likewise.

Before it went to the distiller.

BY THE MARSH

The moon shines mistily over the marsh,
Illuming wide water with silvery light;
One whippoorwill wails its plaint to the night,
From the whispering willows that bend to the squills.

Why does the mist seem a wraith that is lost?
Why is the moon far away and apart?
Why does the whippoorwill's call stir the heart?
Why does the water hold mystery that chills?

Waiting, I hear from the willows that bend,
From sad whippoorwill, from the mist, and the moon,
Magical melodies blended in tune,

PAST PERFECT

According to reports I've heard
I must have been a lovely child;
Even-tempered, lovable,
Intelligent and mild.

I'd never said a naughty word,
I thought 'twould be a sin to.
I must have been a lovely child,
But, gosh, what I grew into! Dot

THIS TRIP NECESSARY?

Observant thinkers often say
That poets rave from March to May—
We feel our weirdest urge to sing
Some time in spring.

But all insurance records teach
That suicide statistics reach
Their highest curve around July—
That's when we die.

So, if the column's backlog verse
Is growing noticeably scarce,*
The calendar will tell you why—
This is July.

More poets will arrive next year,
But I, of course, will not be here;
My prussic acid pills are strong—
So long, so I—. Jinks

*[Memo to Charon, Ferry House, Styx. Please ask Mr. Jinks if he didn't mean scurce.—Ed.]

We'd give a red point or a rose

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

R. J. M. writes: "I have been discharged with a 50 per cent disability. Before entering the army I completed one year pre-medical school. I now have been advised to abandon a medical career for dentistry. Would it be possible for me to obtain a complete education at government expense? I was in service for 11 months."

Whether you can obtain a complete education depends on the decision of the vocational education director of the veterans administration. Perhaps, under the vocational education section of Public Law 16, you can because it would be useless to start you on a dental education and then abandon you before you are able to make a living. You should consult the vocational education director at Hines, Ill., and request education under Public 16. If you seek education under Public 346, the so-called GI bill of rights, you will be entitled to only 1 year and 11 months of education. Educational benefits may be obtained by veterans under one or the other law, but not under both.

Mrs. J. W. writes: "My daughter is a private in the marine corps reserve. When she enlisted she received a clothing allowance of $200. She now says she has to pay for all her clothing. Is this true? I always had supposed clothing was given gratis to enlisted personnel."

In addition to the $200 initial clothing allowance given to women in the marine corps reserve they receive $50 a year, paid in quarterly installments. They receive the yearly allowance in cash and must pay for their clothing.

A LOST EXTREMITY MAY NOT MEAN INCAPACITY

WARS and amputations are close relatives. But current statistics show that our medical officers today are doing everything in their power to save limbs. Of the 243,897 casualties in World War I. there were 4,403 amputations. This can be compared with 6,693 among the 946,872 casualties in the present conflict, according to our latest figures.

To fully appreciate this accomplishment, we must realize that our weapons are far more destructive than ever. The rule is not to resort to amputation unless life is endangered or when it is certain that the usefulness of the extremity is out of the question.

Let us assume that the operation has been performed on the leg and that the scar has healed. Four to six weeks must elapse for adequate shrinkage to take place. In some cases a temporary prosthesis [artificial replacement] is made and the victim walks about until the tissues become accustomed to their new duties. With others a permanent limb can be obtained early in the game.

A perfect fit is necessary; otherwise boils, abscesses, swelling, or ulcer may develop. Should any of these complications appear, refitting or the application of suitable pads will be demanded. The foot part is made of soft material so that it will absorb the shock and make walking quiet.

When a hand or arm has been severed the problem is not as formidable but it offers other difficulties, particularly if it is on the dominant side. At best it can be considered a poor substitute for the normal member but it is surprising what can be done once the technique is mastered. Some prefer a type of hook at the end; others desire an artificial hand. These appliances can be opened and closed by means of a device which is attached to the opposite shoulder or directly to the muscles by small spigots. In this manner an object can be held in place, and manipulated with the good hand for finer work.

These boys are taught the routine pursuits of life, including personal hygiene. The hand amputee learns to feed himself, tie his shoes, dress and undress, lock and unlock a door, write, use a telephone, and drive a car. Those who have lost a leg must also drive an automobile, ride a horse, stand, bowl, swim, and engage in sports as well as climb platforms and descend stairs. Having successfully achieved these activities, they are trained in numerous jobs, not necessarily confined to office work. Additional schooling is valuable because it opens up many more fields not requiring the use of either limb.

The psychologic aspect of one so afflicted is great. The victim is concerned not only about the future but how his family and friends will take his disability. This is one of the reasons why training centers have been established in various parts of the country. Morale is boosted when the victim is able to see others, similarly afflicted, who get about with ease and minimum incapacity.

As one lad said, "I did not lose it; I gave it." This exemplifies their spirit. They gave part of themselves for us and, as a result, they deserve our full help and cooperation.

HEART MUSCLE DISORDER

G. S. writes: What is myocarditis?

REPLY

Inflammation of the heart muscle due to rheumatic fever or blood stream infection. The term "chronic myocarditis" is often used erroneously to denote cardiac trouble in the aged.

CUCUMBERS

Mrs. W. writes: I like cucumbers and eat lots of them. Is this harmful?

REPLY

SEVERAL USES

W. E. writes: What is snake venom given for?

REPLY

TRY AGAIN

M. M. writes: Kindly advise if putting blotters inside the shoes would cause a person to faint. I have heard that this trick is used in the army by goldbrickers.

REPLY

No. When I was in service the men had much more effective plans than this.

Tomorrow's Meal: Cement

Life in Japan seems no picnic right now. A friend on Guam has passed on the text of a radio talk on food broadcast to the Japs by the Japs on our Fourth of July. The speaker told his countrymen the food situation was becoming grave "with absolutely no cause for optimism in the future." The government, he said, "is now carrying on concrete research to help matters." This is said to be a sure way to fill the stomach permanently.

Japanese officials are extraordinary flagellants. The speaker began by saying: "The fact that staple food will be cut down 10 per cent was announced yesterday." He then explained that Hon. Ishiguro, minister of agriculture and commerce, has said that he "sincerely felt responsible for the situation having come to this pass and will devote his whole efforts to improving the situation in the future." It is highly probable that he then committed hara-kiri.

The speaker told the Japs he suspected them of "wasting their livelihood" instead of stabilizing it.

"For an example," he said, "even the heads and bones of fish, or the leaves of withered vegetables, can be made into an excellent food by roasting the bones and heads and grinding them into powder, or making the leaves of withered vegetables into dehydrated vegetables."

One must assume that something has happened to the Japanese rice paddies, for the speaker made great to-do of saying staple food need not be rice or grain. Potato vines, mulberry leaves, and starch "refuse" can be delightfully edible, he urged, when ground into powder.

The portion which most interested this devotee of the kitchen stove was his description of new cooking methods for corn and soybeans evolved in the government laboratories. As far as we can see, the principle behind the new methods is to force the grain to swell, thereby filling cavities.

"The corn now being distributed," he said, "consists mainly of Manchukuo produced corn. This corn has more fat and calories than rice. However, this corn is hard to digest, so the ideal way is to take it in powder form rather than in the original grain form. If consumed in powder form, the corn will swell in volume more.

"As for cooking, it is advisable to bake it into bread. To make corn bread, soak the necessary amount of corn in water for 12 to 13 hours. When it grows sodden, crush it. . . .

"The crushed corn should be molded into croquette shape and seasoned with salt. The ground corn can be fried in oil in a frying pan or toasted as it is on a grid. If you put bean flour on it when you eat it, the taste will improve.

"Three ordinary size croquette corn cakes will fully satisfy your appetite, and this corn cake is high in nutrition. Even tho you eat nothing but corn cakes three meals a day, your health will not be impaired and the distributed amount should be sufficient for that purpose.

"If you want to cook corn with rice, you should boil it for two hours after soaking and then cook it in water with rice. The volume of corn will grow, too. [See?]"

The other recipe was for soybeans, which, he said, are commonly cooked with rice. From now on, he said brightly, forget the rice. Soybeans are much more nutritious cooked alone. Parch, soak three hours, then cook. "This will soften the hard core, increase the volume [again!], and be palatable to the aged as well as to the children."

Then, contradicting himself in the space of one minute, he said the best method is to soak them in water for about four hours and then toast them on a bean grid over a strong fire. "This will increase the volume [!] as well as the nutritive value. Also, the soy beans will be very soft and very tasty."

What Japan apparently needs in its bitter hour is our Mary Meade. She could tell them about dried apples. These are chewed and swallowed. The consumer then drinks much water. He does not want another bite for days. An even easier method of filling the stomach, we are told, is to shrink it.

OPA CONTRIBUTES TO ADULT DELINQUENCY

Chicago, July 12—I buy my food in the black market. I buy meat and butter or oleomargarine on the black market. Why? Our local OPA offices forced me into it while they publicly proclaim the evils of the black market. Three months ago I lost my ration book. I went to the ration board at 62d st. and Cottage Grove av. and reported the loss. I have spent over a dollar calling Mr. Riley and he is never in his office—or so I am told. It cost me money for telephone calls and street car fares trying to get my ration book. All I hear is, "We will check on it and let you know in a few days."

I accuse the Chicago office of the OPA of forcing me into the black market by three months of inaction on their part in refusing to issue me a ration book.

I buy on the black market. Can I be arrested for wanting to eat? Let the OPA answer that.

THEY MADE ME A CRIMINAL

MAKING SLUMS

Chicago, July 12—In today's Tribune I saw that some of our aldermen have indorsed curb collection of garbage.

I would suggest that when this ordinance is enacted, that all property owners who live in residential districts with nice parkway lawns, instead of them carrying the garbage thru the parlor to garbage cans on the front parkway, move the parlor where the kitchen now is and move the kitchen to the front, so the garbage can be taken from the kitchen direct to garbage cans. And on an evening let them sit on the porch facing the alley so that they will not be looking at all the garbage cans on the parkways. Some representatives, talking about slum clearance and now trying to make slums out of residential districts! What are the alleys for? Have them cleaned, that's the aldermen's jobs.

THE PASVOLSKY CHARTER

Chicago, June 12—Would you please tell Americans why a Russian born citizen had to write the San Francisco Charter, when we Americans saved Russia, England, and the rest of the European countries? We paid with money and American boys, but when there is anything as important as a peace conference, a Russian, not an American, must write the treaty. To suit the Communist party, we will soon be in the same boat as Poland, with no freedom of speech or press. We are silly to let Russia and England run America. We did well for years without them, and will again if our politics are clean and we have only born Americans to make our laws. S. AMES

GONE TO SPAIN

Tecolotenos, N. M., July 12—A recent newspaper headline ran as follows: "60,000 Tons of Sugar Allocated to Spain by U. S."

Ma's fruit raised for canning
Was raised all in vain—
Thru government planning,
Her sugar's in Spain!

JAP SURRENDER

CIVIL SERVICE WAGES

Waukegan, Ill., July 11—How about correcting your misleading statement in this morning's editorial about the wonderful salary increases the civil service people have been getting?

Regular promotion in the civil service ranged from $60 every 18 months to $200 per annum every 30 months up until the time of passage of this bill. In other words, unless a man got a better job for the same boss he got a lousy $5 a month raise on average every 18 months, provided his record was good or better. Some civil service people haven't had a raise since 1920 except for perhaps an additional $5 to $99 per year under the Welsh act of about 1933.

If a man goes to work for The Tribune as office boy and winds up as president of the corporation are you going to take the position that he has had a 1,000 per cent increase in salary? It is merely a question of graduating to a better job at a higher salary. During the war when there was large expansion it was inevitable that people in civil service would have opportunity to get better jobs, but it was not in any sense a salary increase nor was it a promotion in the ordinary sense.

For instance, if a man took a job as messenger in 1934 during the depression at $900 per annum, because he could not get a job as purchasing agent, which was his profession, is it an evidence of squandering the public moneys that he was given a job as purchasing agent at $200 a month in 1943 when the government needed purchasing agents? Are you going to say that he got a 275 per cent pay raise while the little steel formula allowed only 15 per cent?

No wages on earth have increased less than 2½ per cent per annum in the last 10 years except in jail and the government service. MILDRED VANDERPTL

IS RAPE TRIVIAL?

Oak Park, Ill., July 13—I have never before written a letter to a newspaper. However, I really have a grouch. So those three hoodlums who raped the WAC got off with one to three years? I wonder if the jury which passed this sentence stopped to think what the penalty is for a service man overseas who commits a similar crime? I believe the penalty in some instances is execution. Am I too hard-hearted in being of the opinion that these thugs should have received a sentence of 10 to 20 years at least? W. R. N.

DIG A DEEP HOLE

SERVING A SUMMONS

Springfield, Ill., June 14—I have an open account which the debtor refuses to pay. I am unable to locate him definitely. 1. Must a summons be served on him personally? 2. Can a summons be put under the door at a residence where the debtor may be for a day or a week?

A. H.

1. Yes, unless you can reach his assets.
2. In general, no.

SHIRT POCKET RADIO READY FOR GO SIGNAL

Production Awaits End of War Bans

BY LARRY WOLTERS

The "shirt pocket" radio, not much bigger than a cigaret case, is ready for production. The tiny set, weighing 12 ounces with self-contained batteries, employs four tubes, each a little more than an inch long. The speaker is an ear piece of the hearing aid type. The aerial is in the cord leading to the earpiece. Hearing aid type batteries are used. Over-all dimensions of the set are 5 by 2¾ by ⅞ inches.

The set will receive standard stations. It is expected to sell for about what personal radios did before the war. It can be operated without disturbance to other persons on the street, in buses, or in the quiet of a club. The Sentinel Radio corporation of Evanston, which developed the set, expects to put it into production as soon as war time restrictions affecting the manufacture of radios for civilians are removed.

Eloise Keeler, who conducts the World of Tomorrow over FM station WGNB at 9:30 p. m. Tuesdays, will introduce as guest speaker tonight Pierre Blouke, architect and city planner, who will discuss "Rebuilding Europe." The World of Tomorrow is one feature of WGNB's regular Tuesday evening.

The "share your FM" period runs from 8 to 11 p. m. for group listening. The main item of these three hours is the regular concert of the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra, directed by Henry Weber, from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The story of the United States marines and their part in regaining territory from the Japanese from Tarawa to Okinawa will be told by Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith on the opening broadcast of the Navy hour over WMAQ at 8 tonight. There will be pickups from somewhere in the Pacific. Lt. Robert Taylor, master of ceremonies, will appear in a dramatic sketch with Louis Calhern, movie and stage actor.

DISCIPLINE ONE MAN; 150 WIRE MAKERS STRIKE

One hundred fifty employes of the Republic Steel company's wire mill at 118th st. and Burley av., struck yesterday when Dave Glascoff, 34, a wire drawer, was laid off for three days because he had taken an authorized two week vacation, after accepting vacation pay with the understanding he would stay on the job.

Plant representatives of local 1033 of the Steelworkers of America union [CIO] led workers from the mill after protesting the company had disciplined Glascoff without consulting them. Later Sam Taylor, international union representative, notified the company that the strikers would return if the three day layoff period was reduced to one day, but the company declined to alter its decision.

The strike stopped production of barbed wire, landing ship cable wire, and nails, all called critically needed material. Because of the critical need the company paid its wire workers in lieu of vacations and appealed to them to continue to work until they could be spared from their machines. Spokesmen said none of the other 3,700 employes would be affected immediately

GOV. GREEN SIGNS BILL TO PUNISH LIBELS BY RADIO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., July 16—Immediately upon returning from a vacation on Mackinac Island, Gov. Green today approved the radio libel bill passed in the last week of the 64th general assembly. Tomorrow he will tackle the 389 bills awaiting his signature or veto.

The bill signed today provides penalties of up to a year in jail or $500 fine for persons participating in defamation over the radio.

Supporters of the legislation hope to see it become a model for other states in treatment of radio libel. Chief advocates of state regulation, who warned against waiting for the federal government to step in, were W-G-N and 16 downstate stations.

Opponents of the measure included all of the other Chicago stations, the Illinois CIO organization, and the Chicago Federation of Labor. They contended that it would lead to censorship of broadcast speeches by stations.

PRESSMEN TOLD: END DONNELLEY STRIKE TODAY

Members of the Pressmen's union who struck at the R. R. Donnelley and Sons company printing plant, 350 E. Cermak rd., on June 3, last night got a telegram from George L. Berry, international union president, who directed them to return to work. Despite reports that the striking pressmen voted to resume their jobs at 8 a. m. today, local union headquarters declined to comment. In their walkout the pressmen were joined by members of allied printing craft unions in the shop. Capt. George Barnes of the police labor detail assigned squads at the shop to prevent possible clashes as a result of the return of the pressmen.

VETS AT DODGE PLANT DRAW UP SENIORITY PLAN

2,300 Say CIO Has Let Them Down

A broad program for job seniority rights for veterans was formally approved last night by the United Veterans of World War II., whose 2,300 members are employed at the Dodge Chicago plant. The action was taken at a meeting of 60 representatives at 6908 S. Western av.

The program, designed to improve both union and company proposals, will be submitted today to the veterans committee of local 274 of the United Automobile Workers [CIO], and ultimately will be sent to the UAW's international executive board now meeting in Minneapolis, Minn.

Say CIO "Isn't Doing Right"

"We're not fighting with the CIO, but we feel the CIO has not been doing right by the veterans," said Robert J. Kelter, president of the veterans' group.

The veterans demand that any employe who left his job after May 1, 1940, to enter service shall be reinstated on the basis of accumulated seniority, and that he must apply for his old job within 90 days of his discharge, or if disabled, within 90 days after his disability ceases.

The plan urges that if a man cannot perform his old work because of war incurred disability he should be given work that he can do, and still retain his seniority. It recommends further that disabled vets shall not be laid off in slack periods, even tho they have less seniority than others.

Want 25% of Jobs for Vets

Twenty-five per cent of all jobs would go to ex-service men, and of these at least 5 per cent to disabled veterans, under the program plans.

Another provision asks that new employes, that is those who never worked before entering service, be given seniority on their first job ventures equal to their time in service. This group further would have 12 months after discharge to apply for jobs as against the 90 day allowance for vets with previous work experience. Wives of the disabled and widows of vets also would be given seniority on the basis of their husbands' services.

Progress... AMERICAN STYLE

It starts this way.

Somebody makes a new kind of refrigerator, or a better washing machine, or a radio-phonograph that's pretty efficient and convenient.

They advertise it. The Jones family in your neighborhood decides to buy it. You drop in for a visit.

"That's a mighty convenient machine," you say. "I think I'll make a note of the brand."

And soon you are enjoying better refrigeration . . . or a more modern home laundry, or the pleasure of a great new musical instrument.

That's progress . . . American style!

When something better is made, everyone knows how to get it. Just ask for the brand. Wherever it's sold, that same brand made by that same manufacturer will have the same high quality you want.

In these days when demand so greatly outruns supply, a temptation exists to reduce quality to help fill the demand. No reputable manufacturer yields to that temptation. No reputable manufacturer ever forgets the pledge of quality implied in his brand name.

Calvert, in common with every forward-looking American business, believes that the loss of a good name can never be justified . . . not by profit, not by expediency, not even by war.

Yes, Calvert believes that Progress . . . American style . . . means confidence in buying. It means good faith in selling. It means better products for more people at less cost.

Progress . . . American style . . . is still a pretty good way of assuring our people a better and richer life than is found anywhere else in the world!

New Addresses Being Acquired by Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS

DREAMS of new post-war homes already are coming true for a number of Chicagoans. Mrs. Fentress Ott and her four sons will leave Winnetka July 31 to live near Pasadena, Cal. While Mrs. Ott was in California recently she purchased a house in San Marino.

Since Lt. Comdr. Donald R. McLennan and his bride plan to live in Lake Forest after the war, they recently purchased the Paul Scott Mowrers' home at Shoreacres for post-war occupancy. Comdr. and Mrs. McLennan now are living in San Francisco, Cal., where he is stationed with the navy.

Added to the list of new addresses is that of the John S. Broeksmits, who will move this week into the home which they have rented in Lake Forest. The house in which they have been living recently was sold to Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Gale Taylor III. of Chicago. Lt. John Broeksmit Jr. of the navy will not see his new home for some time, since he will go directly to the Pacific following the completion in two weeks of a radar course which he is taking in Hollywood, Fla.

Other Moving Notes

While the Charles Hull Ewings are living in Los Angeles, Cal., for the summer their home in Lake Forest is being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George R. Beach Jr. and their two daughters, Dinny and Lynn. The Beaches have moved out from their town apartment in Lake Shore dr.

One of the many homes in Lake Forest reopened for the summer months is that of the Paul McBrides. Mrs. McBride and the children came west last week from New York, where they had been living while Lt. Comdr. McBride is stationed there.

New arrivals in Lake Forest are the Anderson Hewitts of Long Island and their five young daughters. They recently purchased the former John Mechem home in the suburb. Mr. Hewitt just has been released from the navy, in which he served as a lieutenant commander and saw duty in the Pacific.

Settled in the Winnetka home which they purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd Roberts are Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Nahser and their two children and two dachsunds, who moved to the Chestnut st. residence recently from Evanston. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts have bought the Edward Bagley house in the same street in Winnetka.

From now on Lt. Alanson Donald of the navy will be sending his letters from the Pacific to a new Lake Forest address, for Mrs. Donald and their three daughters recently moved to the new home which they have purchased in Lake Forest. The Charles T. Boyntons of Highland Park have purchased the Donalds' former home.

Settling a new home in Evanston are Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Vanzwoll, who returned from the west coast when he was released from duty as a lieutenant commander in the navy. Mrs. Vanzwoll's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Dwight C. Orcutt, have moved from their Glencoe home to the Orrington hotel in Evanston.

Wedding News

Lt. Melba M. Davis of the army nurse corps and Lt. Walter D. Krouskup of the medical administration corps, who met in England while serving with the 109th General hospital and who returned to this country last month on the Queen Mary, were married yesterday in the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ruth Dickey Krouskup of Evanston. A wedding dinner followed in the Edgewater Beach hotel. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Davis of Choudrant, La., was stationed overseas for 18 months. Lt. Krouskup, who has been in the army for more than four years, is the son

Baby Loves Those Little Toys, the Ones That Fit His Hands

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The baby, thrilled at being turned loose on the lawn, was tearing enthusiastically around on all fours [a new trick, instead of crawling]. He kept this up so long that I grew tired of flying around after him.

". . . small objects have their place, too, in the life, hands, and play of little children and babies." [TRIBUNE Studio Photo]

Also I was quite sure that, as a puppy does, he would wear himself out in his joyous abandon to the active delight of the moment.

So I collected in a small heap the green undeveloped apples which had fallen from our tree. Then I gathered the baby in, sat him down beside me, and dropped the apples one by one on the grass before him. He was enchanted. He took the smooth small green spheres with their little stems slowly in his hands, turned them, felt them, looked at them, and laughed with pleasure. The two biggest, which were little larger than a walnut, he loved. They fitted his hand perfectly, as if made for it.

That was yesterday. This morning in town, I took an hour or two to shop for our cherub. What I wanted for him was a rather small yellow duck, to match the one in his first picture book.

"Eleven months," I answered meekly.

"Oh, then he shouldn't have anything small to play with at all. He needs only big toys—great big ones. That's what the pediatricians and psychologists tell me."

But the baby knows better, as do I.

To be sure, certain "fine" muscles aren't developed in the early years, therefore fine detailed work or play can't be achieved. To be sure, a near-baby may like to hug a big soft doll or animal, push a big box around, or build best with large blocks. But small objects have their place, too, in the life, hands, and play of small children and babies. A spool, a thimble, a round green pea, a tiny leaf, or flower—these, too, the baby handles with sensitiveness and pleasure.

Honesty Is the Best Policy, or Hypocrisy Pays Fearful Dividends Department

Honesty is the best policy. Did you ever, in indiscreet relief that a guest who apparently had come to live with you was actually about to depart, urge that guest to stay a little longer, or even to return? Well, I did that with "Good Night Ladies," and see what happens. It returns to the Blackstone Aug. 6, probably for another 100 weeks. And all I suggested at my most reckless was that it ought to stick around long enough to make it a full two years, or to let Skeets Gallagher's children finish college.

The indestructible Mr. Gallagher clings to this fantastic fiesta like a citizen to a paid up annuity. He has been cavorting in it since it opened out in California in 1942 and, to the surprise of all, stayed open. Other stalwarts of that occasion who will be on hand are Peggy Drake, Marlo Dwyer, Gloria Humphreys, Luana Walters, Al Downing, and J. Myles Putnam.

Mr. Gallagher has worn out several partners since the Chicago days of Buddy Ebsen and Stuart Erwin, but none yet has been named Shean. The current one, who is new, is Eddie Glover, and other newcomers are Kathryn Givney, Rosemary Bertrand, Louise Jarvis, Ann Fortney, and Lucille Benson. The press agent is still Jim Keefe, with a sack of peanuts [jumbos and red ones] in each pocket on newspaper visiting day, which he blandly affects to confuse with going to the zoo. But the production is brand new, on his word of honor. Cost $40,000, which, as he would never lower himself to say, isn't peanuts for a freak like "Good Night Ladies."

Invisible?

Considering New York's newspaper strike, perhaps Brock Pemberton's piece about "Harvey" that filled George Jean Nathan's Monday column last week was almost as invisible as Harvey himself. Which would be a pity. It's an engaging piece that boils down "Harvey's" formula, thus: "Man meets Rabbit, Man almost loses Rabbit, Man keeps Rabbit." Now that you know how simple it is, write yourself a Pulitzer prize winner.

Don't Jump

Don't jump if you see Werner Janssen's Los Angeles orchestra announcing a cycle of 10 Beethoven symphonies for next season. Mr. Janssen is so convinced of the authenticity of the dubious "Jena" symphony that he recorded it.

Question Box

Replies to inquiries: The Cincinnati Opera is now in full swing at the Zoo and continues thru Aug. 4. But the Central City festival will not be resumed this summer due to travel restrictions. Next summer seems almost a gala certainty. To the woman who wanted me to sing the "Emperor" waltz over the telephone, sorry, but if I had to deliver a singing telegram, it would be with a singer or a phonograph in hand.

Notes

The Detroit Symphony orchestra's new home is the old Wilson theater, rechristened Music hall. It will be used for concerts, television, and broadcast experimentation, and for recordings, as well as for the organization's business offices. . . . Robert Stolz, who will conduct two Viennese concerts at Grant park next week, is arranging the score for "Mr. Strauss Goes to Boston." . . . Considerable anticipation is in the air for Alfred Wallenstein's Ravinia début tonight. It gives him his first chance as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, with which he once was first cellist.

New Priority Styles Paraded Before Writers

BY REA SEEGER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, July 16—Restrictions in materials for clothing are still with us. A nice new little number is out, listed as M-388, and this time both customers and designers will feel the impact.

The regulation was made understandable in a tableau, with the aid of signs, beautiful mannequins, and handsome lads in uniform in a priority fashion show given today by the New York Dress institute. The show was a parade to acquaint fashion writers of 90 newspapers with the regulation. The writers are attending the fifth annual press week showings of new fall and winter fashions for the American woman.

This new regulation means that there will be dresses that are more modestly priced than before, but not more of them. The yardage supply is being so doled out for designer and dress manufacture consumption in strictly percentage allotments, that the manufacturers making the lower priced dresses get more in proportion than do the designers who make the hitherto higher priced or luxury loot.

Judging by the fashion parade, shoppers with limited clothes budgets are going to get a big break, for the fashions we saw today were amazing. Never have moderately priced clothes looked so smooth and distinctive. If they are an example of what you can buy, there is little reason to worry about the new M-388. Career girls and women all around the country who operate on limited budgets will have cause to bless the idea.

American designers seem to function well under some sort of restrictions and such limitations bring out their creative genius. Accordingly the new "priority fashions" have an assured future. What we saw at today's fashion show proves that fabric allocation serves merely to sharpen the wits of our best American designers. All fall and winter fashions made under this new restriction will go on display at the first official fall openings.

Undying Gratitude

Perhaps you'd like to know that it's not just the civilians who appreciate the fine job the telephone operators are doing. A few days ago, Sgt. Papesch, a patient at Gardiner General hospital, sent a large bouquet of flowers to the operators at the telephone center. Attached to it was a note, "To three grand girls for the wonderful service rendered—from an 'undying' patient."

War Time Vacation

Vacation time is over,
I hie me back to grind,
Chock-full of inspiration
—Of a kind.

Vacation in your home town!
That's what we're told to do.
I did! And now I'm frazzled
—It's true.

I've cooked and scrubbed and dusted,
Yes, really did my best,
And now back at the office
I'll rest! NINA CLOCK

Speedwriting

I noticed a recent reference to speedwriting and thought perhaps my experience might be helpful. In school, over 15 years ago, I studied shorthand, but gradually drifted away from the use of it. Then one day came the offer of a transfer to a new and better job that entailed dictation. I couldn't write the simplest phrase in shorthand any more, and had just 10 days in which to brush up, during which time I studied speedwriting. With the aid of special coaching and four to five hours a day study [still working all day at the old job] I was able to take the transfer with a good enough basic knowledge to carry me thru. There followed, naturally, more night school work to reach efficiency.

I find it rapid enough to take any dictation, because rapidity, once any system is mastered, lies in the stenographer's ability and not in the system. As for readability, my notes are a joy to transcribe. Notes six to eight months old I've been able to read at sight. I do not believe speedwriting, or similar systems based on alphabetic symbols, will replace older forms of shorthand, but believe this method will take its place with them. F. M. V.

Job vs. Position

It's a position when you tell about it, a job when others tell about it.

It's a position when you answer the want ads, but when you roll up your white cuffs, sister, and get to work—it's a job! SALLY

Girls Warned Against Brief Sports Attire

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

This is the time of year when all the young gals, out of high school for the summer, are out on the beaches, in the parks, on the tennis courts, or just lolling in their own back yards, making hay while the sun shines.

ON THE SOLID side

And to get the full benefit of the sun [or to let the sun get full benefit of them!] many of these gals have taken to prancing about in public in sports outfits a little on the scanty side. It takes a pretty able Grable to look attractive in a two piece swim suit, shorts that really live up to their name, or a brief and breezy playsuit that provides all the privacy of a small size bath towel. Aside from the moral issue involved, most high school gals simply aren't stacked for those pin-up poses.

Most teen-aged figures just aren't ready for the cheesecake department. They have a tendency to curve in the wrong places or have no curves at all, and too brief sport clothes merely accentuate the positive and spotlight the negative. So be sure you have yourself in mind, and not Betty Grable, when you select shorts and bathing suits.

No need to go back to the 1890s in long bloomers and black cotton stockings [or, on second thought, you might look better], but take a look at yourself from all four sides before you go ankling out to lie in the sun. Do it out of a sense of decorum as well as from a sense of chic. Maybe you are a well stacked honeychile but a little showing off goes a long way, especially in public places. Health and beauty are always attractive but don't overdo; even Dorothy Lamour takes time out to let down her hair and get decked out with a flowery wreath.

Pick your sport clothes for how they will look in action. Last year you may have fitted a size 12 perfectly; this year try a size 14 just to be safe. And it's smart to include a short beach coat in your summer wardrobe for coverup occasions, such as strolling on the beach or walking the five blocks between your home and the tennis courts. Remember that all the other characters can see you coming and going and from both sides—and there's nothing so unattractive as "too much girl."

Thru the Looking Glass

In warm weather, the fragrances in which you want to float will be the "cool" ones—not the heady, sophisticated scents that are so exciting and elegant with winter furs and wools. And heading the list of these fresh—and refreshing—summer scents we instinctively think of apple blossom, a fragrance that is like a sweet scented zephyr floating across the orchards.

If you own apple blossom preparations, you can have an apple blossom bath that's super. First, lukewarm water in the tub, with gentle soapings and a good 15 minutes of lolling. Then pop out, dry yourself gently and, if you're dry skinned, have a rubdown with a skin smoothing body lotion. It helps smooth out the rough parched skin, and it's nicely laden with the apple blossom fragrance. If you're not so thin skinned, splash yourself generously with apple blossom cologne. It's refreshing and not too sweet.

Next comes body powder, like a scented cloud of orchard flowers. This, almost more than anything else, helps you feel cool—and your clothing slides on like silk. Not even your girdle will feel sticky if you powder the skin surface generously.

Finally, use perfume—in the evening, a concentrated apple blossom perfume. For humid days, you'll probably prefer the cologne or toilet water, which is a bit more heavily scented. Put plenty on your flesh and a little on your handkerchiefs, gloves, and the lining of your hat.

The temperature can be tropical, but after your apple blossom bath you can feel—and look—as frosty cool as a dewy flower petal.

'The Wicked Mrs. Steel'

By Roy Vickers

(Copyright: 1945: By Roy Vickers)

SYNOPSIS: Gillian Beynon comes to Tenstable as companion to Mrs. Steel, widow of Andrew Steel. By the terms of his will she must leave his vast wealth to one of his relatives, otherwise the estate passes to the township of Tenstable. Ralph Hanshew, business manager for the Steel interests, and upon whom Mrs. Steel has designs, advises Gillian not to accept the position. When Ruth, the housekeeper, finds Mrs. Steel has killed another canary—knowing it is because Gillian has crossed her path—she urges Gillian not to stay. Mrs. Steel delights in her power over her husband's relatives and in making them grovel. She shows each a will in his favor—even Gillian— suggesting, should she marry Ralph, the money would be wisely managed. On Gillian's arrival Ralph was about to fall in love with Mrs. Steel. Cunningly, she makes plans to break up his new romance. Gillian does not mention the will when Ralph proposes. He is anxious to pull away from the whole sordid atmosphere. Mrs. Steel tells him of the will in Gillian's favor and he quarrels with Gillian. Ruth, who had promised Andrew Steel to watch over Margaret, finds she is getting too hard to manage. She forces Valerie to choose between her fiance and the Steel fortune, then secretly watches Valerie add extra tablets to her sleeping draught which she pretends to drink. Gillian promises Ralph she will destroy the will, but falls asleep before doing so. Next morning Mrs. Steel is found dead. Valerie is agitated. Gillian tells Ralph she didn't destroy the will. He fears the money will cause trouble between them. The will, naming Gillian as heir, is read before the family. Five sleeping tablets are missing. Gillian is accused of poisoning Margaret Steel, but if she will divide the inheritance the family will forgo an investigation. Gillian refuses. She wants the horrible business settled now. Agnes goes to the police. Valerie believes she is guilty.

TO STAND ALONE

Valerie tried to chatter as usual. Charles' responses were few. This in itself did not disturb her. When at length he spoke he harked back onto the subject of Mrs. Steel's death.

"I thought you seemed rather upset when I came in."

That meant he had noticed that she had been crying. A girl was unlucky, she thought, who happened to love an artist. Their highly trained eyes made them see more than any lover should see.

"I shall get over it—and you've already forgotten that you came within an ace of being a rich man haven't you dear? O, heavens, there's somebody coming! If it's Agnes . . ."

"O, Miss Weston, it's all over the town that Mrs. Steel has been murdered, and to show I didn't believe it I said I'd come up and ask you myself straight out."

"I don't know what people have got hold of." She spoke as if with exasperation. "As you know, I was at the house this afternoon. So was Mr. Tollerman. He had certainly not heard about it, so I think you'd better draw your own conclusions, Mrs. Cumber."

Mrs. Cumber departed, vastly disappointed.

"She would have thought it curt and unfriendly," answered Valerie glibly. "You haven't touched your tea. It will get cold."

"O—ah—yes!" He drank it, absently, at a gulp, then got up.

"What shall we do this evening?" she asked.

"Sorry, darling, I can't! I—I've go to go home," he said. With the same air of abstraction he walked out of the flat.

Agnes had not, in fact, told anybody but the superintendent. It was one of the mortician's men who had passed the word, with appropriate gestures, that the funeral of the late Mrs. Steel was indefinitely postponed.

"Funeral postponed! That means the ball has started rolling!" said Ralph Hanshew when they heard the news by telephone. As Ruth appeared in the hall he nodded significantly and Gillian told her.

"To do with those tablets, I suppose!" said Ruth scornfully. "There was Martha Orson's grandson—him as they've just made sergeant, if you please!—going on at me about them at the back door. He wanted the phial so I gave it to him while you two were in the garden. I told him he was wasting his time 'cause the tablets had nothing to do with it."

"Do you feel quite sure of that, Ruth?" asked Ralph.

They lingered in the hall after she had returned to the kitchen.

"It's dear of you to want to stay and help," said Gillian. "But there's nothing to help with. I have to face this alone, Ralph."

"Something has happened to us," he muttered. "You seem to have gone miles away."

"I have. Don't you see, dear, I shall have to stand alone, however much you want to come to me—until I am sure of myself and you are sure of me—which means until those tablets are accounted for."

Ruth laid supper for Gillian in her usual place. Afterwards, she went to the drawing room. Heavy storm clouds had gathered and the canary had put itself to bed. She turned on the light, sat down with pad and pencil, determined to record every small detail of the previous night's events.

"Let's see!" she thought aloud. "It was about 10 minutes past 10 when Valerie turned up. You had told me that you wanted to be alone with her . . ."

She fled from the room. It was quite dark in the hall. She went up a few stairs, hesitated, then turned back and switched on the light. On the landing, she walked with strained slowness past Margaret Steel's door, but she ran the last few feet to her own room.

The heavy blanket of dark cloud depressed her. At 10, she was still pottering about the room, heard the creak of the baize door and, feeling the need for Ruth's companionship, sped along the landing and leaned over the bannisters.

So Ruth, too, felt the personality of Margaret Steel. And she had shown, not fear, but grief. Gillian crept to her room. Presently she heard Ruth pass the door on her way upstairs, her keys jingling like the keys of a wardress.

She knocked on Gillian's door.

"I forgot to put your key back, Miss." She detached the key from its jingling companions, put it in the lock.

Ruth said she had had an accident with the key and bent it and would send it to be straightened. Surely, on such a dreadful day as this one had been, she had not bothered with such a trifle!

The next morning there were no callers. Neither lawyer, doctor, policeman, nor even tradesman. As there was no immediate task, Gillian decided to walk down to the town.

In the street, she became aware that people would step out of her way into the road, then turn and stare. The friendliness had gone from their eyes.

Opening lead: Three of hearts.

Defense is commonly regarded as a more difficult phase of the game than the play of the dummy. The reason appears to be that declarer sees before him his entire 26 tools while a defender can see only 13 and must infer some of his partner's cards from the bidding, his leads and discards. Sometimes, however, partner's possession of a certain card can be inferred by the manner in which declarer plays. Today's hand is an illustration.

Against the game contract West led the three of hearts which is unquestionably the proper procedure, the he holds the king of the suit. So many players are in the habit of leading thru dummy's suit from holdings of this kind. It should be evident that tricks must be built up in a hurry on this hand before declarer extracts trumps and establishes dummy's suit for discards. Declarer took the opening lead with the ace and tried the trump finesse. West won and decided to cash his two tricks for "book" and then trust that his partner held either the king of clubs or the king of diamonds for the setting trick. As soon as he cashed the king of hearts, his death warrant was sealed.

West's play was very illogical. The importance of getting East in promptly in order to obtain a lead up to the ace-queen of clubs should have been apparent. The surest way to get partner in was with a low heart. Declarer's play makes it a good gamble that East has the queen of that suit. If declarer held that card he would no doubt not have gone up with the ace [since there was no danger of a ruff] but would have let it ride to his queen.

East, of course, was guilty of contributory negligence. On the opening lead when the ace was played from dummy he should have signaled with the nine. There is surely no other suit that he would like partner to shift to, and it might be desirable for him to get in earlier in order to lead to dummy's weakness in clubs.

In a ceremony tomorrow which was arranged hastily when the bridegroom received a sudden furlough, Miss Dorothy Holen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar M. Holen of Evanston, will be married to Corp. Donald Bradford Judson of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Judson of Wilmette. The wedding will take place at 4 p. m. in the Orrington hotel, with a reception following. Among the attendants will be the bride's sister, Mrs. Eugene Brody of New Haven, Conn., as matron of honor, and the bridegroom's brother, Jack, as best man. Corp. Just back from a wedding trip to New York and Spring Lake Beach, N. J., Dr. Herbert Lothe and his bride of June 29, the former Mrs. George Rasmussen of Lake Forest, will leave shortly on a trip thru Wisconsin. The ceremony took place in the Presbyterian church of Lake Forest, with a luncheon following in the bride's home in Lake Forest, where she and Dr. Lothe will live until they build a new home on one of her farms there.

Dr. Lothe, who has known his bride for years, formerly lived in Waukesha, Wis. Her first husband, the late George Rasmussen, died 10 years ago in Copenhagen, Denmark. She has two sons, Robert Rasmussen and Lt. George Rasmussen Jr., who is serving with the army in Belgium.

Felsenthal PTA Fete to Dedicate Playground

The Parent-Teacher association of the Felsenthal school has a plan under way to convert vacant lots in the community into playgrounds, and Saturday night a celebration will be held for the dedication of the first plot, which is at the northwest corner of 42d st. and South Park way. Permission to use the ground was obtained from the General Outdoor Advertising company. Toys and other donations for equipping the lot for children under 10 years old will be received by the PTA members that evening or during the week.

Household Forum

—By Louise Bargelt—

Amy H., Chicago—If you are a new housekeeper, remember that if you let a pan boil dry and burn never put it under cold water. Let the pan cool first and then fill with warm water. This treatment may keep your pan from chipping or cracking.

Mrs. Ethel W., Oak Park—I blocked several straw hats and cleaned them, but they looked dull. A friend told me to brush them lightly with a coat of colorless shellac, diluted half and half with alcohol, and this gave them a real luster.

Mrs. Bertha A., Madison, Wis.—I have found it is a good plan to keep a crack filler in my supply closet and to use it as soon as I discover any cracks in floors, boxes, and other storage places. Cracks filled with dust and lint are good breeding places for carpet beetles as well as moths.

Mrs. Ted A., Kankakee, Ill.—To remove food which sticks to an enamel cooking utensil, boil a weak soda solution in the utensil. Don't use a coarse abrasive or scrape with a sharp edged instrument.

THE QUESTION

Do you hide your troubles from your parents?

WHERE ASKED

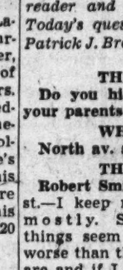
THE ANSWERS

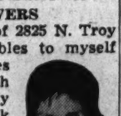
Robert Smith, 14, of 2825 N. Troy st.—I keep my troubles to myself mostly. Sometimes things seem so much worse than they really are and if I can work out the problem myself why should I worry any one else about it? That's the way I feel about it. They would only be upset and why have others worry?

Jerry Wollenweber, 14, of 3115 Diversey av.—I never tell my parents anything when there's trouble involved. If I told them I'd only be in more trouble and one bunch of trouble at a time is enough. They probably wouldn't understand and I might only upset them. However, I never get into any serious trouble so why worry?

Dorothy Tauber, 13, of 4025 Keystone av.—There is a group of us who always go around together. Usually one of the girls is a real close friend and we always talk things over. If we both decide we need help or think that we should have some advice, one of us asks our parents. If it's really important I go to my mother.



Barbara Karzen, 12, 6243 N. Knox av.—All my important troubles I discuss with my mother and father and the lesser ones I talk over with my mother. If I spill ink on a skirt or eat too much I go to grandmother and she fixes it up. I keep few secrets from my mother. My parents are very understanding and don't get upset.



Arlene Hansen, 13, of 3315 N. Pulaski rd.—My mother is the one I go to when something is bothering me. Most of the time I manage to iron out my woes and worries with a girl friend but if we can't figure it out we ask our parents for help. They seem like minor troubles to some one else but things are really trying at times.

French Weave New Fabrics of Bright Colors

BY ANNE BRUYERE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

PARIS, July 16—Chatillon, Mouly, and Rousell noted weavers of silk, must have been in a merry mood when they designed their new summer materials, which that prodigy of fashion, Jeanne Lanvin, has transformed into flattering holiday blouses.

Pure silks and fresh ribbed cottons have been dyed into irresistible grounds of grass green, crocus yellow, Venetian red, and garter blue. Dancing on these colors are platinum tennis players, vivid skaters, Punch and Judy teams, fishermen, and campers, all embroidered by hand.

The keynote of the summer of 1945 Paris fashion is the Vee triangular waist, and Jeanne Lanvin adapts it to suit every whim.

For cocktail wear there is an embroidered crepe de chine blouse in porcelain blue with gay flowers of sequins appearing only on the triangular inset which crosses the shoulders fore and aft; then dives into a Vee at the waist.

Formal blouses come in pure silk with matching hoods or in airy mousseline with long scarfs that may be flung around the head any style. One very becoming evening model in aureate yellow organdy has a wide corset waist, upon which a full blown bunch of marigolds in natural colors is embroidered in relief.

Fashion Flashes: Andre Lamy, the coiffeur, brushes all the hair far up on the top of the head, but instead of curling or braiding it, he expertly drapes it into a smooth and shiny figure 8. . . . Paquin sticks likelike robins, crows, and sparrows on the lapels of sheer wool tailored suits with high collars and flared jackets plaited in back. . . . Hubert Yencesse has sculpted the muses in bronze to go on the streamlined parchment white furniture of a new dining room decorated by Jacques Desplerre.

Transfer Pattern

BY NANCY CABOT

The Dutch girl motif for days-of-the-week towels is fascinating needlework which adds a decorative touch to any kitchen. The hot iron transfer motifs measure approximately 5 by 5½ inches. The embroidery is done in outline stitch, while the days-of-the-week are worked in cross-stitch. If the days-of-the-week are omitted, these same little girls make effective wall pictures.

For the hot iron transfer pattern, No. 722, send 15 cents in coin [wrap coin securely] to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

Warns Against Propaganda in School Movies

A warning against propaganda motion pictures camouflaged as "educational" films was given yesterday by Stephen M. Corey, professor of educational psychology and director of the audio-visual instructional materials center at the University of Chicago. He spoke before the opening session of the 14th annual conference for administrative officers of public and private schools.

"The propaganda picture is produced by a group that has made up its mind what it wants people to believe, and the desire to bring that belief about in a hurry is so strong that all the cards are not put on the table," Prof. Corey said.

"Propaganda pictures rarely purport to be such," he said. "Many are cleverly designed so as to give the impression of disinterestedness and objectivity. They are produced, however, to 'sell' a product, or a person, or a group, or an institution, or a practice, or an idea."

Prof. Corey said the great limitation of a propaganda picture, so far as classroom use is concerned, is that it is not true; it distorts what it reports thru covert omission or selection or downright fabrication. He advised teachers to preview all pictures they show and to select mostly those designed for educational rather than propaganda or entertainment purposes.

Prof. Corey said many kinds of organizations — governmental, philanthropic, commercial, and covertly propagandist ones — produce what are described as "educational" films. He cited the Educational Film Guide, a 1945 catalog which lists 3,540 motion pictures allegedly appropriate for educational use.

"The office of coördinator of inter-American affairs circulates to school people a bulletin describing 56 motion pictures dealing with the other American republics," he continued. "During the last four years the United States office of education has produced more than 400 different instructional pictures, most of which pertain to the training of war workers and many of which can be used in industrial arts courses.

"Within the same period the office of war information has produced 70 pictures. The British information service and the national film board of Canada have offices in several large American cities and rent many motion pictures to schools at a nominal charge."

Prof. Corey predicted that within the next few years many new organizations will start producing "educational" pictures. He said the job of discriminating between good and poor ones with respect to classroom effectiveness will be increasingly difficult.

"All propaganda pictures used in schools should be plainly labeled as such, and their instructional limitation should be realized," he asserted.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., July 16—James Edward Grant, who wrote "Boom Town," finished "Mother to May" for Harry Cohn and Columbia. They hope [and they may get] Bing Crosby to make it as his outside picture next year. . . . You won't get a peek at British Pat Kirkwood until "No Leave, No Love" is made. And who do you think she's got for her leading man? Van Johnson—the lucky lass! . . . Letter from Joan Fontaine telling about her visit to the Louis Bromfield farm in Ohio. Another guest there was Lauren Bacall's mother, who said Lauren had become so domestic she was about to take cooking lessons. "Well," replied Joan, "if I remain much longer on suspension you can tell her I'll apply for the job." But Joan won't have to, since RKO now has her for "All Brides Are Beautiful." Her coming home will make Stanton Griffis homeless. He's in her house. . . . Sabu, highly decorated and back in town, tells about celebrating his 21st birthday in Melbourne, Australia. A theater manager asked him to make a personal appearance and sing the song he sang in "The Thief of Bagdad." When he arrived he found a hundred piece orchestra and a choir of 75. With that build-up Sabu says he sounded better than Sinatra.

How to Win Friends on a Hollywood Lot

Paulette Goddard serves lunch in her dressing room to the "Pro club" which consists of four producers—Paulette, Burgess Meredith, Jean Renoir, and Ben Bogeaus. Paulette's cook brings the food from home. Move over, kids—make room for a fifth. This is not the first time Paulette's bribed with food. She used to do it on the set of "The Women." . . . When Frank Sinatra voiced his criticism of some USO shows overseas, it was only natural that many folks would jump on him. Well, here's what a fighting guy in the South Pacific has to say about USO people: "The show people who go thru our camps are a funny bunch. Some are sincere and do a bang-up job. But a good number of them are self-centered, egotistical, stuck-up frauds, not worth the money or space spent to bring them over. Most of the USO men are farces and the women worse. It's an insult to a man's intelligence to see some of the shows sent over here. Joe E. Brown and troupe came thru our camp and put on a wonderful show. The men appreciated everything they did. 'Oklahoma!' was fairly good—attitude of the cast was rotten. On the other hand, movies we get are fine. Some are shown us before they're released in the states. Now and then we get a quickie, but most of our pictures are good." This seems to back up Frankie's statement. I've got many more of the same.

Songbird of "Carousel" to warble "I Do"

Christine Johnson, songbird in "Carousel," will marry Capt. Bob Smith of the army medical corps as soon as he returns from South Pacific. . . . Peggy Wood will bunk in with Emily Kimbrough while here. . . . Betty Field slipped on the stage and has been in a New York hospital for weeks. . . . Enid Markey finishing a play with Constance Allen while doing "Snafu." It gets a summer try-out on the eastern straw hat circuit. Its name—"Mme. Puritan." . . . The old Hollywood hotel only had two bathrooms when it was first built. It wasn't De Mille conscious then. Neither was the town. But what a tale that old place could tell if it had a tongue! . . . What's this? Alan Curtis seeing his ex, Ilona Massey. Why can't those two nice people get together again? . . . Rumors are rife that Metro has a script all prepared for Lew Ayres, and the minute he gets out of the army he'll act in it. I don't believe Lew will act in any picture except the story of his own life, which would be an inspiration to every one. Even then I think any studio would have a mighty difficult time persuading him to reënact his own life on celluloid. I'll never forget the deal Lew got in our town, and I know he never will.

Navy Get-Together at Bob Montgomery's

Comdr. Julian Bechton, commanding officer of the Laffey, spent an evening here with Bob Montgomery. One of the things he'll remember were Memorial day services held aboard the ship in Seattle, when the families of four of the kids who lost their lives in that gallant fight came aboard and were able to mingle with their sons' buddies and get first hand stories. One hundred fifty thousand people went thru the ship in four days in Seattle. Not one will ever forget its scars. . . . Mark Lutzi from Buffalo writes: "The Cagneys have a sure fire film in 'Blood on the Sun,' but they did show the Japs looking far ahead. They were so far ahead they drove a sleek, black Cadillac at least 10 years before they were manufactured. But this didn't detract from the picture." Then he goes on about Andrea Leeds when she was abducted in "Hotel Berlin." "She was dressed in an expensive evening gown, a yummy fur coat, and a hairdo evidently arranged at $5 per strand. Twenty minutes later she appeared before Helmut Dantine to meet her doom dressed in turtle neck sweater, simple skirt, and her hair hangin' to her shoulders."

House Committee's Approval Given to 'Equal Rights' Bill

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—The women's "equal rights" bill got an approval from a house committee today, accompanied by minority protests that it would work the wrong way.

The issue bounced out of the judiciary committee in reports to the house on legislation proposing an amendment to make equal rights a part of the Constitution. Dissenters, in two minority reports, asserted women would give up many privileges thru such an amendment. They cited health laws favoring women and said questions would arise such as equal liability in supporting a family or even paying alimony.

The amendment, which 36 state legislatures would have to ratify to make it effective if congress should vote to submit it to them, is necessary to stop discrimination thru lower pay schedules and exclusion from many jobs, the majority declared. The report said women's war service showed they are capable of "fully participating in the economic activities of this country."

Tells of Sabotage

How French railroad workers sabotaged Nazi war efforts, particularly just before D-day, was told in Chicago yesterday by Gerard Ouradou, head of the railroad labor unions and a member of the French consultative assembly. He is in the United States to meet labor leaders on a tour arranged by the office of war information.

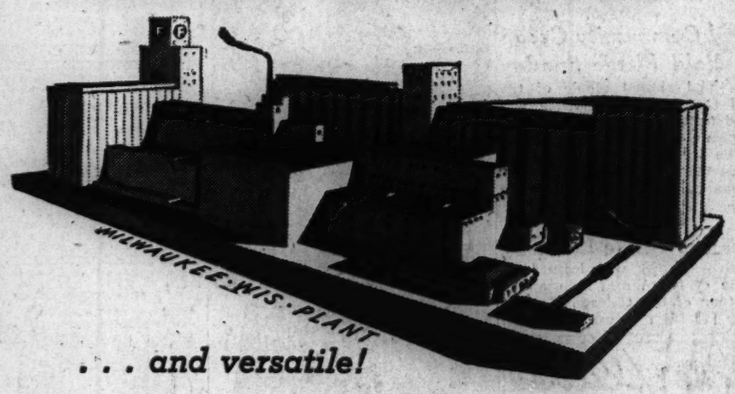
Ouradou said that in the two months preceding the allied invasion of France, railroad men working under his direction in the French underground movement held up 800 trains carrying German supplies to the coast. This, he said, deprived the Nazis of 90 per cent of war materials intended to meet the invasion.

It will require three years, he said, to restore the railways to normal conditions. Coal is the greatest need at present. The country needs 80,000 miners. France has been promised 20,000 Germans for the mines, he said, but only a few have been sent.

FBI NABS CHICAGO FUGITIVE

Federal bureau of investigation agents in Detroit yesterday arrested Everett L. Davidson, 21, on a charge of unlawful flight from Chicago to avoid prosecution. Police here had sought Davidson for nearly a year on charges of robbery.

MALT is BASIC



. . . and versatile!

Man first learned to use malt for his beverages . . . then for his food . . . and now for a wide range of basic industrial needs. Almost daily, science is finding new uses for this versatile and basic material.

From the modern laboratories of this, the world's largest commercial maltsters, is coming much of the new knowledge which is increasing the usefulness and need for this basic product. Watch us grow.

In Washington and thruout the world Chicago Tribune correspondents are alert to keep readers informed of every significant happening. Experienced in knowing how to get the facts, they cover the news first hand and report it steadfastly from the American viewpoint.

HERE ARE SOME STRAIGHT FACTS ABOUT THE RED-POINT SITUATION IN RESTAURANTS!...

We are running this series of messages concerning food rationing in restaurants because we believe that if you understand the facts you will insist upon effective measures against Black Markets. It is to your interest, as well as ours, that the available supply of rationed foods be distributed through legitimate channels. In the examples given to clarify ideas, we have used actual Stouffer figures since we know them in full detail and they are typical of those in the restaurant industry.

FACT No. 1

MANY MORE PEOPLE ARE EATING OUT THESE DAYS THAN FORMERLY

And many think they do it just to save points. Actually this is not the case. Admittedly, some people do eat in restaurants to stretch their red-point budgets. But they are in the minority. *The majority of people are eating out because:

1. They work in the locality . . . many at jobs directly connected with the war effort or essential civilian economy . . . and cannot get home conveniently.
2. They are members of the armed forces assigned to no regular local mess who must, therefore, eat in restaurants.
3. They are traveling, most of the time on essential business, and cannot get home for meals.
4. They have no cooking facilities at home, therefore are forced to eat all of their meals out.
5. Because of working hours, and other handicaps, they find it very difficult to get to market . . . especially while there is any assortment of red-point foods to be purchased.
6. Occasionally they eat out for the sheer pleasure of eating a meal they have not had to cook themselves.

FACT No. 2

RESTAURANTS DO NOT HAVE ENOUGH RED POINTS TO SERVE RATIONED MEATS REGULARLY

Let's figure it out together. At Stouffer's, to feed an average of 3,000 people who eat daily in each of our restaurants, we are allowed 2112 red points. That's only 7/10 of a point per meal. Now you certainly know that 7/10 of one point will not buy much meat. For instance, a quarter-pound tenderloin steak requires 5 ration points. A half-pound steak takes 10. To serve even a small steak to these 3,000 people we're talking about who eat with us on one day, would take 15,000 red points . . . our entire allowance for 7 whole days. A half-pound steak for each of our guests on one day would cost 30,000 red points . . . leave us completely out of red points for more than 14 days. Obviously, therefore, it is not possible to serve steaks, chops and such high-point meats regularly unless we patronize the Black Market.

FACT No. 3

IN RESTAURANTS, AS IN HOMES, RED POINTS MUST COVER A LOT MORE THAN MEAT

Indeed yes! The 7/10 of a point per meal that Stouffer's are allowed must provide, not only the meat served at the meal, but also:

1. Shortening for pies, cakes and rolls
2. Fats for frying and other cooking
3. Oil for salad dressing
4. Cheese for soufflés, macaroni and cheese, rarebits, etc.

To be sure, each of these 3,000 people we serve, does not always eat rationed meat. He may choose fish, or a vegetable plate, or an egg dish. Also, he may do without a salad. Or, without pie or cake for dessert. But rarely does any guest eliminate all of them from his meal—and all of them involve red points. Yes, 7/10 of one point must cover a lot of territory.

FACT No. 4

RESTAURANTS ARE FORCED TO DO MANY THINGS TO MAKE THEIR RED-POINT ALLOWANCE COME OUT EVEN

At Stouffer's we have drastically reduced our use of rationed meat.

1. For instance, we have not served a steak for well over 2 years.
2. 70% of our menu listings use no rationed meat at all.
3. A good share of the remaining 30% of our menu listings use it in such extended forms as hash, stew, frankfurters, or chipped beef with mushrooms.
4. We have developed wartime recipes for pies, cakes and other desserts that use less shortening.

If we are to stay within our legal red-point allowance, and still serve our guests the best wartime meals possible, every day, there is no other way out.

For—we promise you—Stouffer's will have no traffic with Black Markets because Black Markets make rationed foods scarcer than ever—and skyrocket the prices, to you, and to us.

OHIO'S HORVATH TO PLAY WITH ALL-STARS

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

THE first casualty of Michigan State's summer football drills was Coach Charley Bachman, who suffered a strained back when an overambitious lineman dumped him. . . . Nothing serious, tho. . . . Tommy Holmes, the husky Braves' slugger, has a surprisingly high-pitched speaking voice. . . . Tom, by the way, was crowned juvenile bag punching champion of Greater New York in Madison Square Garden when he was 5 years old. . . . In commenting on the end of his record batting streak, Tommy said, "Wrigley field always has been tough for me to hit in, but I don't want to take anything away from the Cubs' Hank Wyse. . . . The way Hank was going, I couldn't have gotten a loud foul off him in my own back yard in Brooklyn." . . . Arturo Godoy, the South American heavyweight, is in New York and threatening to invade our part of the country at the drop of a guarantee. . . . George Veenker, who resigned recently as athletic director at Iowa State college, is being boomed for the commissionership of the Big Six conference. . . . George has been an advocate of the commissioner setup for years and, if one is chosen, no doubt would accept the post, altho there has been no hint that he is bidding for it. . . . In Hollywood the other night, Umpire Frisco Edwards called Catcher Jim Hill out on strikes. . . . "How in the world can a guy hit that kind of a pitch?" roared Jim at the arbiter. . . . "Darned if I know," replied Edwards, "I played ball myself for years and never could hit it." . . . Lt. Frank Leahy has sold his home in South Bend and will take his family to California tonight. . . . Lt. Leahy is stationed at St. Mary's Pre-Flight. . . . He plans to build a home in South Bend when he returns to the University of Notre Dame.

Says Comdr. Jack Dempsey: "Joe Louis must have slipped a lot since he's been in the army. . . . You can't lay off a game like boxing, especially at Joe's age [31] and hope to get back where you were. . . . He hasn't been able to train and those tame exhibitions mean nothing. . . . Boy, do I know! . . . Joe still may be the best there is when he returns to civilian life but he'll be a long way from the Louis of 1941—I'd say about 30 per cent off." . . . The hardest punch he ever received, Jack recalls, was one landed by Gunboat Smith in 1917 in San Francisco. . . . "Gunboat caught me flush on the chin in the first round," says Jack, "and the rest of the evening was blacked out. . . . I didn't know until I read the morning papers that I had won the decision."

BY WILFRID SMITH

Les Horvath, Ohio State quarter back who was chosen as the most valuable player in the Western conference last year, has accepted an invitation to join the All-Stars for their game with the Green Bay Packers Aug. 30 in Soldiers' field. The winner of the silver football in the 21st election conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, a veteran of four years competition at Ohio State, gives the All-Stars one of the nation's finest runners and passers for their battle with the professional champions.

Horvath is an experienced field general. He directed the Buckeyes last fall in their sweep of nine games, the first such record in 24 years of Ohio State's athletic history. This contributed to his selection by his teammates as the most valuable player for Ohio State. In the subsequent election by coaches and officials, Horvath was chosen as the Big Nine's most valuable. He also received national honors.

Under Three Ohio Coaches

Horvath was 23 last Sept. 18. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall and he weighs 167 pounds. His home is in Parma, O., a suburb of Cleveland.

Horvath began playing in his sophomore year in 1940 under the late Francis Schmidt, then Ohio State's coach. He continued in 1941 and in 1942 he was a member of Ohio State's conference championship eleven. Lt. [j. g.] Paul Brown was his coach during these seasons. In 1943 Horvath was enrolled in the army specialized training program and could not participate in football. After his discharge last August he joined the squad coached by Carroll Widdoes, who had been Brown's assistant until the latter entered the navy. Les received his degree in the Ohio State dental college last June and his appearance in Chicago on Aug. 30 is conditioned by his service status at that time.

Key Player of Buckeyes

While it is impossible for any one athlete to dominate team play, Ohio State's attack last year was built around Horvath. The undefeated record, however, belongs to all, including such veterans as Jack Dugger, Gordon Appleby, Bill Willis, Bill Hackett, and Russ Thomas. Perhaps the freshmen keyed the enthusiasm of the squad. Several played regularly, including Tom Snyder, guard, and Bob Brugge, Ollie Cline, Tom Keane, and Dick Flanagan, backs.

Horvath's importance is clearly pointed by the fact that he was the only experienced player in the Buckeyes' starting back field, that he called signals, handled the ball on T formation plays, and was the most effective ball carrier when Ohio State shifted to a single wing back formation.

Horvath led the squad in the number of minutes played and went the distance in the climactic game with Michigan, when the Buckeyes came from behind in the last period to whip the Wolverines for the conference title, 18 to 14.

During Ohio State's nine games,

JONES AIMS TO BRING OUT NEW CALUMET STAR

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Ben Jones, Missouri's gift to the turf world as a trainer par excellence, has sent a pair of juvenile fillies, Avenue Bell and Red Top, onto the Washington Park track regularly in the last couple of weeks for another one of his major objectives. It seems that everything the Calumet farm majordomo undertakes in racing is important, never inconsequential.

Jones' present objective is to add these two fillies to the string of stake performers which have made the name of Warren Wright's establishment so celebrated on American tracks. And at least one will face a first great test in tomorrow's $20,000 Arlington Lassie stakes. This and its companion piece, Washington Park's Princess Pat, are the richest events for 2 year old fillies on the American turf.

High Shine Already Established

Already Calumet has brought out one of the leading contenders for supremacy among the juvenile colts —High Shine, winner of the $15,000 added Hyde Park stakes on June 30. The farm followed up in the 3 year old division by sending Pot o' Luck out for a stirring victory in last Saturday's Arlington Classic, worth $67,150 to the winner. Now Jones is banking on these two fillies to do as well in their class.

Followers of the sport have already seen Avenue Bell go to the post during the current meeting. Last Thursday in the second start of her career, she ran second to A. C. Ernst's Aladearm, another Lassie candidate. Avenue Bell was beaten three-quarters of a length in :59 3-5, the fastest five furlongs of the meeting. The six furlongs of the Lassie will give her an extra eighth of a mile to show her ability.

There is plenty of class in Avenue Bell's family. She is a full sister of Some Chance, winner of the Belmont

DISTRICT GOLF QUALIFIERS LED BY MISS NELSON

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Rena Nelson of Exmoor, who doesn't play as much competitive golf as she used to, chose yesterday to remind her rivals that she can still turn out a good round by winning the qualifying medal in the 14th annual tournament of the Chicago Women's District Golf association at the Northmoor Country club.

Rena paced the championship scorers in the 18 hole medal play test with an 82, six over par. Winner of this championship in 1934 at Flossmoor, she went out in a 40 and then took a 42 coming home.

The low 16 scorers in the handicap range from three strokes thru seven will go to work in the championship bracket's first round of match play at approximately 9:30 o'clock this morning. They will be preceded at 8:30 o'clock by eight first flight matches, with other subsidiary flights following the championship set.

Wind Troubles Players

Scores were generally high, due in great part to the breezes which whipped Northmoor thruout the day. Only five others were able to shoot in the 80s. They were Virginia Nilles of Rolling Green, runner-up for the state title last week, who had 41—43—84; Mrs. Frank Mayer of Lake Shore, 45—42—87; Mrs. F. W. Zimmerman of Edgewater, 43—44—87; Mrs. James Sutherland of Skokie, 45—44—89, and Mrs. E. B. Hall Jr., of Medinah, 44—45—89.

South Siders Beat A's, 6-2, Then Lose, 7-1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16—The fifth place White Sox and the eighth place Athletics did a give and take act this evening in one of those twilight electric light marathons, the Chicagoans winning the first affair, 6 to 2, and then flopping dismally before the renowned Louis [Buck] Newsom, 7 to 1. The Newsom fellow laughed them off with two hits which more than made amends for the four hitter inflicted on Connie Mack's tailenders by John Humphries in the first game.

Humphries, now winner of four for the season, found a high class helper in LeRoy Schalk who was the villain in the early removal of the talented Russ Christopher who tried to come back after three innings of work yesterday. He lasted only a bit longer than that in the twilight, going away in a hurry in the fourth with a total of five runs against his record. Three of these were accumulated in the third when Schalk turned loose his first 1945 homer.

Newsom Ignores Comedy Act

The White Sox, who are forever thinking up cute tricks, revived their stunt of surreptitiously sprinkling confetti around the spot on which Newsom, with his new knuckle ball and new glove was trying to win his third of the season. The big boy beefed a bit, merely out of curiosity as to the identity of the culprit, but the effect was nil as indicated by the hit total. The only Chicago gent to hit him was Johnny Dickshot, who drove in the lone run with a double and he singled in the seventh but went nowhere.

Orval Grove went the route against the swaggering Newsom and was a good man for the job until he apparently became convinced his mates had no skill beyond the confetti act. Grove was no worse off than a 2 to 1 deficit in five innings, but from then on was mainly a comfort for Roberto Estalella, who hit a homer in the sixth and another in the eighth, each with the bags empty. Grove also proved a cousin to Hal Peck, who tripled two runs across in the seventh. He had driven in another in the third by doubling.

Moses Opens with Triple

Moses began a large evening of work in the twilight game when he opened with a triple and scored on a single by Farrell. A moment later this run wasn't of much value. Estalella and Kell doubled and Busch singled off Humphries in the second inning, this turn of affairs creating a 2 to 1 deficit for the Sox, but only for the moment.

The three run third began with Tresh walking and Humphries producing a sacrifice. Moses also walked and an instant later Schalk banged his maiden homer into the left field pavilion. Altho Farrell followed with a double it didn't figure in any scoring. Then in the fourth after singles by Hockett and Tresh, Moses doubled to score the former. The blow also knocked Christopher out of the picture.

Grove's Generosity Costly

Newsom's first act in the night game was a pass to Moses and this turned into a run when Dickshot doubled after two were out. Grove, however, showed himself equally generous in the Athletics' opening half, the tying run resulting. Grove walked Peck with one out and made his gift doubly choice by throwing wild trying to catch the guy napping off first base. He went to third on the error and scored on an infield out.

The A's removed the bargain feature from their hitless first inning run by expending two safeties for the run that put them ahead in the third. The gallant Newsom simply stepped up in front of his public and singled, going home soon thereafter on a double by Peck. Then everything was quiet until Estalella made it 3 to 1 with his No. 6 homer into the left field pavilion in the sixth.

Estalella Hits 2d Homer

Trouble loomed when George walked to open the seventh and Newsom singled with one out. After two were out Peck let go again, this time with his triple, two scoring for a 5 to 1 count. The remainder of the damage done to Grove was made up of the Estalella No. 7 homer in the eighth after which Grove made a three base wild throw to first trying to retire Smith. This turned into the last run when George singled.

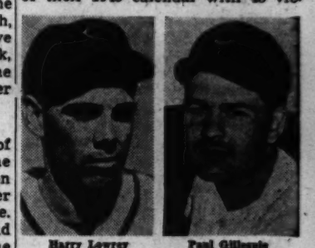
BY EDWARD BURNS

The Cubs yesterday scored two runs in the ninth inning off Van Lingle Mungo, twice their conqueror this season, to beat the Giants 4 to 3 in the third game of the series in Wrigley field. The late splurge gave the Cubs their fifth straight and a record of 16 successes in the last 17 contests to round out the first half of their schedule.

The Cubs completed the first half of their 1945 calendar with 48 victories and 29 defeats, a considerably better ratio than the 89-63 with which they won their last pennant in 1938, tho not quite up to the last Charley Grimm pennant, in 1935, when the Cubs won 100, lost 54.



Harry Lowrey Paul Gillespie

The victorious windup yesterday was an example of the way a hot team frequently gets the breaks. The home ninth began with a pass to Phil Cavarretta. Andy Pafko bunted to Danny Gardella, mite outfielder who was subbing at first base for the Giants. Danny came up with the ball, juggling it only mildly. Then he threw close to Pafko and the ball bounded away from George Hausmann, covering first.

Lowrey, Gillespie Deliver

When the ball was returned to a controled status, Cavarretta was on third and Pafko on second with none out. Harry Lowrey ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then lined a single to left, Cavarretta scoring the tying run and Pafko stopping at third. Paul Gillespie, who had struck out as a pinch batter for Mickey Livingston in the seventh, revealed a heartening reform. He singled to left, sending Pafko home with the winning run.

Ray Starr, who pitched the New York ninth as a replacement for Claude Passeau, was the winning pitcher. It was Passeau's second futile try for his 11th victory, but obviously he escaped his fourth defeat. It was Claude, you remember, who lost that one of the Cubs' last 17, when Carden Gillenwater busted a homer with two out in the ninth on July 12. It would have been too cruel had Battlin' Claude ridden thru as loser of both of the losses suffered by the Cubs since July 1.

Giants Lose Lead Twice

The Giants were ahead twice before the ninth inning crash hit them. In the second Mel Ott doubled and scored on Ernie Lombardi's single. The Cubs tied the score at 1 to 1 in the third when Len Merullo singled, stole second, went on to third when Lombardi threw into

26,120 See Washington Spurt Stopped

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns jolted the first place aspirations of the Washington Senators tonight by taking a twilight-night double header, 7 to 3 and 5 to 1. The two defeats dropped the Senators to three full games behind the leading Detroit Tigers.

The biggest weeknight crowd of the season, 26,120, packed the stands. Tex Shirley outpitched Roger Wolff for the decision in the second game after Lefty Al Hollingsworth won the first one.

With the score 1 to 1, the Browns broke up the second game with three runs in the eighth inning, briefly interrupted by a light shower. George McQuinn singled, Vern Stephens bunted safely, Milt Byrnes sacrified and Mark Christman was purposely passed, filling the bases. McQuinn scored on Boris Martin's fly and Frank Mancuso's hit sent Stephens and Christman home.

TIGERS BEAT YANKS, 9-4.

New York, July 16 (AP)—The league leading Detroit Tigers broke a four game losing streak this afternoon by beating the Yankees, 9 to 4. Red Ruffing, making his first appearance with the Yankees since the 1942 world series, started a run rally off Frank (Stub) Overmire with a pinch single in the eighth inning.

Hank Greenberg and Roger Cramer hit doubles in the Tigers' four run first inning against Bill Zuber. The Yankee pitcher was knocked out in the second inning. Score:

TRIAL OF FOUR IN HOOPER DEATH PLOT IS BEGUN

Jury Being Selected at Battle Creek

Battle Creek, Mich., July 16 [Special]—The task of choosing a jury to try four Detroiters on charges of plotting to murder State Sen. Warren G. Hooper of Albion last Jan. 11 was started here today. Little progress had been made by the time court adjourned for the day, leading to the belief that the last juryman will not be picked until Wednesday.

Victim Killed on Road

Prosecutor Kim Sigler has charged that Hooper, who confessed to a legislative graft conspiracy before a grand jury and implicated other persons, was murdered to prevent his secret testimony from being placed on record in open court.

The state's key witnesses include Sam Abramowitz, an ex-convict, who related at the preliminary examination of the defendants before Justice of the Peace William H. Bibbings last May 15 that he had made two trips to Albion in connection with a plot to kill Hooper. He said he had been approached by Sam Fleisher.

Henry Luks, another ex-convict, told of a similar trip, and Al Kurner, an inmate of the state prison of southern Michigan, said he had been "propositioned" to commit the slaying. All three have been granted immunity as state witnesses.

Abramowitz, who made his home in Flint and Detroit, being a barber in Flint when arrested, said he and Luks made one trip to Albion to look over

DEMAND DATA ON DEALS WITH BRITAIN, RUSSIA

Senate Fight Opens on Bretton Plan

Red 'Moneymoon'?

Washington, D. C., July 16 [Special]—Sen. Tobey [R., N. H.], a Bretton Woods conference delegate, told opponents of the plan in senate debate today that it was unsound to oppose the world money plan evolved there. "When I sat in the moonlight up at Bretton Woods and talked with the Russian ambassador last summer I learned a lot about what international coöperation means," he asserted. "I've never sat in the moonlight with the soviets," observed Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.], "but we in the middle west believe we must preserve the American economy."

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Sen. Taft [R., O.] opened a minority fight on the Bretton Woods world monetary plan in the senate today by demanding to know more about United States financial dealings with Britain and Russia.

The plan was presented by administration forces as an essential part of a structure of "enduring peace," but promptly was challenged by both Taft and Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.].

Taft demanded to know if it were true that [1] the late President Roosevelt pledged 3 billion dollars off post-war lend-lease aid to Britain and [2] another billion dollar loan for Russia was involved in the bill to increase lending power of the Export-Import bank.

Chairman Wagner [D., N. Y.] of the banking committee replied that Britain had not asked for any post-war aid yet. He said he checked on the Russian report and it was untrue.

Aid Gives Wagner Answers

Taft contended, however, that the British commitment was made at the Quebec conference and that the two governments were discussing it.

Recognized as one of the few congressmen who understand technicalities of the program, Taft put Wagner thru an uncomfortable half hour of questions. As Wagner turned to Ansel F. Luxford, assistant treasury counsel, for the answers, Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] broke in angrily that Luxford "is on the floor of this senate simply to lobby this thing thru."

Taft told of the treasury's "propaganda campaign at great expense" to sell Bretton Woods to the nation. He charged that columnists and radio commentators were dined and that church groups were brought to Washington to be inoculated and get their indorsements.

Taft also challenged the method of providing United States contributions to the proposed 9.1 billion bank for reconstruction and development and the 8.8 billion fund for currency exchange stabilization.

He insisted the money should be provided by congressional appropriation. Wagner contended it was a "public debt" transaction, to be handled like the loans of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Tennessee valley authority.

Wagner Outlines Purposes

Wagner outlined the purposes of the bank and fund, asserting that together they presented "the prospect of getting the other countries of the world to subscribe to the same principles of stable and orderly exchange relationships for which we have always stood."

As for the stabilizing capacity of the fund, Wheeler commented: "It will take more than that to stabilize Europe, what I saw of it."

Taft and Sen. Millikin [R., Colo.] ignored Wagner's plea for approval of the plan without amendments, offering reservations which would:

Provide that nothing in the Bretton Woods agreements could be invoked "to excuse failure" of any nation to comply with a treaty or debt contract now in effect.

CAB Experts Back United's Hawaii Route

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Civil aeronautics board examiners today recommended that United Air Lines be authorized to establish an air route between San Francisco and Los Angeles and Honolulu.

In selecting United for the route, which before the war was served only by Pan American Airways, the examiners also recommended that applications of five other companies be denied. Pan American has not flown the Hawaii route commercially since Dec. 7, 1941.

Oral arguments on the examiners' report must be held before the board issues its final decision.

Examiners Thomas L. Wrenn and Lawrence J. Kosters found that public convenience and necessity requires the air transportation proposed by United, and the the line is "fit, willing, and able to perform such service."

Other Lines Rejected

Applications denied were those of Hawaiian Airlines, Ltd.; Matson Navigation company; Northwest Airlines; Western Air Lines, and the Ryan School of Aeronautics.

Pan American has filed with the CAB the schedules it plans to put into effect when the line is released by the navy.

The proposed one way fare between San Francisco and Los Angeles and Honolulu is $125, with flying time scheduled at 12 hours, United officials said. The company proposes to use four engined equipment, each ship having a capacity of 56 passengers and a cruising speed of 300 miles an hour. Flying time for United between New York and the islands would be 24 hours.

Plan Sleeper Facilities.

Each plane will be equipped so that seats can be converted into 24 sleeping berths, the report said.

"The applicants as well as the existing carrier, Pan American, submitted estimates of future potential traffic between the mainland and Hawaii," the examiners reported. "Nearly all of the applicants predict a better than 50 per cent increase in travel over the 1941 volume during the first post-war year of operation.

"United takes the position that there is need for competition by one additional air carrier between the mainland and Hawaii and that United is best qualified to provide such competition."

TRUMAN URGES VOLUNTEERS ON WESTERN RAILS

65,000 Vacant Jobs 'Peril' Pacific War

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Man power shortages on western railroads so gravely threaten the flow of supplies and men to the Pacific that President Truman today asked citizens to take some of the 65,000 vacant jobs.

In a special statement issued at Potsdam, Germany, where he went for the Big Three conference, Mr. Truman asserted:

"If the demands of the Japanese war are to be met, the railroads in the west must have additional man power immediately."

Mr. Truman said that the 4,000 experienced railroad men recently furloughed from the army for 30 days to help out in the crisis were "only a fraction of the number needed."

Calls Upon Patriotism.

"Any patriotic American who is not already engaged in essential war work can make a real contribution toward the defeat of Japan by applying for a job on a western railroad," said the President.

He also urged that those now working on railroads continue on their jobs.

The most urgent need thruout the country is for 12,000 skilled workers, such as trainmen, electricians, carpenters, signalmen, and similar workers, said Mr. Truman.

There are approximately 100,000 jobs, including those open on the western roads, that must be filled to keep the railroads thruout the nation functioning efficiently, an Association of American Railroads spokesman said.

The war man power commission also accorded top priority to 17 western railroads for the interregional recruitment of workers.

No Certificates Required

Qualified workers in 22 occupations can be referred to the western rail lines without requiring certificates of availability, the WMC announced.

Application should be made to the local offices of the railroad retirement board or to the local United States employment service offices.

Railroads granted No. 1 man power priority included Santa Fe, North Western, Burlington, Milwaukee, Rock Island, Great Northern, and Union Pacific.

The same priority was granted the Pullman company repair operations in Chicago and the west.

WPB CALLS HALT TO TRUCK TUBE PLANT PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—The WPB today canceled 21 plant expansion projects for the manufacture of truck tire tubes which if completed would have cost about 11 million dollars. WPB was unable to estimate how much already has been spent.

The projects, all authorized by Defense Plant corporation, were eliminated primarily because of reduced demand for tubes from the military.

The facilities involved included those of United States Rubber company in Eau Claire, Wis., and Inland Rubber corporation, Ottawa, Ill.

Gallahan Is Named Chief of Salary Stabilization

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—W. A. Gallahan has been appointed head of the government's salary stabilization unit, the bureau of internal revenue announced today. He succeeds A. D. Burford as deputy commissioner of the bureau in charge of the salary stabilization unit, which administers the wage and salary stabilization act of 1942 as it applies to salaries above $5,000 a year and smaller salaries paid to administrative, executive, and professional personnel not represented by a labor organization.

Rate Cuts Held Chicago Aid; Changes Are Opposed in East

Bulk from North

The recent interstate commerce commission action reducing by 10 per cent all class freight rates on rail shipments in and between southern, southwestern, and western territories and between these territories and eastern areas will benefit Chicago and northern shippers more than their competitors in the south, the transportation committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce said yesterday.

The class rates covered by the ruling apply principally to articles of the same general character which are placed in a class and where the traffic is not large enough to command a commodity rate.

Says Small Total Affected

The committee said it based its conclusion on the finding that most shipments from the south move under commodity rates which were not changed, and that a comparatively small amount comes under the reduced class rates. Conversely, the north ships out much manufactured goods that take the class rates and thereby benefits more from the reduction than the southern shippers.

"An analysis shows that 12.6 per cent of the carload freight moving from the north to the south is under class rates, while only 0.9 per cent of the traffic moving from the south to the north comes under these rates," the committee said.

Larger Amount Southward

"Of the traffic from the north to southwestern territory, 22.5 per cent is carried under class rates while only 1.5 per cent of the traffic moving northward from that territory comes under class rates."

The committee said it would oppose a 10 per cent increase in class rates between points within the northern territory, which the ICC included in its ruling. The affected railroads did not request the increase and no supporting evidence was presented, it said.

Petitions Filed

Washington, D. C., July 16 (AP)—Ten northeastern states and several industrial organizations petitioned the interstate commerce commission today to reconsider its recent decision on railroad class rates.

The ICC on May 19 ordered an interim reduction of 10 per cent in class rates for southern, western, and southwestern territories as far as the Rocky mountains and an increase of 10 per cent in the eastern territory. The changes were to be in effect until new uniform schedules could be prepared.

Ask Date Postponement

Two petitions, one from the governors of six New England states and the other from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Maryland, were filed. Both requested deferment of the effective date of the ICC order, which was set for Aug. 30. In issuing the order the ICC said its purpose was eventually to equalize class freight rates for the whole country.

A third petition was filed by the southwestern steering committee representing Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas. It said the ICC order is "just and reasonable in every respect and will "result in nondiscriminatory, nonpreferential, and nonprejudicial rates," but requested "certain slight alterations in the order."

Legality Is Challenged

The New York-New Jersey-Pennsylvania-Maryland petition asserted that the ICC's conclusion that the present class rates are unlawful because they are not on a uniform level thruout the country east of the Rocky mountains "is not supported by the findings, is contrary to and without support in the evidence, and does not justify the order requiring an increase in the class rates" in the "official" or eastern portion of the country.

The New England petition used similar arguments.

$142,500 IN FINES LEVIED IN ACID ANTI-TRUST CASE

Fines totaling $142,500 were assessed yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in United States District court in Hammond, against 19 corporations headed by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. and Monsanto Chemical company. They pleaded nolo contendere [no contest] to alleged anti-trust law violations involving the sale and distribution of six acids important in the war.

Six criminal indictments against the companies, among the largest chemical manufacturers in the country, were returned by a federal grand jury in South Bend on June 26, 1942. Also named defendants were 37 individuals. Some defendants, both corporate and individual, were indicted on more than one charge, but the cases against the individuals were dismissed.

Judge Holly, who sits in Chicago, presided when Judge Luther M. Swygert of Hammond disqualified himself because he had helped obtain the indictments when he was an assistant United States district attorney.

DEPARTMENT STORE ON NORTHWEST SIDE SOLD TO GOLDBLATT

Purchase by Goldblatt Brothers of the Logan Department store, at Milwaukee and Kimball avs. and Diversey pkwy., for an undisclosed amount was announced yesterday by Joel Goldblatt, president. He said the acquisition from Milton H. Friend company is a prelude to the "vast post-war expansion program scheduled by the company."

The Logan store, founded in 1928, has an annual sales volume of more than 2 million dollars, Goldblatt said. The structure contains 90,000 square feet of selling space, including four floors and a basement, with 100 feet of frontage on Milwaukee av. It sells wearing apparel for men, women, and children, complete textile lines, furniture, all hard lines, and includes food departments.

Goldblatt will take over the store at the close of business Saturday. It will be closed next Monday thru Wednesday and reopen for business Thursday, July 26.

OPEN OPA DRIVE TO SMASH TIE-IN SALES OF CORN

Excessive Mark-Up Also Under Fire

Reports that midwestern grain merchants were selling corn on an unlawful tie-in basis with barley and other more plentiful grains will be investigated by the Chicago area office of price administration, the OPA said in Washington yesterday. It promised summary action against dealers found guilty of the practice.

Under such a system country grain dealers offer corn with the understanding that barley and other grains will be taken above market prices.

OPA also was said to be checking reports that markups over ceiling prices were being abused by persons performing no economic function in grain distribution. At the Chicago area OPA office, officials said they had not been notified of the impending investigation.

New Policy for OPA

Inquiries into conditions in the grain trade mark the beginning of a new policy for OPA, the agency previously having directed comparatively little attention to alleged abuses in the handling of grain.

At the Chicago Board of Trade it was said little corn would be available for delivery on July contracts, and that movement of the grain to market was below requirements of wet processors. Corn futures prices held unchanged at ceilings.

Increased hedging sales against estimated receipts of more than 10 million bushels of wheat at terminal and subterminal markets depressed other futures. Wheat closed ⅝ to 1⅛ cents lower. Oats lost ⅝ to ⅞, and rye dropped ¾ to 2⅛. Barley was ⅛ higher to ⅝ lower.

Cushion Wheat Decline

Buying by commission houses with eastern affiliations cushioned the decline in wheat futures. Most trade in corn was in spreading between the various deliveries at ceiling prices.

Deferred deliveries of rye in Winnipeg broke about 3 cents at one time on beneficial rains in the Canadian northwest and had a depressing effect on American markets. The domestic visible supply of rye decreased 1,044,000 bushels last week to only 5 million bushels against 19 million a year ago.

Cash wheat premiums were as much as 2 cents a bushel lower in Kansas City, but cash corn held at ceiling prices and oats showed little change.

Light Selling Pushes Stock Prices Down

New York, July 16 (AP)—Light selling in today's stock market caused leaders to decline fractions to more than two points and the market as a whole was lower.

Caution prevailed because of expanding cutbacks, labor disputes, tax uncertainties, possibility of additional anti-speculation moves and the wish to await developments at the Potsdam parley.

Prices slipped after a fairly steady opening. Rails, steels, motors, and aircrafts led the decline. Extreme losses were trimmed here and there at the close. Transfers of 790,000 shares compared with 960,000 Friday and were the smallest for a full session since April 10.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.5 at 66.2, the largest decline since July 5.

BOND PRICES DECLINE

New York, July 16 (AP)—Bond prices were mostly lower today, altho several highly rated industrials and utilities gained. Sales decreased below those of last Friday.

Declines of fractions to more than a point in a long list of secondary and medium grade rails was the main unsettling influence, altho these issues suffered more from neglect than volume offerings.

CHICAGO STOCKS DIP

Prices declined on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 28,000 shares. Volume leaders included Central and South West Utilities, down ⅜; Kellogg Switchboard, down ¼; Admiral, off ½; Consolidated Biscuit, unchanged, and Wisconsin Bankshares, up ⅛.

PHILIP MORRIS BUYS 'BIGGEST' TOBACCO STOCK

New York, July 16 (AP)—Alfred E. Lyon, president of Philip Morris & Co., said today his company had purchased "the only important available supply of ripened and matured tobacco existing in the United States."

The purchase amounted to about 17 million pounds and cost more than 10 million dollars, Lyon said. Philip Morris bought the tobacco from Transamerica corporation which acquired it thru its interest in Axton-Fisher Tobacco company.

CHICAGO FIRM'S TECHNIQUE WINS MUSEUM AWARD

Industrial Metal Fabricators, Inc., of Chicago today will be awarded the certificate of merit of the New York Museum of Science and Industry for the discovery, development, and application of a welding technique for armor plate which was responsible for saving the lives of thousands of American soldiers. This vastly strengthened tanks, whose armor plate formerly was riveted.

Robert P. Shaw, director of the museum, will present the certificate to Howard M. Reineman, chairman of Metal Fabricators, and a party of company officials, including Joseph T. Miletec, supervisor of the company's three Chicago plants, who discovered the armor plate welding process.

Meat Storage Rises; Army Will Get Most

Meat supplies in cold storage on July 1 were 635,998,000 pounds, largest since last September, the department of agriculture said yesterday. The increase was not expected to mean much to the consumer because much of the meat in storage will go to the army. The supply was smallest for a July 1 since 1939.

Most of the increase was in beef, which at 261,373,000 pounds was the largest since May, 1944. Pork at 330,524,000 pounds was the highest since March but the lowest on record for July 1. Lamb and mutton supplies were 17,903,000 pounds, the largest since February, and lard supplies at 62,430,000 pounds were the largest since March but lowest on record for July 1.

Butter "Abnormally Heavy"

July 1 butter holdings were "abnormally heavy," the department said, at 131 million pounds, a gain of 62 million pounds in a month. A little more than half the butter was government held. July holdings last year were 103 million pounds.

Egg supplies decreased in June a case equivalent of 174,000 cases, entirely in dried egg holdings. Stocks of frozen and shell eggs increased. Poultry stocks at 98,240,000 pounds, two-thirds of which were government held, were 4 million pounds less than on June 1 and 32 million pounds less than a year earlier.

Warehouse Occupancy Gains

Public warehouse freezer occupancy rose from 67 per cent of capacity on June 1 to 73 per cent on July 1, the department said. The over-all in-movement of cooler commodities gained only 2 per cent. Canned fruits and vegetables, fish, cheese, shell eggs, and sausage all showed gains, largely offset by a heavy out-movement of apples, pears, dried eggs, and canned meats.

END 10 STRIKES, BUT 36,000 STAY IDLE IN OTHERS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Ten strikes in various parts of the country were ended yesterday, returning more than 30,000 workers to their jobs, and, altho 25 other strikes made about 36,000 idle, prospects improved for early settlement of some of them.

GROCERS READY TO HELP RIVALS IF THEY'RE VETS

BY ANTHONY WIRRY

Anticipating the entry of a substantial number of war veterans into the grocery business now and after the war, the National Association of Retail Grocers has prepared to assist these prospective operators personally and thru informative literature.

"The association and all of its state and local groups stand ready to give advice and help to servicemen who need it," a spokesman said. "In fact, they invite these men to come to their local secretaries or write to national headquarters for whatever help they may need.

"This is because, of course, the association members know that efficient and intelligent competition is always beneficial to established businesses."

$50,000 Businesses in Majority

In the studies the association conducted to help servicemen, it found the average retail food outlet with an annual volume of $50,000 or less makes up the bulk of such establishments.

Assuming the building in which the store is located is not purchased but merely rented or leased at a reasonable fee, the veteran opening an establishment of this average size would require approximately $4,000 worth of opening stock with about $6,000 of fixtures and equipment if bought new, the association said.

In addition, approximately $2,000 in cash should be on hand to meet day to day expenses, including rent, improvements, insurance, licenses and other items.

The association said that altho it would not be impossible, it is not recommended that any retail outlet in the food field be considered with less than a $10,000 investment. The only exception would be the acquisition of an already established business which an owner may sell for a lesser sum for personal reasons.

1 to 2% Profit Plus Salary

From such an outlet the efficient, intelligent, and successful operator averages between 1 and 2 per cent net profit on sales besides a reasonable salary figured in his operating expenses of between $250 to $300 a month, the association said.

Altho there is no hard and fast rule on the number of patrons needed for an annual volume of $50,000, trade sources estimate that a turnover of this size requires about 175 to 200 regular customers.

The veteran who is going into business in the early future is advised to open a self-service store because of the labor shortage and to postpone undertaking a delivery service because of the difficulties in obtaining a truck.

The association suggests locating in an average income type neighborhood or community containing a manufacturing area so diversified as to maintain year around production, or else a suburban district.

In preparation for storekeeping, the association recommends 1½ to 2 years' training as an employe in a successful and efficient retail food store, supplemented by reading, study, and night classes.

"If you see anybody in town you don't recognize, Pop, I'll be glad to introduce you."

A. T. & T. Net Income Rises in 2d Quarter

American Telephone and Telegraph company yesterday reported net income of $43,054,000, or $2.18 a share, in the quarter ended June 30, compared with $40,650,516, or $2.13 a share, a year earlier. The company's quarterly dividend rate is $2.25.

Consolidated net income was $46,021,791, or $2.25 a share applicable to American Telephone stock, in the three months ended May 31, against $42,660,204, or $2.16 a share, in the corresponding 1944 period.

Walter S. Gifford, president, said the total of telephones in service has reached the record high of 21,772,000, an increase of 191,700 since the first of the year.

All war needs for service are being met promptly, but applications for telephones have increased to about ½ million, Gifford said. Long distance calls have continued to increase and are about 13 per cent larger than a year ago, Gifford said.

War time restrictions on telephone calls to several European countries have been relaxed and radiotelephone service once again is available for general public use, he reported.

American Telephone and Telegraph's operating revenues in the quarter ended June 30 amounted to $60,341,000, against $57,380,771 a year ago. Bell system operating revenues in the three months ended May 31 were $475,587,091.

CHICAGO FIRM'S UNIT PRODUCES JET MOTOR PART

The Pesco Products division of Borg-Warner corporation is manufacturing fuel, booster, lubricating, and hydraulic pumps for jet propulsion and gas turbine aircraft engines, C. S. Davis, president of Borg-Warner, reported yesterday.

Pesco fuel pumps for jet planes are of the gear type, pressure loaded for more efficiency and specially adapted to severe operating conditions. Pesco is located in Cleveland, O.

R. J. Minshall, head of Pesco, predicted wide application of jet and gas engines in the development of post-war aviation because they offer engineers a "way to achieve greater horse power in aircraft engines without increasing drag or resistance in flight."

NAVY DISMISSES AN EXECUTIVE OF PLANT IT SEIZED

Erie, Pa., July 16 (AP)—Lt. Comdr. N. H. Collisson, executive officer of the navy-seized Lord Manufacturing company, today said the services of Thomas Lord, vice president of the company, have been terminated because of "indifference to his duties" as consultant to the navy management.

On July 10, the Lord company filed a Federal court suit charging Collisson had exceeded his authority in administration of the company, illegally seized certain machinery, and that production had "materially decreased" since government operation began.

The government took over the Lord plant in October, 1944, under Presidential order in a dispute over prices for materials. The firm makes aircraft parts.

SUPPLY OF LIVE STOCK SHRINKS; STEERS STRONG

Total receipts of cattle, calves, hogs, sheep, and lambs at the Chicago stock yards yesterday fell to 30,300 head, smallest of the war for a Monday and lowest for a July Monday in eight years.

Competition between Chicago and outside packers for cattle was brisk. The general level of prices was highest on record for a July session. The best steers offered sold at $17.90 a hundred pounds, 10 cents under the ceiling, and the bulk brought $15.50 to $17.60.
